Mrs. McLaughlin, went to Mr. J. C. Hubbard's farm to get some firsthand experiences about farming and farm life since that is the major topic of discussion in their classroom.

Among the many things that Mr. Hubbard told them, there two they will hardly for-(1) Cows have four stomachs, and (2) cows have no upper teeth. The children were Marshall. so very happy to have some of their parents go with them, too Chatry Perry's mother took a load. Lee Horton's daddy took load, James Peddy's mother took a load, James Singletary' dad took a load, (and his mother went, too), and Alice McCollum's dad took a load. While on the farm they had fun. They learned that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. They, therefore, had fun riding the truck, the wagon and other farm machinery. They ended their stay on the farm by eating their lunches and home ice cream made by Horton's mother, James Peddy's mother and Quincey Tucker's mother. Their trip to the farm meant so much to them becaus they learned much they could have never learned by reading books, and they had loads of
