TWO COUPLES SHARE SPOTLIGHT AT NCC COMMENCEMENT

These two couples shared the academic spotlight at North Carolina College's commencement last week. On the left are Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Alston, of 114 Elizabeth Street, Henderson, both of whom received master's degrees. Mr. Alston, received the M.A. Degree in Education. His wife, Mrs. Valeria Alston earned a Master of Science degree. Both are Shaw University graduates. At right are Dr. and Mrs. Ray Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is being congratulated by her husband, NCC faculty member, shortly after she received the M.A. degree.

In North Carolina during the past few days, a one-a-year scene was repeated in some ten colleges and scores of high schools. It was graduation time, and thousands of students and faculty members donned mortarboards and academic robes and paraded in procession through storied campus walks and halls.

The most proud of the many visitors to the various campuses were the parents of graduates, who saw their hopes and deprivations vindicated.

Another kind of visitor, quite proud, too, was the "old grads," on hand for reunions and alumni meetings. Of course there were the inevitable comparisons between "our class and these young upstarts."

But, from whatever aspect one chooses to view commencement, it is certainly quite an occasion, as pictures on this page from exercises at four Tarheel schools show.

SPEAKER GETS HELP FROM "MISS A AND T"

Dorothy Juanita Tatum, "Miss A&T College" helps commencement speaker Dr. Theodore A.

Diester, executive director of the Association of American Colleges, adjust academic garb while president Dr. W. T. Gibbs looks on.

DIGNITARIES AT SHAW'S 95TH COMMENCEMENT

Left to right are John S. Johnson, publisher of Ebony and Jet Magazines, Chicago who was the recipient of the Doctor of Laws Degree at Shaw University's Ninety-fifth Commencement exercises; Dr. Asa T. Spaulding, president of the N. C. Mutual Life Insurance Company and treasurer of Shaw's trustee board; the Honorable Fred A. Seaton, Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C., the Commencement Speaker, and Dr. William R. Strassner, President of Shaw University.

LIVINGSTONE PRINCIPALS

These were the principals in the 78th commencement at Livingstone College, one of the oldest church-related schools in the state. Left to right are William Snider, senior vice president of Wachovia Bank who was given honorary degree; Dr. Robert Weaver, Ford Foundation staffer who delivered address; Bishop W. J. Walls, senior Bishop of AME Zion church which supports school and chairman of trustees; and College president Dr. S. E. Duncan.

AWAITING THE CLASS OF 1960

to each graduate; Mrs. Frances Eagleson, registrar; B. T. McMillon, chairman of the department of Health Education; Dean D. Eric Moore, of the library school; Dr. Gardner Taylor, main speaker; President Alfonso Elder; Dr. Albert Turner, dean of the Law School; Dr. William H. Brown, dean of the graduate school; Dr. George T. Kyle, undergraduate dean; Dr. J. Neal Hughley, College Minister; and the Rev. William H. Fuller, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, of Durham.

HE'S IN THE ARMY NOW

Charles Luther, of Asheboro, changes his ROTC insignia for regular army lieutenant bars as his graduation from A&T College signifies his entry into the armed forces. Little sister Jean, of Asheboro, is doing the honors. Charles was commander of the joint A&T Army-Air Force ROTC.

Exhorting Grads

Dr. Durham serves coffee to guests from Central State College. "Carnation is the 'cream' in our circle," Dr. Durham explains. "It enriches coffee like cream—with 1/2 the fat calories."

Dr. Durham, well-known dietitian, tells why

"Carnation is the brand of my choice for cooking and for coffee"

Dr. Elizabeth Durham heads the home economics department at Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio. "I prefer the Carnation brand of evaporated milk for its delicious, 'creamy' goodness," she says, "and my students see the difference right away. We cook with Carnation, when I use it like cream for our coffee. And I use this brand exclusively for smooth cream sauce dishes like creamed chipped beef." (Recipe at right.) A special method of evaporation removes only water—slowly, at low temperature. This low-heat method gives today's Carnation the consistency of cream, with 1/2 the fat calories. Carnation in the red and white can is the world's favorite brand, by far.

"From Contented Cooks"

"Now add the Carnation slowly," Dr. Durham instructs student making cream sauce. Students find that today's Carnation makes sauces as smooth as cream could make them—with far fewer fat calories recipe:

CARNATION CREAMED CHIPPED BEEF

(Makes 4 servings)

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 3/4 cups (large can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
- 1 1/2 cups (4 oz.) cut dried beef
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/4 cup diced green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs

Blend butter, flour, salt, and pepper together in saucepan over low heat until smooth. Gradually add undiluted Carnation. Continue stirring until thickened and smooth.

Brown rinsed and well-drained dried beef in iron skillet. Add celery, green pepper, pimiento, eggs and Carnation cream sauce. Serve over toast or well-drained cooked rice.
