N. B. White, Scoutmaster of Troop 55—sponsored by the White Rock Baptist Church and his assistant Scoutmaster Willard Perry, laid the Council Campfire for their part in the circus. Sons of the Pioneers. "Give them enough rope..." and a Scout can produce a bridge to cross a gorge. 15 Scouts from Troop 55, J. W. Carrington, Explorer Advisor of Post 56 and 8 of his Explorers and 1 Explorer from Troop 105 and 5 from Post 64 put up a single lock bridge.

Hark, the EAGLES' call! Eric C. Michaux, from Troop 105, sponsored by the St. Joseph AME Church was the only Eagle Scout from Durham this year to march in the Eagle Class with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Michaux. His Scoutmaster is N. H. Bennett, Jr. To do my duty to God and my Country.

Gaines, His CIAA Champion Winston-Salem Cagers, Honored By School's Alumni Body

WINSTON-SALEM Spiritual values in athletics were emphasized in a special Vesper Service held here at Winston-Salem Teachers' College last Sunday afternoon.

The event, honoring the champion Winston-Salem Teachers' College "Rams", winners of the CIAA Basketball Tournament in early April, and Coach Clarence "Big House" Gaines, was sponsored by the college's alumni Association.

The principal speaker for the occasion was Rev. W. S. McLeod, pastor of the Brooks Memorial Methodist Church of High Point.

Taking his subject from the theme of the celebration, "Playing the Great Game of Life", the speaker likened the "game" of life with that of a basketball game. "Life expects you to give the best that you have for the help of others", he said and in order to play this greater game you will need a vital energizing force such as that offered by Christianity.

"Life is much like that of a championship game", he continued, for it, too, requires the utmost in training and discipline and "I challenge you to stand up and speak out bravely in God's name."

He suggested two important courses, first to discipline one's life, daily to live for something greater than self and to make one's plans large, to dream big dreams, as he plays the game of life.

Finally, he cautioned, "You will need to know the kind on whose court you play for you cannot play the game of life by a set of rules, only."

Following the address, Rev. McLeod, presented handsome trophies, given by the alumni Association, to each of the team members.

Coach Gaines, who had missed out in the balloting for "Coach of the Year" at the recent tournament, had won that honor as far as the alumni Association was concerned. As a climax to the program, he was presented a huge trophy bearing that inscription.

Other persons participating in the program included: Dr. F. L. Atkins, president of the college, who introduced the speaker; E. N. Cook, Winston-Salem, president of the Winston-Salem Teachers' College Alumni Association, who gave the purposes of the services and Rev. Kenneth R. Williams, college chaplain, prayer.

The entire team and their guests were honored with a dinner following. The honorees in addition to Gaines, included: Robert Brown, Fred Davis, Jackie DeFares, Dennis Hampton, Laurence Harrison, Benjamin Henderson, Wilfred John, Arthur Johnson, Sidney Lawson, Rufus McClendon, Charles Riley, Harry Rogers, Bobby Rowe and Edward Thompson.

Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, who was recently named "Athlete of the Year" by The 100 Per Cent Wrong Club of the Atlanta (Ga.) Daily World, receives his trophy during training sessions at Long Pond Inn, Greenwood Lake, N. Y. Moss H. Keendrix, left, whose

Rams' Thinclads Win South Carolina Track Meet; Florida A. and M. University, N. C. College 2nd, 3rd

ORANGEBURG, S. C. Winston-Salem Teachers' College racked up 38 and one half points here last weekend to win the South Carolina State College Invitational Track and Field Meet.

Florida A and M University was runner-up with 36 points and North Carolina College placed third with 29 points.

The NCC Eagles, using only eight men as their entries, virtually had a field day as they topped four first places, the most outstanding performer trophy and third place honors in the meet that attracted eight SIAC teams and two other CIAA entries, Maryland State and Winston-Salem.

NCC's All-American and Olympic 110 meter hurdles champion, Lee Calhoun, turned in his first win of the outdoor season by crashing across the tape in the 120 yard high hurdles in the time of 14.4 seconds.

Carl Hawthorne, a 6'6" Philadelphia, Pa. freshman making his debut with the Eagle harriers, earned double honors as he turned in stellar performances in the mile and two mile runs, and was awarded the Paul Webber Trophy for the meet's most outstanding performer.

Hawthorne's winning times were 4:29 in the mile and 9:51 in the two mile. The other NCC first place award was posted by John Vassar, Cape May, N. J. sophomore, for his winning time of 50.1 in the 440 yard run.

NCC's 880 and mile relay teams took second place in both events. Running the legs for the Eagles in these two events were Vassar; James Lane, Warrington junior; Robert Dobbs, Newport News, Va. freshman; and Vance Robinson, Norfolk, Va. freshman.

Winston-Salem's Rams earned their 38 and one half points by turning in winning performances in the 880 yard relay with a timing of 1:27.4; the 220 yard low hurdles with a time of 24.6; and by coping first place in the high jump by recording a leap of 6'2".

Elias Gilbert, the Ram's ace hurdler, captured the low hurdles with ease, but had to settle for third place behind NCC's Calhoun and South Carolina's Al Rodriguez in the 120 yard high timber topping event.

Godfrey Matthews, the Ram's star distance runner, placed

Morganton Five Honored By Kiwanis Club

MORGANTON The Morganton Kiwanis Club entertained the Olive Hill High School Championship Basketball Team, Friday evening, by staging a dinner in honor of team members. The dinner was held in the Community Building. Dr. R. Nichols, president of the Club, presented the team members after reading their long list of achievements for the 1956-57 season.

The Yellow Jackets won 24 games and lost 2 Team achievements include, Winners of the Cherryville Center Playoff; North Carolina Negro High School Athletic Association Double A Champions; Best Season Record, Northwestern Athletic Conference and Runner-Up, Northwestern Athletic Conference Tournament. Olive Hill racked up an average of 67.5 points per game, while the opponents scored an average of 44.6 per game.

The team scored 90 or more points in three of its games.

Individual honors included: All Northwestern Team, Edward McKesson, Gaston Fleming, Carl Peterson, Eddie White, Johnny Largent, Johnny Tate, Charles Tate, Robert Hall, Walter Largent, Lawrence Whiteside, and James Farris, Jr., Coach.

Coach Harry Jefferson, regarded by CIAA sports followers as the conference's elder statesman, is shown in this picture with two other men who were staunch pillars in the growth of the conference, Johnny B. McLendon, (standing) and Talmadge (Marse) Hill. McLendon is at Tennessee State, a MWA school while Hill is at Morgan State.

Player in the Northwestern Tournament, Edward McKesson. Edward McKesson was also named on the North Carolina Negro High School Athletic Association All State Team.

Maroons Edge Grays In Climax To N. C. College Spring Training

Hal Joyner roared three yards over the middle of the Maroons' line here last week to score the only tally in the N. C. College Eagles' intra-squad game which the Grays won over the Maroons 7-0. The game closed NCC's spring grid drills.

Junior tackle Baxter Holman acted as captain of the Grays. Senior center Francis Roberts piloted the Maroons.

Douglas Nettingham at full and Charles Coward at right half, threatened to score three times in the scrap, but the Gray squad failed to yield.

On a sustained drive that started on the fifty yard line, the Maroon squad's silling Eddie Hudson tossed a long pass to the waiting arms of Thomas Gerald, 208 pound frosh end, who gathered in the oval and placed it down on the 10.

Nettingham, Johnson, and Coward alternated in carrying the ball to the one, but at this point the Gray linemen of Holman, and Eugene Coleman, tackles, Charles Sanders and Ernest Barnes, guards, Robert Johnson and Charles Baron, ends, and James Bryant, center, made their spectacular defensive stand.
