

Desegregation Problems To Be Aired

Three of persons who will have key roles in the state wide meeting of the NAACP in Winston-Salem this week-end are pictured above. Left to right are Kelly M. Alexander of Charlotte, president of the N. C. NAACP, Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Southeast regional secretary; and Charles McLean, director of branches for the national organization. Alexander will preside over the business sessions of the conference and deliver an address Saturday morning. Mrs. Hurley will deliver the keynote speech for the convention.

Ways Of Effecting Court's Edict Topic At State NAACP Convention In Winston-Salem Friday, October 19-21

WINSTON-SALEM — Delegates to the 13th Annual Convention of the North Carolina State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will convene in Winston-Salem, October 19, 20 and 21, to work out methods and techniques of speeding up the desegregation of the public schools and implementing effective community education programs.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Southeast Regional Secretary of the NAACP and celebrated militant southern leader, will deliver the keynote address at the opening mass meeting, Friday evening, October 19, in the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, convention headquarters, 618 East 9th Street, Rev. Kelly O. P. Goodwin, Pastor.

Mrs. Hurley has a long record of faithful and courageous service with the association. She has served as youth secretary and during her tenure of office in this position she increased the youth membership department to 25,000 members.

Edwood H. Chisholm, one of the staff counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund with regular assignments that include litigation connected with schools and teacher problems will deliver the main address at the closing civil rights mass meeting on Sunday, Oct. 21. Other outstanding NAACP national leaders that will play a very important role at the convention are:

Gloster B. Current, Director of Branches; Clarence Mitchell, Director of the NAACP Washington Bureau and Herbert L. Wright, Youth Secretary. Charles McLean, North Carolina Field Secretary will direct important workshops in the field of membership campaigns and fund raising.

The convention registration of delegates will begin Friday morning, October 19, at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Charles McLean, left, and Herbert Wright, two of the NAACP's top officers, will participate in the 13th annual convention of the North Carolina NAACP in Winston-Salem this week-end. McLean is field director for the N. C. NAACP. Wright, national youth secretary, will conduct youth activities at the convention.

discourse around the early life of Christ and his return to Nazareth.

Following the morning worship service, dinner was served in the church basement to members and their visitors who ate family style. At this time, Mrs. Caroline A. Dunn was crowned "Queen of the Homecoming" for reporting the highest amount of money in a queen's contest. Mrs. Elnora Smith was runner-up with the second highest amount. Her women who took part and who also reported large amount. The women who took their sashing, Mesdames Elizabeth Bullock, Callie Bynum, Louise Thorpe, Nancy Phillips, N. J. Curry, Beatrice Laster, Margaret Burnette and Lizzie Charles.

In the Junior Division, Miss Thelma E. Merritt was crowned "Queen of the Juniors, for the largest amount and Miss Doris Jones placed second. Other Juniors taking part were Misses Barbara Farrington, Ruth Covington, Wilma Price, Eleanor (Please turn to Page Eight)

Minister Burned Out

Torch Set To Home Of NAACP Leader In S. C.

Cleric Away At Time Of Fire

NEW YORK — The home of an NAACP leader in Clarendon County, S. C., was burned this week, the National Office here has been notified.

The home was that of the Rev. James W. Seals of Manning, S. C., a founder of the Clarendon County NAACP branch.

Rev. Seals was notified of the disaster, which occurred on Oct. 2, while he was visiting relatives in this city. He has gone back to Manning to inspect the damage.

Rev. Seals said he has received various threats because of his NAACP activities, and also has been subjected to economic pressures for the same reason.

He is pastor of African Methodist Episcopal churches in Summerton and Silvers, S. C.

The Carolina Times

THE TRUTH UNDISGUISED

VOLUME 32 — NUMBER 40 DURHAM, N. C., SATURDAY, OCT. 13, 1956 PRICE: 10 CENTS

14th Annual Observance

Trade Week Events Set To Be Launched By Business Chain

Nine of the 20 contestants for the "Miss Trade Week" title in this year's contest are pictured here. Top row, left to right, Mrs. Gladys Brown, sponsored by the Glamour Beauty Bar; Virginia Gordon, Royal Cleaners; La Francis Fisher, McCullom Enterprises. Second row, same order, are Helen Frazier, Walltown Social Club; Sandra Shamburger, Lincoln hospital; Bettie Speight, Speight's Auto Service. Third row, left to right, Bertie Walker, Bates Service Station; Dabene Wiggins, Jackson's Grocery; and Hazel Wilson, Bull City Garage.

Trade Week Planners Say This Will Be Best One Of Series

The Durham Business and Professional Chain's 14th observance of Trade Week gets underway here next week with what its planners call the "best show yet."

"This will be the most successful, the most attractive and the best planned program of the series," W. G. Rhodes, co-chairman of the overall planning committee said at midweek.

Rhodes pointed out that three brand new features have been added to this year's program. They include a church service, a public meeting and an all day radio show featuring members of the Chain.

Perhaps the top attraction of this year's Trade Week program, Rhodes admitted, is the Monday night public program scheduled to be addressed by Dr. Martin Luther King, leader of the Montgomery, Alabama bus boycott.

Chain officials openly admit that the selection of Dr. King as speaker for the program was a "master stroke," and predict a full house for the event.

Rev. King will speak at eight o'clock in the Hillside high school auditorium.

The Trade Week program officially gets underway Sunday with a church service at Mt. Vernon Baptist church. This service will pay tribute to deceased members of the organization and honor outstanding member businesses. Dr. Charles A. Ray, chief of the North Carolina College News Bureau, will conduct this program.

On Tuesday night, a talent program will be held at W. D. Hill Recreation Center. Following the talent show, a Queens ball will be staged for participants in the Miss Trade Week contest.

Various members of the Chain will substitute for regular members of the WSRC radio staff on Wednesday and handle the station's complete program for the week.

On Thursday, the banquet will be held at W.D. Hill Recreation Center, and on Friday her member businesses will observe Open House. Trade Week will be climaxed Saturday by a street parade, to be held in conjunction with the parade. (Please turn to Page Eight)

Roxboro And Chapel Hill Girls Grab Lead In TIMES Contest

Miss Glovenia Bass of Roxboro and Miss Marjorie Stone of Chapel Hill got off to an early start and grabbed the lead on their respective cities in the Carolina Times Scholarship Subscription Contest last week with other contestants running close behind. The race is expected to get hotter this week as Saturday night will mark the close of the first period and many other contestants have indicated that they will be in there pitching with a report.

Rumors are already beginning to be heard of a dark horse contestants who will outrun the fast beginners. Whether there is any truth in the rumor or not the contestants already started are sure to make it hot for any late comers who will be permitted to enter the contest until the end of the second period. The fighting ability of those already entered the contest is well-known and they are expected to be in there to the end. Friends of contestants may continue to send in subscriptions for favorites but be sure to include the name of your favorite contestants with payment.

CONTESTANTS' STANDING FOR THIS WEEK IS AS FOLLOWS:

ROXBORO SCHOOL
Glovenia Bass	117,000	Nathaniel Pulliam	65,000
Frank Bradsher	112,000	Katherine Vincent	65,000
Alexander Brandon	106,000	Emanuel Timmons	20,000
Leslie Pulliam	80,000	Clarence Wilkerson	5,000
Clarice Tucker	65,000	Charles Street	5,000
		Charlotte Norwood	5,000

CHAPEL HILL SCHOOL
Marjorie Stone	65,000	Mary Baldwin	20,000
Warren Jones	45,000	Alexan Guye	20,000
Mary Mason	35,000	James Hogan	20,000
		Willie Fendergraft	5,000

BURLINGTON SCHOOL
Charles King	5,000	Mary Baldwin	5,000
Joe Wilson	5,000	Alice Heath	5,000
Sarah Moore	5,000	Waltina Crisp	5,800
Bobby Mills	5,000	Thiri Dorset	5,000

Baptist Leader To Speak At Women's Day

Mrs. Ellen Alston, executive secretary-treasurer of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Baptist Convention of North Carolina will be the featured speaker Sunday as Morehead Avenue Baptist church observes Women's Day. (Please turn to Page Eight)

Bennett College's Dr. Player To Be Inaugurated Sunday, Oct. 14

GREENSBORO — Dr. Willa B. Player will be inaugurated as president of Bennett College in formal exercises here Sunday.

Dr. Player's inauguration comes as the climax to a busy week-end at Bennett which will see the observance of Founder's Day and a recital by a rising young mezzo-soprano.

More than 200 delegates of colleges, universities, learned societies and professional organizations will be in the academic procession which will precede the inauguration ceremony.

The exercises are scheduled for four o'clock in the afternoon at Annie Merner Phelifer chapel.

Dr. Karl W. Bigelow, professor of higher education at Teachers College of Columbia University will give the inaugural address. Bishop Edgar A. Love of Baltimore, vice chairman of the college trustee board will conduct the inauguration service. Dr. Player will be presented by Mrs. H. C. Black, secretary of the trustee board.

Represented at the inauguration will also be a number of private schools, the Methodist church and the United Nations.

Mrs. W. H. C. Goode, a trustee of Sidney, Ohio, will give the invocation, and Dr. J. Earl Moreland, vice chairman of the board and president of Randolph-Macon college at Ashland, Va., will bring greetings to the delegates.

Greetings from colleges will be brought by Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College; from the Methodist church by Mrs. J. Fount Tillman, president of the Women's Division of Christian Service, and Dr. James S. Thomas, associate secretary of the Division of Educational Institutions, and from the college and Dr. Hobart S. Jerrett, chairman of the humanities division.

Miss Jean Quatermain, author and lecturer, will deliver the Founder's Day address on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. A graduate of Barnard College, Miss Quatermain has become a kind of unofficial ambassador of good will in her global pursuit of sociological studies. She has written articles on the economy of colonial areas and has two books scheduled for publication in 1957.

She has already visited four continents, including Europe, Central and South America, North America, and Africa.

A post inauguration feature on Monday night will be a recital by Betty Allen, winner of the Marlon Anderson Award and soloist at the Lewisohn stadium in New York. Miss Allen has sung with the Boston Symphony and has been heard in concerts in France, Italy and (Please turn to Page Eight)

MISSISSIPPIAN ASKS JUSTICE FOR NEGROES

NEW YORK — A woman who describes herself as "a native of Mississippi who rejects as un-American and un-Christian the white supremacy tradition in which she was reared" has protested publicly the recent House subcommittee investigation of integrated Washington schools and has sent a contribution and message to the NAACP.

Miss Frances Witherspoon, now of Brewster, N. Y., asserted in an open letter to the New York Times that the subcommittee hearings were "heavily loaded with Southerners" of "barely concealed anti-integration bias."

She observed in her letter that "the long years of poverty, squalid living and unequal educational and social opportunity to which most of our Negro children have been condemned by the very race responsible for their existence on this continent more than explains whatever differences (in the schoolroom) may exist."

Miss Witherspoon's message to the Association said, in part: "One can only hope that those are right who contend that all this violence in the South—and no less the so-called 'legal' campaigns of the arch-enemies of democracy—are in reality but the last desperate stand of those who know in their hearts that defeat is imminent, that the long-delayed justice for the Negro is near at hand."

Speech By Shaw President Is Climax To Church's Homecoming

On Sunday, September 30, delivered during the morning worship hour by Dr. Wm. R. Strasser, President of Shaw University, Raleigh. Dr. Strasser used as his subject, "Back to Nazareth" and centered his

IT'S SIX DOLLARS THIS WEEK!

Now aint this sumpin

Three lucky auto drivers can get six dollars each if they will bring their auto registration card to the office of the Carolina Times before noon Saturday and prove that their license is one of the following:

AY-7592
AW-5730
AX-1220

BISHOP J. A. LOVE TO SPEAK

Bishop Edgar A. Love, presiding prelate of the Baltimore area of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist church, will speak in Durham on Sunday at the Asbury Temple Methodist Church on Braswell Street.

Elected in 1952 Bishop of the Methodist church, the Rt. Rev. Love has had an active career in church and civic work. One of the founders of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Bishop Love was recipient of the Howard University alumni award in 1953 for distinguished service in the field of religion and was chosen "man of the year" in 1952 by his fraternity.

IKE AIDE AT NCC

President Dwight Eisenhower's chief Negro aide will speak in North Carolina College's Forum series on October 30.

E. Frederick Morrow, Administrative Officer for the Special Projects Group, Executive Office of the President, is slated to discuss the topic "Are You Ready?"