Proposal To Add Freedman's Hospital To Howard Renewed

WASHINGTON, D. C. Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Bertha S. Adkins Monday renewed her Department's appeal for the transfer of Freedman's Hospital to Howard University, saying that such a move would not only greatly improve the quality of medical education, at Howard, but also aid the University in carrying forward its important services to the nation.

The Under Secretary's remarks came during exercises at Howard, where a new wing of the school's Pre-clinical Medical Building was dedicated. Mrs. Adkins, representing HEW Secretary Arthur S. Fleming, formally presented the building to the University.

In commenting on the proposal made to Congress three years ago to transfer the Federally-administered hospital to Howard, Mrs. Adkins said, "It is the conviction of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare that the quality of the educational program at Howard Medical School would be strengthened immeasurably by having both the medical school and Freedman's Hospital under the management of Howard University. The Department proposed to Congress at the last legislative session that this be done."

NAACP's Wilkins Pleased, He Asserts, With Court's Ruling

NEW YORK Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Friday issued the following statement on the Supreme Court's ruling in the Little Rock school integration case:

"Naturally, the Supreme Court's unanimous decision greatly pleases us, and all believers in constitutional government, since it makes clear that the basic human rights of individual citizens cannot be abridged or denied because of threats or violent acts on the part of those who uphold racial discrimination and segregation.

"The Little Rock Negro students and their parents have sought their rights in a peaceful and lawful manner through the courts. They have not once indulged in violence or any acts of retaliation, although they have been continuously abused and harassed."

They seek "an unsegregated education which is the only way they can receive an education equal to that made available to others. In pursuit of this objective, they and others similarly situated will have the full and united support of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People."

Pope Expresses Enmity To Bars Because Of Race

CASSELGANDOLFO, Italy His Holiness Pope Pius XI told a group of blood specialists from all over the world that "the Church has always energetically opposed genocide attempts and practices arising from what has been called the 'color bar'."

The Pontiff spoke on the problems of blood types and related hereditary factors in a message he granted to medical specialists taking part in the Seventh International Hematological Congress in Rome.

Concerning the race question, Pope Pius said:

"It is sufficiently well known to what extent prejudice of race and racial hatred unfortunately can lead. The Church has always energetically opposed genocide attempts and practices arising from what has been called the 'color bar'. The Pope also said that "the Church also disapproves of any genetic experiment which cheapens the spiritual nature of man and treats him as another type of the animal species."

GARDEN HINTS

By T. L. FLOWERS

LILLIES GROW BEST WHEN PLANTED IN FALL

Lillies, with their various flower colors of beauty and sweet fragrance together with a great variety in height and form, are outstanding for the summer and early fall garden.

In a group backed by evergreens, as a feature planting, the Regal Lily and other trumpet shaped varieties are outstanding. Others are suitable for naturalizing in part sun; while groups of the speciosum near the back of the herbaceous border provide a breath taking accent. All make lovely cut flowers for arrangements for many occasions where they combine well with roses, delphiniums and other elegant flowers.

What lillies must have is a well drained, rich, deep porous soil, plus an ample supply of moisture while they are growing. Do not try to grow them in a heavy clay or in a location where water stands after heavy rains and the soil is slow to dry up.

Lillies will not thrive in shade, except the lightest. The soil in which they are planted could be worked 12 to 18 inches deep. If the soil is chiefly clay, select a location and slope to the south. If possible, work into the soil as much organic matter as you can, such as wood mold leaves, etc.

Depths of planting should vary with the size of the bulb. There should be soil above the bulb equaling the diameter of the bulb. Lilium candidum, always an exception, on this point, should barely be covered with soil. Each variety, it seems, has its favorite depths, but if you plant them as here suggested, they will find their own proper level. However, the planting depths should vary from five to ten inches, according to whether they are of the base or stem root type. Though most lillies are planted in the fall, stem rooting can be set out in early spring. Bulbs should be planted as soon as possible after they are received, especially so in spring.

Lillies respond very well to a complete fertilizer. Plant food makes more and better flowers. Mix the plant food with the soil when planting and apply it annually with an extra top dressing when flower buds appear.

Lillies like shade for their roots, and are particularly benefited by thick mulch kept in place the year round, but of such a character as will permit water to penetrate readily. Coarse sawdust and similar materials are good for the purpose.

Civil Liberties Union Official Applauds Court

NEW YORK, N. Y. The Supreme Court's decision refusing to delay public school integration in Little Rock is "fresh affirmation of the Court's determination that racial segregation is constitutionally out of place in the American public school system," the American Civil Liberties Union commented this week.

Hailing the unanimous opinion, ACLU executive director Patrick Murphy Malin declared the high court has thus given clear-cut evidence that it would not allow mob action supported by state officials to flout "the law of the land."

"The Supreme Court," Malin said, "properly has refused to abdicate its responsibility to guarantee that its 1954 and 1955 decisions must be obeyed. To have ruled otherwise would have crippled the effect of these decisions in all school integration cases insuring that American citizens' constitutional right of equal treatment will not be denied."
