

Fayetteville Broncos Down Aggies And Va. Union

Evans And Morgan Spark Union Victory

FAYETTEVILLE
Rolling along to the tune of a 3-1 overall conference record, Coach William A. Bryant's rampaging Broncos zigzagged their way to a decisive 71-56 victory over the Virginia Union University hardwood outfit from Richmond, Virginia here Tuesday. The win was the third in as many starts over tough CIAA contenders. The Fayetteville Teachers now became the team to watch in the CIAA loop.

The tilt got off to a slow start as each team found itself unable to locate the basket. The first period, knotted exactly six times, was fought on an even-Stephen basis and the halftime score stood at 30-28 for the Bronco clan.

Following the halftime period, Donald West tipped in a two marker, but the Union "Panthers", led by two hard-driving Co-captains, Carl Smith and Alison Phillips, refused to stay put. The spectators were frequently brought to their feet as Union mixed in the long ones with those of the under-the-basket variety.

It was then that the Broncos, spearheaded by Ronald Evans and "Big" John Morgan, turned on the steam in earnest to establish a 13-point advantage which the Richmond men were never able to overcome. And to add insult to injury, their steller performer, Carl Smith fouled out during the closing moments of the contest.

The fact that four Fayetteville regulars—Ronald Evans, Roosevelt Wright, John Morgan, and Joshua Lawrence, registered scores in two figures, may have made the difference.
An interesting feature of the game was the pitting against each other of last year's two All-CIAA forwards—Fayetteville's Co-captain Ronald Evans and Union's strong man, Carl Smith. Evans came up with 24 points to cop the honors in scoring and Smith dropped in 13. John Morgan was second in scoring with 16.

NCC Unit Gets Study Grant

The Grant Foundation of New York has awarded North Carolina College's 1958 Summer School a $6,000 grant to finance a workshop in family relations.
Dr. J. H. Taylor, director, says the grant will provide citizens of North Carolina with 20 grants valued at $75 each with 15 grants of $100 going to residents of other states.

NCC's 1958 summer workshops begin on June 9. Interested applicants should contact Dr. Taylor at NCC.

The idea back of the Family Relations Workshop is that family experiences and community life are part of the whole experience of the total person and affect his success as a worker. In recent years many organizations and leaders have been stressing the importance of development in personal and family living. The 1958 workshop will focus on personal and family relations as essential phases of the development of the whole person.

The workshop is planned for all kinds of teachers—those within the classes of our public schools, and those who teach in voluntary adult-group situations. Some of the persons who teach personal and family living engage in the practice of related professions such as nursing, social work, medicine, health education, and ministry. The workshop is also planned for all persons who, either full-time, directly or indirectly, carry on personal and family life teaching.

This will be the second summer that a Workshop in Family Relations has been conducted at North Carolina College. In 1956 a workshop was sponsored by the American Social Hygiene Association.

Details as to the steps to be taken in applying for a scholarship will be announced later.

The total estimate needs of the 1958 March of Dimes—$44,990,000—include costs of patient aid, research, professional education, vaccination promotion and support of the Respiratory and Rehabilitation Centers of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Help reach this indispensable total by giving to the 1958 March of Dimes.

John (J. F.) Morgan, Durham lad who has contributed heavily to the success this season of the Fayetteville State Teachers basketball team, will be one of the Teachers' starters when they invade Durham Saturday night for a CIAA conference tilt with the North Carolina College Eagles.

'This Big Year' - Cus D'Amato

NEW YORK
Brightest star in sports will be Floyd Patterson this year, according to his manager, Cus D'Amato, who is sure confident that his boy will walk off with ALL the honors this year. First—he'll make a half million dollars, of this D'Amato is positive. To do this, he'll defend his world's heavyweight title—successfully—a few times. First in England, against John Erskine, British champ, and then here in New York—probably at the Polo Grounds this summer.

To all this, Patterson is really a shy guy, and is busy playing family man in a big way to his wife and daughter, Sefeca. But he's ready to follow wherever Cus leads. He too feels this is his year of triumph.

Morgan Buries West Virginia In 111-85 Score

BALTIMORE, MD.
The rampaging Morgan State dribblers continued their winning ways by soundly trouncing the West Virginia State Yellow-Jackets, 111 to 82, for the sixth consecutive victory without a setback. The game was played in Hurt Gymnasium on the Morgan campus, and the final score was the season's high for the class.

In the first four minutes of the contest the score was deadlocked on three occasions, 2-2, 4-4, and 6-6, but on each occasion the tie was broken by the Morganites, who then began to build an ever-widening lead. With Charley Brightful and Ronnie Garner setting the scoring pace, the Bears sported a half-time advantage of 58-38.

In the second period with both centers Bill Lyght and his replacement William Long plus Allan Moore eliminated via the personal foul route before the firing ceased, the locals' offensive continued to function with clocklike precision, and at one juncture the Morgan lead was 101-61, but the scoring efforts of Tom Young, Frank Casey and Percy Giles kept the West Virginians' attack popping away for a second half total of 46 units, which was but 7 points off the victors' high for the season.

Garner was high-point man with a total of twenty-six points. Brightful racked up a 22-point total, while Young's twenty credits was top-flight for the losers. Casey was but one length behind Young with 19, while Giles' 14 markers pegged his contribution just a whisper below Morgan's Bill Long, who notched 15.

Wright Leader In 65-53 Win Over Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE
With a six-foot jump-shot artist, Co-captain Roosevelt "Vell" Wright, a product of the Jordan-Sellers High School in Burlington, sparking the attack, the Bronco "big boys" went methodically about the task of chopping down the A&T "Aggies" 65-53 here Saturday evening. And despite the fact that the visitors bottled him up much of the time, Fayetteville's well-known Co-captain Ronald Evans emptied 18 markers into the basket.

It was the second setback for the Greensboro Clan in eight starts, and the fourth consecutive win for the Broncos, who have dropped but a single contest this season. They were out to revenge an early-season loss to Head Coach Cal Irvin's rampaging Aggies and that one determination rode every shot they made. And despite the apparent caution, each went to work on the other in the hammer and tongs fashion from the start.

While the score was knotted three times during the first period, the two clubs fought on even basis and the half ended with the Broncos out in front by a 33-25 figure.

But with the great Co-Captains Joe Howell and Charlie Harrison and their cohorts settling down in dead earnest, the Aggies soon closed an eleven-point margin and, banking on the long shot from away out, again pulled ahead to offer the Bryantmen a serious threat.

They weakened, however, on the home stretch and the Fayetteville Teachers rose to the occasion, rifled in 13 points before their opponents quite knew what was happening to send the high-flying Greensboro Aggies a-skidding to a heartbreaking 65-53 defeat.

A record crowd watched "Vell" Wright, Jim Dandy of the evening, hustle in 21 points to cop the evening's scoring honors; they saw A&T's Howell come up with 19; and the freshman sensation, Joshua Lawrence, lived sation, Joshua Lawrence, lived sation play he has demonstrated all season.

When it was all over, each team could attest to the fact that it had been in a ball game.

NCC Quintet At Shaw Friday

Coach Floyd Brown's basketball Eagles, battling desperately for one of the coveted eight berths in the 13th CIAA tourney to be staged at North Carolina College, February 27, 28, and March 1, play Shaw in Raleigh. Friday night and return to Durham Saturday night to try to stave off Fayetteville's invasion.

George W. Odoms, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Odoms of Lufkin, Tex., and husband of the former Miss Frances Crews of Durham, N. C., has his new chevrons of a Technical Sergeant pinned on by Col. Thomas E. Williams, his regimental commander (left) and Sgt. Maj. James R. Van Hekken (right), regimental sergeant major.

NCC Hurdler Wins High Stick Event At Baltimore, Maryland

An unsung North Carolina College hurdler, Harold Moore, advanced freshman from Jersey City, N. J., won the 60 yard high hurdles at the 12th annual All Eastern South Atlantic AAU in Baltimore last Saturday.

Moore, Neville Christian, frish runner from Jamaica, N.Y., and an Eagle mile relay team led the Eagles to three first places in the NCC club's stiffest test of the young indoor season. Christian was first in the 880 yard run in 1:57.2.

Moore's winning time was 7.5. He edged out Al Haddinot of Georgetown U., runner-up and teammate George Hearn, highly touted NCC frosh hurdler who was last year's leading prep high stick artist, who was third.

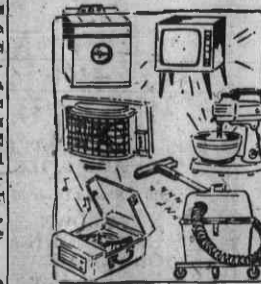

Ken Riley, another frosh from Jamaica, N.Y., was third in the 600 yard run, finishing behind Olympian Josh Culbreath and Bob Murray of Morgan State. His victory trek was 1:12.5.

Carl Hawthorne, Eagle distance runner, was third in the two mile run after winning Buzz Sawyer of the Baltimore Olympic Club and Don Luisi of Fordham. Winning time was 9:29.

You Need Not Leave Home For Peace And Quiet

In grandpa's day the ticking of the hall clock could be heard around the silent house. Nowadays, at a distance of only a few feet, the familiar tick-tock would be drowned out by the hubbub of modern living.

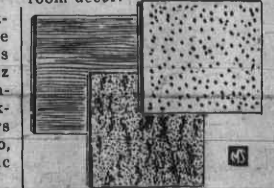

Day—and unfortunately—night we are constantly attacked by thousands of dancing decibels of sound which bounce and ricochet off hard surfaces on floor, walls, ceilings, modern furniture, cabinets, refrigerator and stove in a hail of overlapping echoes.

Aside from man-made clutter and the anonymous noise of the outdoors the sounds come from the hum and buzz of electric mixers, dish-washers, vacuum cleaners, exhaust fans, furnace blowers or air conditioners, radio, television or hi-fi music systems.

But the noise does not need to drive you away from home in search of peace and quiet. Scientific progress has come to the aid of the home-maker with acoustical materials which can help break up the chain of reverberating sound. Acoustical tiles made of various materials with many different kinds of decorative surfaces installed on the ceilings of normally noisy rooms will absorb about 85 per cent of the sound that strikes them.

Sound-absorptive materials used on the ceilings or walls will not only make the kitchen a more comfortable place for the home-maker but they will stop the disturbing noise spreading to other rooms. You can do the same for the children's playroom, bathrooms, father's workshop, utility rooms, TV rooms or other noisy places in the house. The acoustical tile comes in attractive patterns of figured, perforated, striated, etc., squares which can be painted to match the room decor.

A&T Cagers Notch Victories Over St. Aug., Va. State

GREENSBORO
The A&T College Aggies last week breezed to wins five and six over St. Augustine College, 76-63 and over Virginia State, 78-67 for a season's record of 6-1.

Starting slow against the undefeated St. Augustine, the Aggies built a 10 point bulge after 10 minutes of play and the Saints never again came that close to catching up.

Little Joe Howell, star Aggie playmaker, dumped 23-points to lead all players in scoring, but the real difference in the two teams was the outstanding rebounding of Charlie Harrison, 6-6 center and Joe Cotton 6-5 forward. They swept the boards clean with a total of 38-rebounds between them. Cotton also scored 21-points for second honors for his team.

Al Stirrup, who leads the CIAA in scoring with an average of 25-points for the season, bucketed 19-points to lead his team.

The victory over Virginia State followed a slightly different script.

The Virginians stopped cold what appeared to be a rout in the early minutes of the game, settled down and made a real contest out of it.

The Aggies had built up a 13-point lead, five minutes before halftime, the biggest separation of the evening, and held on to an 8-point advantage at intermission, leading a 42-34, but from then on the Petersburg outfit was a constant worry. The visitors came within two-points of a deadlock, three times after that.

The torrid pace set by Virginia State in the middle of the second half was almost too much for the win happy Aggies.

It was Joe Howell, Aggie playmaker, again—who spelled the difference in the two-teams. His shooting from the outside was superb, resulting in a high score, for both teams, of 21-points. He left the game with still nine-minutes to play. Joe Cotton, the 6-5 forward from Garysburg and Charlie Harrison, 6-6 forward from New York City were the defensive giants for the Aggies. Harrison swept away 23-rebounds out of a possible 41.

Lorenzo Woods was high for the Virginians. He bucketed 17-points. Both quintets had four-men each scoring in double figures.

CIAA Tourney Moguls Meet In Richmond

L. D. Smith, business manager at Virginia Union University and chairman of the 13th CIAA Basketball Tournament Committee, has called the first meeting of the group at Union's Alumni Building at 12:00 noon on Sunday, January 12.

An unofficial announcement said the 13th CIAA tourney would be played with the loop's top eight clubs at North Carolina College, Durham, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Feb. 27 and 28 and March 1.

In addition to Smith, tournament committee members this year are: W. A. Bell, A&T College, Greensboro; F. H. Brown, secretary, N. C. College; T. L. Hill, Morgan; and J. E. Thompson, St. Paul's.

Other persons asked by Smith to attend the meeting are Dr. T. H. Henderson, CIAA president; G. G. Singleton, secretary-treasurer; F. G. Burnette, basketball commissioner, Durham; and C. A. Ray, CIAA Publicist, NCC, Durham.

Smith Quint Beats St. Paul Crew, 85-54

CHARLOTTE
The Golden Bulls of Johnson C. Smith University turned on the power here Saturday night to beat Saint Paul's College, 85-54, in a Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball contest.

The victory extended Johnson C. Smith's win streak to five straight games. It was also their fifth triumph in seven engagements this season. St. Paul, which dropped its second straight decision to Smith, has now won two and lost six games.

The Smith five moved to a commanding 26-8 lead in the first eight minutes before Coach Jack Brayboy pulled his first team. Smith held a 40-26 margin at the half.

Brayboy cleared the bench of all available Smith players. The Bulls were led by Senior Kenny Diamond, and Freshmen Clarence Barnes and Cleveland Banks who tallied 18, 17 and 15 points in that order. Robert Scott scored 14 and Willie Livingston 11 for the losers.

The Smith team will travel to Raleigh Wednesday night to tangle with Saint Augustine College. They will oppose Winston-Salem Teachers here Saturday night.
