

MRS. DAVID D. JONES TO FILL POSITION ON BENNETT COLLEGE FACULTY FOR 1956-57

GREENSBORO Mrs. David D. Jones, widow of Dr. David D. Jones, heads a list of 12 persons who have been chosen to fill faculty and staff positions at Bennett College for the 1956-57 academic year.

Mrs. Jones, who, for 30 years, worked side by side with her late husband in building the college from a student body of 10 to its present eminence, will serve as director of admissions. She has wide experience and knowledge of the Bennett constituency, plus an abiding faith and interest in the institution.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati, Mrs. Jones has done graduate work at Columbia University. Among the national organizations in which she has held offices are the Methodist Church, YWCA and the United Council of Church Women.

Dr. Edwin R. Edmonds, who has taught at Delaware State College and at Langston (Okla.) University, joins the faculty as instructor in sociology. A native of Austin, Texas, he is a Morehouse College graduate and received his Ph.D. from Boston University. He is also a graduate of the School of Theology there.

New instructor in psychology will be Richard L. Fields, a graduate of Virginia State College in his native Petersburg and holder of the M.A. degree in educational psychology from New York University.

Also in psychology, on a part-time basis, will be Dr. Adrian Solomon, Ph.D. from Cornell University, who is senior clinical psychologist at the Guilford County Mental Health Clinic in Greensboro.

George O. Phillips, who received his master's degree in education from the University of Nebraska, will teach English

Returning to Bennett as instructor in art will be James C. McMillan, creative artist, who has studied and exhibited in Paris and who holds the M.F.A. degree from Catholic University in Washington. Returning from leaves will be J. Henry Sayles, chairman of the science division, and Mrs. Mary T. Coleman, education instructor, both of whom have been studying at Ohio State University, and Miss Constance E. Johnson, instructor in dramatics and speech.

Seven Bennett College graduates—four of them members of the class of 1956—return to the college as members of the administrative staff.

Miss Ollie Alston, A.B., 1949, of Elm City, returns as an assistant in the records office, as will Miss SELizabeth Garrett, of Greensboro, A.B., 1956. Miss Mary Graham, B.S., 1954, will be dietitian at the Children's House and Miss Earline Moore, A.B., 1954, will teach there. Both are from Greensboro.

Miss Madie Skeens of Thomasville, A.B., 1956, will be the manager of the college book store, snack bar and post office, while a classmate, Miss Gertrude Miller of Draper, will be an assistant in the admissions office. Assistant in the book-keeping office will be Miss Bobbie E. Thompson, A.B., 1952, of St. Pauls, N. C.

PHILADELPHIA CHURCH CALLS NEW PASTOR—REVEREND SHAW

The White Rock Baptist Church announces the acceptance of the call to her pastorate by the Reverend William J. Shaw, who succeeds the late Dr. W. C. Williamson who served for the past twenty-two years. He assumed full charge as of Tuesday, July 31, 1956.

Rev. Shaw was born in Marshall, Texas, the youngest son of Henderson and Effie Shaw. He was educated in the public schools of that city, and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Bishop College, majoring in the Department of Philosophy and Religion. At the present time, he is attending the Union Theological Seminary of New York City, where he served as President of the Baptist Fellowship during the past school year.

His ordination in February, 1951 helped to provide the impetus for the work he is now engaged. Rev. Shaw's ministerial work really began in 1948-49, when he served as Interim Minister of the New Bethel Baptist Church; in 1951 through 1953, he was Associate Minister of the Oak Hill Baptist Church; and in January 1954 he became associated with the White Rock Baptist Church, and served as an Assistant to Dr. W.

FARM GROUP FRAMING MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The North Carolina Farm Bureau has completed the first leg of its program for a membership ranking among the top eight states in the nation this year.

The farm organization held district meetings last week in Bryson City and Asheville; all phrases of the 1957 Farm Bureau membership program were discussed. Twelve similar meetings will be held in central and eastern North Carolina next week and in early September.

In an all-out program to enroll 70,000 farm families as members of the organization, the Farm Bureau has also held organizational meetings in several counties that have not previously had Farm Bureau units.

Organizational work has been underway for some time in Stanley and Lincoln counties in Piedmont North Carolina, and last week the mountain counties of Henderson and Swain formed Farm Bureau units.

In district meetings other counties in the are accepted membership quotas recommended by the State Farm Bureau. While the bulk of Farm Bureau membership is in eastern North Carolina, the Western part of the state has gone all out this year to help the North Carolina Farm Bureau reach the American Farm Bureau's "Big League."

This is seen not only by the organizational work going on in this sector of the state but by the "heartening response" of farmers to last week's district meetings, said Will H. Rogers, director of organization for the Farm Bureau.

While the bulk of Farm Bureau membership is in eastern North Carolina, the Western part of the state has gone all out this year to help the North Carolina Farm Bureau reach the American Farm Bureau's "Big League."

This is seen not only by the organizational work going on in this sector of the state but by the "heartening response" of farmers to last week's district meetings, said Will H. Rogers, director of organization for the Farm Bureau.

The "Big League" analogy entails a goal of at least 70,000, since many of the states now ahead of North Carolina in membership are expected to gain again in 1956, Rogers said.

The Tar Heel farm organization, now twelfth in the nation, "will need the all-out support of farmers in every county if it is to get a membership comparable to the needs of our large rural population," he pointed out.

The North Carolina Farm Bureau has twice in the last six years been among the top eight states in the nation in membership totals, reaching seventh place each time.

FIVE PROGRAMS SET BY MUSICAL ARTS BODY FOR HAMPTON INST.

Mrs. M. A. Horne, Winston-Salem, N. C., president of the Woman's Baptist State Convention, one of the leaders at the 54th annual session of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, in Winston-Salem, August 28-31.

HAMPTON, Va. The Hampton Institute Musical Arts Society will present five performances in the 1956-57 season, the 37th for the organization, it has been announced.

The first event of the season will feature Luboshutz and Nemenoff, dou-pianists. They will appear on Tuesday, October 16.

On Monday, November 28, Claude Rains, well known actor of stage, screen and television, will present a program of dramatic readings.

The third attraction scheduled is a dance recital by Kovach and Rabovsky and Co. These artists have drawn full houses all over the world with their modern interpretation of the dance. They will appear on Thursday, December 13.

In its attempt to sponsor a variety of talent, the Hampton Society will sponsor the Pittsburgh Symphony on Thursday, Feb. 7, 1957. This is acknowledged as being one of the better symphonies in the nation.

The final event of the Musical Arts series will feature the brilliant Adele Addison, soprano. Miss Addison, who will appear on Monday, March 4, 1957, has gained a reputation as being one of the finest vocalists on the American scene.

Activities of the Musical Arts Society are headed by Don A. Davis, business manager of the Institute. Presentations of this non-profit, college organization are open to the public.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!"

Rose Morgan (Mrs. Joe Louis) is an expert on good taste—her $225,000 House of Beauty is one of New York's top beauty salons. Her cigarette is Lucky Strike. "Luckies taste better to me," she says. "I went for years without forming a loyalty to one brand, but I'm a loyal Lucky smoker now."

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

ULTRAMODERN, the House of Beauty serves 500 women a day, has a staff of 90. Miss Morgan is delighted Luckies are so firmly packed: "I never get flecks of tobacco on my clothes."

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER

Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

THE KEY TO WASHINGTON, D. C., was presented to Miss Morgan during National Beauty Week. She's tried all kinds of cigarettes, but says, "I'm convinced—Luckies do taste better."
