Club Meets With Mrs. Vines; Hears Lee W. Smith

The Whitted Park-Playground Club met with Beulah Vines, at 607 Ramsey Street, Monday evening. After a brief business session, Lee W. Smith, Jr., Executive Director of the John Avery Boys' Club, gave an interesting talk.

Mr. Smith briefly gave the history of the Boys' Clubs of America, the only original American Youth Movement, and the spirit of the pioneer in the local individuals in Durham who initiated and began the Boys' Club now known as the John Avery Boys' Club.

To the Club members and all parents, Mr. Smith gave a vital picture of how the John Avery Boys' Club has moulded personality and strengthened the character of many Durham youths now adults serving in places and positions of trust, leadership and responsibility.

The Whitted Park-Playground Club, and its affiliate, the Whitted Playground Advisory Committee, is continuing its project of bringing into the community those men and women of the city who have messages to tell and whose messages can mean so much to one of Durham's most thickly populated neighborhoods.

Mr. Smith's talk, "Fun With A Purpose in the Boy Means Character in the Man" was an intensively interesting one. The Club meets again Sept. 10 with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, 604 Branch Place, at which meeting one of Durham's youthful ministers will be the speaker.

"I'm sold on Luckies ... because LUCKIES TASTE BETTER"

WALTER BRANFORD graduated from college only four years ago, but he's already a success: Assistant to the Sales Controller of Pan American Airways. On the side, he's a topflight photographic model, a lieutenant (j.g.) in the Naval Reserve, and a confirmed Lucky smoker. "I get more enjoyment out of smoking Luckies," he says. "They taste better—and that's what counts."
