WINSTON-SALEM
The 56th annual session of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention opened here Tuesday, August 28 with more than 1,500 delegates from twenty-four states, the District of Columbia, Haiti and Liberia in attendance. The meeting will continue through August 31.

Host pastors are the Rev. K. O. P. Goodwin and the Rev. David K. Hedgley of the First Baptist Church and the Mount Zion Baptist Churches respectively. They are being assisted by the entire Baptist family of the city.

In addition to the 1,500 delegates, churchmen, dignitaries and visitors are in attendance to the extent of running the figure well over the 2,000 mark.

The convention will be presided over by Rev. J. V. McIver of Orange, New Jersey, who is also a member of the legislature of New Jersey. He was elected to the presidency in 1955.

Opening here at Fries Auditorium, Teachers' College, with a pre-convention musical program directed by W. E. Patterson, Norfolk, Va., local talent from churches numbering several hundred persons were heard on Monday night, August 27 at eight o'clock.

The executive committee met on Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock and in the afternoon. At three the annual executive (Please turn to Page 8)

Small Tennessee Town Shows How To Handle Rabid Race Baiters

CLINTON, TENN.
Twelve Negro student were admitted to the Clinton High School here Monday when it opened its doors for the fall term. It is the first secondary school in the state, state-supported to integrate.

With the exception a few boys who picketed the school for a short while the integration of the school was uneventful. Six boys carried pro-segregation placards previously prepared off the school grounds, but two of them later abandoned the signs and entered the building.

Said Sheriff Joe Owens, who had previously posted his men near the school when a crowd of 150 persons gathered around (Please turn to Page 8)

Attorneys File Two Petitions With State Court For Writ Of Certiorari

Rowan Baptist Association In 90th Session

MONTGOMERY, ALA.
NAACP attorneys this week filed two petitions with the Alabama Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari or review, seeking to overturn a recent ruling by Circuit Court Judge Walter B. Jones which found the Association guilty of contempt of court and imposed a $100,000 fine. The action was taken on Aug. 20.

One of the petitions sets forth in more detail the Association's contention that the judgment of the lower court was beyond the jurisdiction of that court and therefore null and void. The other document requests of rehearing and reconsideration of an NAACP petition rejected by the State Supreme Court on July 19. On that date the high court said in a unanimous ruling: there were insufficient grounds for a review of the case, sought by the NAACP.

Briefs were filed in support of both petitions. Association attorneys in charge of the case are Robert L. Carter of New York, assistant special counsel, Fred D. Gray of Montgomery and Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham.

BACKGROUND OF CASE
The $100,000 fine was imposed on the NAACP by Judge Jones on July 30 because the Association declined to turn over to the Alabama Attorney General its membership list in that state as ordered by the court. The demand for the membership roll was made during trial of a suit to determine whether the Association was "illegally doing business in Alabama" (Please turn to page 8)

32nd Session Of Ushers Acclaimed As Most Outstanding In History

RALEIGH
The 32nd annual session of the Interdenominational Ushers Association came to a close here Sunday afternoon with a challenging sermon by Rev. S. S. Seay of Montgomery, Alabama. Rev. Seay is one of the leaders in the bus boycott of that city. In his sermon he called for sacrificial service even if it meant giving blood for the cause of human dignity and freedom.

The session was acclaimed by many as being the most epoch making in the history of the Association in that it saw the officials and delegates vote to purchase the Franklinton Christian College, located at Franklinton, North Carolina and pass legislation to make a $50 donation to the family of all ushers who are financial members in the organization at their death.

With the exception of the Sunday session, all of the meetings of the Convention were held in the Greenleaf Auditorium at Shaw University.

A picnic was held Saturday at the Franklin Christian College by the officers and delegates at which time they had an opportunity to view the property first hand. It consists of two dormitories and three dwelling houses and is located on over 84 acres on Highway No. 1. A home for retired ministers and aged ushers is planned by the Association.

The Association also awarded nine scholarships to college students and donated a check for $1166 to Oxford Colored Orphanage at Oxford.

Pictured above is Halifax County's team that won first place in the State 4-H Cattle Judging Contest held in Raleigh, recently or the second consecutive year. In competition with 36 counties, the In-Club members scored a total of 1234 points.

Bruce Bailey made the highest individual score in the contest with a total of 430 points. He won the Guernsey award by making the highest score in that breed and tied for a perfect score in the Jersey breed. Second place team's honor went to James Bullock with a total of 408 points. He won the first place prize for making the highest score in the Holstein breed. Floyd Gee ranked third on the team with a total of 396 points. James Gee, who served as alternate, did not count in the total points because the team is comprised of only three members.

Thirty-six counties participated in the second annual Dairy Cattle Judging Contest held in the show room of State College Dairy Farm under the supervision of R. L. Wynn Extension Dairy Specialist of A. and T. College. Assisting him with the event and serving as judges were J. D. George and Guy Parson Extension Dairy Specialist at State College.

Bailey is 16 years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Klieber Bailey. Bullock is 16, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bullock. Floyd, 16 and James 17, are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gee. From left to right they are: Floyd Gee, Bruce Bailey, James Gee (alternate), James Bullock, (holding the trophy won in 1955) and D. J. Knight, County Agent, who trained the team. The pictures are prizes for the highest scores of the breeds.
