(Continued from Page One) ther, the resolution asked that the administration in Washington "utilize the full power of the federal government to frustrate and punish unlawful attempts to block implementation of the Supreme Court's decision."

The convention also went on record in support of "an effective and enforceable fair employment practices act; amendment of Senate Rule 22 "to permit a majority of senators present and voting to limit and close debate"; inclusion of non-discrimination employment... clauses in collective bargaining contracts; enforcement of non-discrimination clauses in government contracts; and enactment of anti-lynching and anti-poll tax laws by Congress.

"We urge the Halifax County School Board to get into operation immediately a...desegregation program...The Negroes of this county are ready for desegregation."

-Golf-

(Continued from Page One) leasing the land to segregated groups will be upheld by the courts. In such an event, a ruling could have wide implications on municipally-owned property, such as in the Durham situation where the former city auditorium is being leased to theater operators.

Negroes are using municipally owned golf courses in Wilmington and other cities in the state and several private courses.

-Virginia-

Much work has been done by the NAACP in getting Negroes throughout the state eligible for the election, especially in the "black belt," an area which stretches across the state from Suffolk to Roanoke atop the North Carolina border. Here, Negroes account for half of the population in the cities, and predominate in the rural areas.

According to latest reports, Negroes were registering and paying up poll taxes in unprecedented numbers throughout the state, and especially in the large cities. Conservative guessers say Negroes comprise about 75 percent of those registering last Saturday and an even larger percent of those paying poll taxes. Saturday was the last day to pay to be eligible for the referendum, but voters have until Dec. 17 to register for the election.

Hopeful estimates list the number of Negroes expected to be participating in the referendum at 100,000. Some 60,000 were eligible before the drive began. The state's democratic machine has a "blue book" of some 80,000 which it can count on from the jump.

Wife Of Hampton Registrar Dies

HAMPTON, Va.

Mrs. Louise Harbour Davis, wife of Collis H. Davis, Registrar of Hampton Institute, died suddenly in her residence, "The Lodge," on the college campus at 7:00 a.m., Saturday morning, December 10.

Born on August 26, 1905, in Yazoo City, Mississippi, Mrs. Davis was educated in the public schools of Chicago, Illinois, and Kansas City, Missouri. After completing the college preparatory course at Sumner High School in Kansas City, she entered the Sargent School of Physical Education in Boston, Massachusetts, where she was graduated in 1926. After her graduation from Sargent, Mrs. Davis taught at Hampton Institute, where she was working at the time of her death as a member of the library staff and as a part-time teacher in the Communications Center.

A member of St. Cyprian's Episcopal church, Mrs. Davis was prominent in community and club work in Tidewater Virginia, and on the basis of her civic contributions she was a few years ago selected as the "Woman of the Year" by the Norfolk Journal and Guide.

Active in the promotion of physical education for the youth of the area, Mrs. Davis was the founder of the Fulton Street Playground in Phoebus, Virginia, and the director of several dance groups in Hampton. Her main hobby was photography, and she was recognized as one of the best photographers in Hampton. She was a member and former president of the Hampton Graduate Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and also the club mother of the Olympic Social Club at Hampton Institute.

She is survived by her husband, four children, and her mother. Her children include Miss Georgia Louise Davis,

New York City; Mrs. Jennie Davis Howell, U. S. Air Force Base, Margate, England; and Collis H. Davis, Jr., and Barbara Neal Davis. Her mother is Mrs. Georgia Neal, owner and operator of the Regal Pharmacy in Kansas City, Missouri.
