STATE LAW CITED AGAINST ALA. BOYCOTT

MONTGOMERY, Ala. Citing a state statute against boycotts, the Montgomery Advertiser noted, in a recent editorial, that if the law applies to Negroes who refuse to ride the city buses because of Jim Crow "it would apply with equal force to some of the economic sanctions against Negroes contemplated by the White Citizens Councils. It would seem to work both ways."

The law, the constitutionality of which The Advertiser questioned, forbids the agreements for the purpose of conducting boycotts and also forbids the publication and circulation of "any notice of boycott." According to the Advertiser, "The perpetration of this situation distributed leaflets asking Negroes not to ride. But if they are guilty of breaking the law which seems to us a restriction on free speech—the proposal of the White Citizens Councils (in Dallas County, for instance) to keep a list of Negroes suspected of advocating race mixing would seem to violate the section of the law which forbids locklisting."

The Advertiser has expressed opposition to boycotts by either group. The present bus boycott, the newspaper asserts, "makes an innocent sufferer of the Negroes is with the law. It is wrong to hold the company a hostage."

Dr. Trigg

(Continued from Page One) last year when Dr. Bluford was re-elected. At that time, Dr. Trigg was conceded a change of getting Dr. Bluford out of the retirement age. The Board of Trustees at that time wanted to retire him. The plan was aborted when Dr. Bluford was re-elected for a two-year term. Dr. Trigg's supporters feel that his eyes are being kept on him and that he has places in the matter of Oscar Murray.

Baltimore Area Methodists Meet To Consider Denominational Issues

BALTIMORE, MD. On the call of Bishop Edgar A. Love, 85 leaders of the Baltimore Area of The Methodist Church met at the N. M. Carroll Home here on December 20 to consider proposals likely to come before the denomination's 1956 quadrennial session in Minneapolis.

Included in the group were the 18 district superintendents of the four conferences in the area — the Delaware, East Tennessee, North Carolina, and Washington — the 32 electorates-elect and reserves to the General and Jurisdictional Conferences of 1956, presidents of colleges within the area, directors of Wesley Foundations, and chairmen of commissions on Christian vocations.

The group heard, at the morning session, a report from the committee appointed at the Area Council in September to visit area colleges, presented by the Rev. Dr. N. W. Moore of Philadelphia. Schools visited were Bennett and Morristown Colleges, the Wesley Foundation at Howard University, the Wesley Foundation at Bluefield State College, West Virginia, Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, and Allen High School and Home, Asheville, North Carolina.

The delegates unanimously voted to memorialize the 1956 General Conference to remove all legal segregational structures within the denomination; to appoint a commission to study and evaluate the entire jurisdictional system in the church; to pass enabling legislation to permit the election of two additional Negro bishops to serve the large territory now covered by the Central (all-Negro) Jurisdiction; to grant clergy rights to qualified women preachers; to continue the existence of the Central Christian Advocate so long as the Central Jurisdiction exists; to call upon Congress to investigate the present violation of citizenship rights for Negroes in those states of the country where they are denied the ballot, and to simplify the method of transfer now required for churches to change from one jurisdiction to another.

The delegates also voted unanimously to request the Central Jurisdictional Conference to meet next June in New Orleans to re-assign Bishop Love to the Baltimore Area for another quadrennium. The delegates made it clear that the requests they would make of the General Conference for additional bishops and for continuance of the Central Christian Advocate (published to serve the Negro constituency of the church) would mean that they endorsed segregation in any aspect of church organization. They expressed their need of additional episcopal leadership and of their own voice (The Central Advocate) so long as present segregated structures exist in the church.

Bennett To Hear Young Israeli Pianist

GREENSBORO Hailed as one of the most brilliant young keyboard artists of this generation is David Bar-Illan, Israeli-born pianist, who will be heard in recital at Bennett College on January 17, in Pfeiffer Chapel.

Bar-Illan has a background that includes winning the highest awards given by the Juillard Conservatory and the Mannes College of Music. In June, 1953, he was the recipient of the Coronation Year medal awarded during the coronation of Elizabeth II, the first time it has been given to a pianist who was not a Citizen of the Commonwealth.

Earlier that year, he had appeared as soloist with the Haifa Philharmonic, playing Beethoven's "Fourth Piano Concerto" in the first concert ever to be presented in the ancient city of Nazareth. The artist played his first concert at the age of six.

Mrs. FDR Cited For Her Work With Children

NEW YORK The need to aid the world's children, regardless of race, religion, or nationality, was highlighted Dec. 20 by the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress at its annual Hanukkah Luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was honored for "her outstanding contribution to the welfare of the children of the world" at the event, which benefited the Louisa Waterman Wise Youth Center in Jerusalem. Dr. Martha Elliot, Chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Judge Hubert Delany, one of the leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and an outstanding lay leader of the Episcopal Church of America, also spoke.
