

Creation Of Elk's Foundation To Highlight Annual Grand Lodge Convention In Chicago, August 22-28

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. Led by their handsome six-foot-four Grand Exalted Ruler, Robert H. Johnson, more than 40,000 Elks will converge on Chicago August 22-28 for what will probably be the most effective Grand Lodge in the 55-year history of Elksdom.

Biggest feature on the agenda will be the creation of "The Elks Foundation, Inc., with an initial appropriation of between 50 and 100 thousand dollars from the IBPOEW.

Next in importance from a public standpoint will be the awarding of the fourth Elijah Lovejoy Medal—Elksdom's highest honor—to Thurgood S. Marshall, chief legal counsel of the NAACP.

The award will be presented at a public meeting of the Elks Civil Liberties Department at 2 p.m., August 23 at the Corpus Christi Center.

The Rt. Rev. Archibald J. Carey, Jr., Alderman and former Alternate U. S. Delegate to the U. N., will preach the baccalaureate sermon. This will take place at 11 a.m., August 22, at Corpus Christi Center. Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson will follow with a short address.

Important legislative changes are also to be considered by the Grand Lodge. Several propositions have been submitted recommending the retirement on pension of Grand Secretary William C. Hueston of Washington, D. C., who will be 74 years old in September. Judge Hueston is rounding out 51 years of service in the Order this year.

Another proposition would amend Elks' law so that no elected Grand Lodge officer would remain in office after passing the age of 70. This would not go into effect until 1955, if passed.

The new foundation is to be a non-profit corporation for the perpetuation and expansion of the Elks' program of education, health and economics, and any other programs for the advancement of all peoples not contrary to the Grand Lodge laws.

It will be headed by a director, who will serve for a ten year term; an executive secretary, a treasurer, and seven trustees. Under the present proposal Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson will be named the first director, for the initial ten-year term.

The plan makes it possible for non-Elks to be members of the trustee board and one of them may be chosen as executive secretary.

Grand Exalted Ruler Johnson this week emphasized the non-profit nature of the Foundation and the exactness with which its financial operations must be reported to the U. S. Government.

Long a dream of Mr. Johnson has been the idea of providing mobile health units which can be sent into backward rural areas—especially in the South—to provide medical services for needy persons. He estimates these units to cost between $40,000 and $80,000 each, fully equipped.

The Grand Exalted Ruler faces election this year, but is expected to have no opposition.

A SPORTS LOVER—Catherine Womble, Siler City, junior at ANT College, is active in intramural sports at the college. A major in commercial education, Miss Womble, holding a badminton racket, does pretty well in the game, as well as table tennis.

for the post he inherited when the late J. Finley Wilson died in February, 1952. Mr. Johnson was elected to the fall term at Atlantic City, N. J., at the Grand Lodge in August 1952. He serves a two-year term.

Hillside Grad In Army Band

Camp Gordon, Ga.—Pvt. Charles E. McClain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Offey Morrison of 615 S. Elm St., Durham, has been selected to play in the Camp Gordon Replacement Training Center's Field Music outfit while undergoing eight weeks basic infantry training here.

The drum and bugle unit is composed of 28 bandmen, including both instructors and trainees. The group meets three times a week to practice, and performs for all parades and reviews in the training area.

Bandmen wear white helmets, leggings and belts, and the bugles are decorated with flashy blue satin banners carrying the Third Army insignia.

Pvt. McClain was formerly a member of the Hillside High School band and appeared in the "Times Follies" in Durham.

Benjamin Page celebrated his third birthday on Saturday, August 7, with some of his relatives at his home on Nelson St.

William and Wesley Clement returned by plane from their visit in Atlanta. While this was not their first plane trip, they were quite excited. They traveled alone and rode in a Constellation plane.

Irving, Alice and Phillip McCollum of Nelson Street motored to Oklahoma City Saturday with their parents.

Walter (Skeeball) Brown is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Brown of Clarkton.

Carolyn Goss and Shirley Prince spent the week end in Chapel Hill with friends.

St. Joseph Church held its Sunday School picnic in Raleigh Saturday. The children had a grand time.

W. J. Kennedy, Jr. has cleared two lots: one on Dunbar and one on Pekoe Street. Boys and girls are welcome to play on these lots.

Mr. Fuller is manager of the local Drum and Bugle Corps, farmer, and railway mail clerk. His hobby is music, hunting, and farming.

J. H. Fuller of 600 Spruce St., Danville, Va., holds in his right hand a freak cabbage which he grew out on his farm and in his left hand he holds a feather plume which is worn on uniform caps of the Drum and Bugle Corps. They resemble so much Fuller says, and since the corps is having such a hard time trying to exist financially, if he could raise seventy-five of these funny looking cabbages, he could replace the yellow feather plumes on the caps with nice green cabbage.

Miss Royster received her B.S. degree from the Agricultural and Technical College, Greensboro, and has done further study at North Carolina College at Durham.

Youth Congress Urges Action On US Court Ruling

COLUMBIA, S. C. In a resolution passed at the close of the five day annual session of the Congress of Youth meeting at the call of Bishop Frank Madison Reid, Seventh Episcopal District A.M.E. Church at Allen University seven hundred registered delegates and an equal number of visiting high churchmen and laymen urged "positive response of all African Methodists, Christians and Americans in exerting every effort toward the full implementation of the May 17 decision of the Supreme Court of the United States of America."

Further, they resolved that "we take an introspective and objective analysis of our personalities, our lives and Christian perspective so that we may clearly see the richness of our heritage, and the abundance of our resources, and ultimately see the potentialities of our people for greater service to our country, humanity and the world."
