NCC Students 'Hang' Newton

Protest Shift Of A&T Game To City Park

Some 85 North Carolina College students hanged NCC Athletic Director I. G. Newton in effigy in front of the college's cafeteria about 11 p.m. Wednesday night in protest of the shift of the football game here Thanksgiving Day between NCC and A and T of Greensboro from the Eagles' O'Kelly Field to Durham Athletic Park.

CIAA Statistician L. T. Walker, NCC track coach, has termed the game a "likely championship affair". NCC currently leads the 18 college CIAA with a record 5-0-0. A and T is runner-up with 4-0-0.

Dr. Newton, professor of political science and athletic director, reportedly had been approached by A and T officials to move the game to Greensboro where Memorial Stadium could accommodate the large crowd expected to witness the event.

Formerly, the game was a joint promotion between the two colleges. Two years ago, however, See PROTEST, page 8

Last Rites Held For Woman Hit By Auto

Funeral services for a 66 year old woman who died when she was struck by an automobile enroute to her home from church were scheduled to be held Thursday.

The Mt. Vernon Baptist Church on South Roxboro street, the church which Mrs. Hestoria L. Godette had left just minutes before meeting her death, was to be the scene of the final rites for her.

The Rev. E. T. Browne, pastor of the church, was scheduled to officiate. He was to be assisted by the Rev. James A. Brown, pastor of Ebenezer Baptist in Durham.

Mrs. Godette, a resident of 807 Ridgeway street, was struck by an automobile Sunday evening at the intersection of Enterprise and South Roxboro street. See MRS. GODETTE, page 8

Victim Of Latest Assault, Girl Of 11, Can't Identify Attacker

The second rape case in three weeks involving all teen-agers struck Durham this week.

Police reported Monday that an 11 year old girl was assaulted Sunday evening by a boy approximately 15 years old.

About three weeks ago, police received another complaint from the mother of a 14 year old girl who said her daughter had been assaulted by two 16 year old boys.

At mid-week, there had been no disclosures of arrests in either of the cases.

The girls were unable to identify their assailants in both cases, police reported.

The latest assault came on Sunday evening around eight o'clock.

The mother of the assault victim said her daughter was attacked near the intersection of St. Joseph and Macklin streets behind an empty house.

Detectives reported that the girl told them the youth who attacked her was about 15 years old, but stated she could not identify him. She was treated at Lincoln Hospital following the incident and released.

In October, another teen-age girl was reportedly raped by two teen-age boys. This incident occurred on October 22 behind a 508 Fayetteville street address.

Involved in this case was a 14 year old girl and two 16 year old youths.

City manager R. W. Flack, fire department chief C. L. Cox and other city officials were to take part in the ceremony.

The new station went into operation on November 1 with a crew of ten recruits and two veterans.

Since that time, the crew, working in two five man shifts, has answered four calls.

The formal opening ceremony Thursday was to be led by the Rev. R. L. Speaks, pastor of St. Mark A.M.E. Zion church.

During the program, a 21 inch television set, contributed through public donations solicited by a unit of the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs, was to be presented to the station.

Mrs. Margurite Belafonte, internationally known fashion model, will appear in person in Winston-Salem at 8:00 p.m. Friday, November 21 at the Whitaker Gymnasium on the campus of Winston-Salem Teachers College.

She will be guest model in Fashionette, sponsored by the Phi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Local models will share the spotlight with Mrs. Belafonte in the style revue.

Theme of the Fashionette will be "Around the World in Ninety Minutes", based on a script written by Mrs. Eva M. Rice, a soror.

A special feature of the program will be the crowning of Miss Fashionette. Candidates are Miss Carolyn Glymph, Miss Marie Hill, Miss Gwendolyn Jones and Miss Willie G. McCluney.
