Negro History Week Observed By Person County Training School

ROXBORO
Again this year the students and faculty of Person County High School joined the nation in the thirtieth annual celebration of Negro History Week. The theme this year was "Negro History a Contribution To American Intercultural Life."

As in the past attention was called to outstanding achievements and contributions Negroes have made to American civilization. However, the idea of isolating the Negro's contribution from any other American is gradually disappearing. The Negro has become more another American rather than a Negro.

Besides discussion in the classroom, the celebration was concluded with an enjoyable as well as informative chapel program, presented by the "M" division of the eleventh grade.

A playlet was given entitled "The Negro's Future." This playlet showed an African were served.

Those present were: Winfred McQueen, Patricia Bowling, Barbara Bowling, Marie Brown, Claudine Day, Carolyn Watson, Lola Brown, Donald Brown, Frank Brown, Lynda Crockerhan, Christine Crockerhan, Charles Crockerhan, Nathaniel Fuller, Harry Harris, Margo Harris, Rodes Davis, Carolyn McGee, Marilyn Davis, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Crockerhan and Mrs. Fuller.

family being visited by a fortune-teller. The fortune-teller predicted the future of the American Negro. Among the great characters portrayed in this prediction were: Frederick Douglas, Booker T. Washington, Charlotte Hawkins Brown, Mary M. Bethune, George W. Carver, Paul L. Dunbar, Roland Hayes, Dorothy Maynor, Ruth Brown, Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe, Roy Campanella, Johnnie Rhodes, and Althea Gibson.

Along with the program Mrs. Mials, homeroom teacher of the class, gave a brief talk on "How High School Students Can Share in the Problem of Integration." She suggested five ways: namely, (1) They can set their sights and minds on the real goal of integration—that of being real men and women. For integration means more than moving into the same schools or jobs or houses. It means love and respect of fellowmen, it means an open smile and a will to friendship. They can call a halt to racial hate and name calling, and realize that all concerned have been sold the same bill of goods. They can develop their skills of speech, writing, public organization and assembly. They can be moderate and thoughtful in their behavior: straight-forward and truthful in their dealings, not because they are Negroes or White or even Americans, but because they are human beings whose dignity is their passport and word is their bond.

Insurance Co. Districts In Joint Meeting

FAYETTEVILLE
The Wilmington and Fayetteville Districts of the Winston Mutual Life Insurance Company held a joint District Meeting in Fayetteville, February 10, at the Winslow Street U.S.O. Club.

Guest speakers for the meeting were J. L. Lassiter, and Mr. P. A. Simmons, Agency Director.

After a very successful meeting a luncheon was served to those attending. The luncheon speaker was Rev. C. R. Edwards, Minister of the First Baptist Church. Rev. Edwards chose the following passage from the Bible, "seek thou a man diligent in his business and he shall stand before kings."

"The word Kings could be paraphrased to mean success. Industriousness, Zealouness and persistency will gain friends and you will reach a higher standard and make Winston Mutual outstanding. We must make contact and be evangelistic by walking through the beat. One must be honest, sincere and have a passion for his work. He must administer to the needs of our people and thereby better their living conditions. Opportunity is open for those who work diligently. We need prayer in business and we must rely on it," declared Rev. Edwards. Those attending the meeting were L. C. Berry, Manager, Wilmington District; Mrs. M. A. Gillis, Mrs. Q. V. Sutton, N. Miller, S. Goodwin, all of Wilmington; Miss M. H. Beatty, Lumberton; J. L. Dukes, Whiteville; Rev. W. F. Corison, Laurinburg; C. W. Hewell, Manager, Fayetteville District; C. H. Sewell, Assistant Manager, Fayetteville District; Mrs. B. Forbe, A. A. Davis, M. J. Robinson, M. J. Bullock and Miss L. M. Purcell, all of Fayetteville.

RUTH CAMPANELLA is the lovely wife of Roy Campanella, the Brooklyn Dodger's great catcher. They live in St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y., where Mrs. Campanella brings up their large family.

"Luckies taste so much better!"

"Roy was the first to smoke Luckies," says lovely Ruth Campanella, wife of the famous Dodger catcher. "Then I tried them and liked them, too. They taste so much better." Luckies taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.
