

Marsh Tells Business Students Unity Essential In Rights Fight

William A. Marsh, Jr., young attorney of Durham, told an audience of Durham Business School students last week that unity was a necessary factor in the Negro's struggle for complete enfranchisement in this country.

Marsh spoke at a special assembly at the school on the subject, "Unity in our Community, a Necessity for Strength." The young lawyer traced the course of recent struggles in the South waged by Negroes for their constitutional rights and pointed out that in each successful effort there was unity of action.

"We must not become lost," he said, "upon the horizon of the few things which we have obtained during the last few years. We must be grateful for the victory won, but we must also be determined that the victories we have gained will for Dr. Thomas E. Malone, biology; there are new areas of conquest for our personal liberties."

(Continued from page Two) ment. For the moment the career men are coming out on top. The President's budget is the biggest in peacetime history, although the Republicans promised tax cuts and an end to the "spending and spending"

with which they used to taunt Democrats.

Two comments by Humphrey underscore the difference in viewpoint:

Humphrey was asked by a reporter if it would not be odd for a Democratic congress to cut a Republican President's budget?

"To be perfectly frank," Humphrey answered, "I am only thinking of the good of the country. I am not thinking of the political angle—what we want is to have a good country and that is what I am interested in."

Later Humphrey was asked if he favored government spending if business was on the down-grade?

"No I don't think so," he replied. "I don't think you can spend yourself rich. I think we went all through that for a good many years, and we kept spending and spending and spending, and we still didn't help our employment or help our total position." Since their own quarrels have made so many headlines Democrats are delighted to see this GOP controversy out in the open.

BYE, BYE, SENIORITY
Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, seems to be for "seniority" on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, but apparently doesn't think much of it on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays—unless civil rights are involved. He's now ready to pass over Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee for chairman of the Senate Anti-Trust Committee in favor of Wyoming's Sen. O'Mahoney. O'Mahoney was defeated in 1952, but came back two years later. This would make him almost a freshman by "seniority" standards.

Fifth Event In Dormitory Series At NCC

The residents of McLean dormitory recently presented the fifth in a series of cultural and social programs which they have scheduled intermittently throughout the remainder of this school year. Among the guests who have appeared on these programs were Mrs. Julia Harris of the English department who spoke on the beginning and history of McLean Dormitory; and Dr. Ruth Horry, instructor in French, who told of her travels in foreign countries. Music appreciation was the theme of the January program, which featured outstanding college musicians and popular music.

The residents of McLean Dormitory announce that the annual sophomore women's white formal will be held on Feb. 1.
