

Aggies Face 1954 Football Season With Reduced Squad

GREENSBORO
When the A&T Aggies take the field for football training on September 1, Bill Bell, head coach, will have fewer prospects than at anytime during his nine year stint at the college.

Only forty men are expected and just five of these are freshmen. The reduction in squad depth is about one-third of the usual early season turnout for the Aggies. Heretofore, about 60 hopefuls have appeared for the first day workouts.

Economy is the first big consideration in the cutback, but the demise of the two-platoon system helped, materially, in arriving at the decision. It is not all gloom at the Aggie camp for the current season. The reduction will have little, if any effects on the performance of the team for the current year.

In fact, there is some thinking that it might give out some advantages. With fewer men to train, the services of the coaching staff will be concentrated and the cutback will permit higher selectivity. Before the end of the season, every man on the squad will have seen some actual game experience, which helps the squad for the next season.

"They understand," said Bell, "that there will be no let-up until the end of the season on Thanksgiving Day."

Evening Trade Classes Offered By A&T College

GREENSBORO
Evening classes in trades will again be offered this fall at A. and T. College according to an announcement made by S. C. Smith, dean of the college's Technical Institute.

He stated that the special evening courses are arranged for those working in trades and who wish to get additional training in the trade or a related field and for those who are currently employed but who wish to learn a trade to increase their earnings. The classes have been, tentatively, set up for two hours each on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, but Smith stated that it might be possible for part-time trade students to procure the same schedule on other nights during the week.

Classes have been organized in auto-mechanics, bricklaying, cabinet-making, shoe repair, painting and decorating. If sufficient interest is shown, classes will also be formed in: sheet metal work, tailoring, radio and television repair, upholstery, dry cleaning, photography, machine shop and carpentry.

Classes are scheduled to begin on September 19, but applications may be filed in the week preceding.

Evans, Thornton Co-Captains NCC Eagles '54 Football Team

Jerome Evans, a star right-halfback on North Carolina College's 1953 CIAA championship football team, will be one of the Eagles' co-captains this season when the Tarheels play their opening home game in Durham on September 25 against Saint Augustine's College. Outstanding in baseball as well as football, Evans is a graduate of Dilard High School, Goldsboro.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, live at 201 Kennon Street, Goldsboro. Evans' mate at the other co-captain's spot will be NCC's 1953 All-American star Amos Thornton, one of the fleetest left halfbacks in the East during the past season.

Coach Herman Riddick converted the hard-plunging 23-year old Evans, a veteran of World War II, from a defensive star to a dependable offensive performer.

er. Standing only 5'9" and weighing a solid 175 lbs., Evans carried the ball 86 times for the Eagles and picked up 343 yards for an average of better than 4.1 yards per try.

COUNT BASIE HITS BLUE NOTE IN HAPPY HOME

NEW YORK
The Count Basie aired their troubles in public this week-end when Mrs. Catherine Basie had her noted husband locked up in Ridgewood Felony Court for disorderly conduct.

It all started, said Catherine, when she found a letter written to her husband by a girl singer. He started throwing things at her, she had him put out of their sumptuous Long Island home but he insisted on moving back in.

The Count only stayed overnight in jail, when Catherine said she would withdraw her complaint. Magistrate Charles A. Murphy freed the Count and the Basies walked out of court together. Catherine says there's no happy ending here, though. For she's going to sue the pianist-conductor for a divorce and thereby end their 13 year old marriage.

Lincoln Memorial Site For Emancipation Day Pilgrimage

WASHINGTON, D. C.
Thousands of Negro citizens from throughout the United States are expected to gather in the Nation's Capital next month for a religious ceremony observing the progress of the Negro since his emancipation from slavery.

The Lincoln Thanksgiving Pilgrimage, as the ceremony will be called, is being sponsored by the National Fraternal Council the major Negro denominations throughout the country. The ceremony is scheduled for September 22nd, the 92nd anniversary of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, and it will be held at the Lincoln Memorial.

A National Citizens' Committee of 100 business, civic, and religious leaders is directing the movement. On the local level State Citizens' Committees have been organized in many parts of the country. To date, committees have been set up in 32 states and the District of Columbia.

The idea of the Pilgrimage was conceived by the Rev. William H. Jernagin, 84-year old Washington clergyman, following the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools. Dr. Jernagin, who is minister of Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, is president of the National Baptist Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress, as well as an official of the Fraternal Council. Dr. Jernagin will serve as chairman of the Pilgrimage.

Four other Council officers have been named to assist Dr. Jernagin. They are Bishops Sherman L. Green of Atlanta; William J. Walls of Chicago, and Arthur J. Womack of Indianapolis; and Rev. Smallwood Williams of Washington.

Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, national president of the Council, will direct the Pilgrimage Day program.

At present Pilgrimage Day plans call for a motorcade of church and civil officials from the Capitol to the Memorial, prayers by prominent religious leaders, and addresses by high Government officials. Music for the program will be furnished by an inter-denominational chorus of 2,000 voices.

Bishop S. Gill Spottswood of Washington, who heads the Pilgrimage transportation committee, estimates that a crowd in excess of 50,000 will turn out for the event. Plans are being made to bring special trains and busses into Washington from as far away as Miami, New Orleans, and Chicago.

Among the national leaders supporting the Pilgrimage movement are Government Officials Louis B. Toomer, Registrar of the Treasury; Congressman William L. Dawson of Illinois; Mrs. Jane M. Spaulding of the War Claims Commission; John B. Duncan, Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia; Victor R. Daly of the Department of Labor; and John R. Ray of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

When the Grand Order of Odd Fellows of North Carolina met in Winston-Salem recently, the body made an initial payment of $50 on a life membership for the Grand United Order in the NAACP.

Also Presidents Mordecai W. Johnson of Howard University and Benjamin E. Mays of Morehouse College; Newspaper Publishers Percy Green of Jackson, Miss., Carl Murphy of Baltimore, John Sengstacke of Chicago, Mrs. Robert L. Vann of Pittsburgh, and P. B. Young of Norfolk; and Attorneys Perry Howard, W. C. Houston, and James Cobbs of Washington, and A. T. Walden of Atlanta.

Among the businessmen serving on the National Committee are Willard Allen of Baltimore, George G. Fleming of Washington, and Lorimer D. Milton of Atlanta. Three of the Nation's largest Negro civic and fraternal organizations have also pledged support to the Pilgrimage. They are the National Association of Colored Women, the Prince Hall Masons, and the Independent Order of Elks.
