Graduates-

tion of Bibles; the Rev. T. C. Graham, pastor of West Durham Baptist Church, benediction; the NCC 85 voice mixed chorus, under the direction of S. W. Hill, and the following deans and department heads who presented candidates for degrees: Dr. George T. Kyle, dean of the undergraduate school; Dr. Richard K. Barksdale, assistant to the Dean of the Graduate School; Brooklyn T. McMillon, Public Health Education; Dr. Eric Moore, dean of the School of Library Science; and Dean Albert L. Turner of the Law School.

Twenty nine of the 337 candidates for degrees were graduated with honors, five magna cum laude, seven magna cum laude, and 17 cum laude.

On Sunday, Dr. William Holmes Borders, pastor of the Wheat Street Baptist church of Atlanta urged the graduates to combine their education and religion to serve humanity and help solve pressing race problems.

Dr. Borders delivered the baccalaureate address at four o'clock in services at the Men's gymnasium.

On the subject of racial segregation, the speaker said that America must "either practice true democracy or, like Rome, Greece, and Babylon, pass from the face of the earth. Referring to his own experiences of foreign travel, he said people all over Europe and Asia are disturbed by "the lynching of Till, the shooting of Preacher George Lee, the stoning of Autherine Lucy by a mob of 1,000 whites, and the open defiance of the Supreme Court by Jimmy Byrnes, Herman Talmadge and Marvin Griffin."

In times like these, he continued, "The Negro must combine his religion and his education and identify himself with his people at both their lowest and highest, helping them to do well at their jobs, whatever they may be."

Rev. Borders said the American Negro has progressed from slavery to a position as "the thermometer of American democracy," and that because of world pressure the American white man must come to terms with the Negro on this basis. In meeting the challenge, the speaker said, the Negro must cultivate his own sense of humor, respect each other as children of God, and strengthen the strong points of Negro culture within the overall framework of American culture.

Banker-

Funderburg began his employment with the Mechanics and Farmers bank seven years ago as a teller. In 1952, he was appointed assistant cashier, and in August of the same year, was made cashier.

He is married to the former Miss Rosemary Fitts.

Dope-

(Continued from Page One) that there was no indication that Durham youngsters had been "taken in" by dope "pushers." He stated Wednesday that they could find no evidence of the use of any form of narcotics by NCC students. At Durham High, principal C. E. Cooke told the TIMES that there were no evidence that Durham High students had been sold or used any narcotics. H. M. Holmes, principal of Hillside, also in Durham, said he knew of no evidence indicating use of narcotics by Hillside students.

Although the size of the arrests seemed to indicate that a state-wide ring or "syndicate" might be operating, a narcotics agent said that a few of the persons arrested operated together, but in most instances the operations were on an individual basis.

North Carolinians taken into custody during arrests starting Friday and continuing through Monday were:

Oliver Raphael (Buddy) Phillips, 20 year-old musician of Greensboro; Hennon J. Johnson, 36-year-old cafe operator of Raleigh; James Edward Brown, 26 year-old Raleigh hotel waiter; Robert Fletcher Norwood, 60, of Wilson; Jimmy Flagg of Raleigh; Gurnee McNair, 37 year-old school teacher of Greensboro; John R. Hairston, 35, of Reidsville

In Virginia, federal agents arrested Thomas S. Smith of Portsmouth; and Thomas Gravelly, 48, Sam Eggleston, 72 and Alphonso Gibson, 32, of Martinsville.

During the round-up over the week end by federal agents, three 1955 automobiles, a '53 automobile and a 1948 automobile were seized on charges that they had been used to transport narcotics. Johnson, a 305 pound cafe operator at Raleigh, was described in hearing before United States Commissioner L. Harbin, Jr., as the major source of supply for Flagg who was reportedly taking marijuana to Fort Bragg.

(Fort Bragg was the scene of an intensive investigation by narcotics agents last year.)

McNair, who has been teaching school at Halifax, Va., was charged with unlawfully selling dilaudid, a narcotic.

The only dealer in heroin to be turned up in the arrests was Smith of Portsmouth, Va. who was charged with delivering it to points in Virginia, and North Carolina, including Greensboro and Rocky Mount.

All except Brown and Norwood have posted bonds and will await trial in federal court. Brown and Norwood, arrested with Johnson, in Raleigh, could not post the $500 bond and were returned to jail. Norwood denied having dealt in marijuana, but admitted to being a professional pickpocket.

At Martinsville, Va., Gravelly, Eggleston and Gibson were charged with operating a unique home-canning marijuana operation.

Boycott-

(Continued from Page Eight) was confined largely to the college campus in the beginning but later spread throughout the city.

Boycott spokesmen had reported that it has been about 95 percent effective. Negroes comprise about 65 percent of all daily passengers. Impartial observers estimated that bus receipts were cut in half last week.

Charges against the two coeds were dropped after the protest by Florida A and M students mushroomed into a full fledged boycott. Boycott leaders said they would maintain the boycott as a matter of principal until they received fair treatment.

There has been no violence attendant to the boycott. Fla. Governor LeRoy Collins has refused to intervene, stating that it is purely a local problem and that "the city of Tallahassee is working diligently in seeking a settlement."

Residents and citizens of the State of Alabama."

Patterson went on to say that they have "resulted in violation of our laws and tend in many instances to create a breach of the peace."

"We cannot stand idly by and raise no hand to stay these forces of confusion who are trying to capitalize upon racial factors for private gain or advancement," he added.
