Confab Hears Of Plan For Unwed Mothers

WILMINGTON—Featured speakers at the 36th annual session of the Interdenominational Ushers Association held here August 25-28 were Dr. John H. Wheeler, president of the Mechanics and Farmers Bank; Dr. Asa T. Spaulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company both of Durham and Dr. John R. Larkins of the State Welfare Department, Raleigh.

The annual sermon was delivered by the Rev. L. J. Miller, pastor of the St. Stephen's A.M.E. Church, scene of the convention.

All of the speakers praised the work of the Ushers Association and the contribution it is making to the religious and civic life of

THE SETTING—This will be the scene Saturday night when Hillside faces Mary Potter of Oxford at the new County stadium. This photograph was taken from the south stands and shows approximately 3,000 people in the north stands during a Durham high school game last year. The stadium is

Hillside Opens Grid Season In New Stadium

Hillside Athletic Business Manager Waller M. Grandy stood in the center of cavernous new County stadium Tuesday and exclaimed,

"What a magnificent sight!" Grandy's exclamation was prompted by the awesome spectacle of as to who was exhibiting the most worry over Saturday's game, business manager Grandy or coach Russell Blunt.

Blunt has a practically brand new team to face eight opponents this year, and Grandy has a practically brand new 18,000 seat stadium to fill.

Hillside will play all of its home games at the new stadium this year.

Season tickets for four Hillside home games are now on sale, Grandy announced. A strong plea was issued by Grandy from the school's athletic committee asking

County Students to Use Old Pearisontown School Building

An expected overflow of students at Pearisontown school here forced school officials to make plans to shift sections of three grades to the old Pearisontown school building.

The wooden frame building which will be used for the extra students is located in a newly annexed area of the city near Mutual Heights. It is presently being leased to Durham Business College.

County Schools Superintendent Charles Chewning said sections of grades one, two and three at Pearisontown will be housed for classes in unused rooms of the building now leased to the business college.

Once the Pearisontown School serving elementary students in the southern section of the County, was rendered obsolete when a new, modern brick structure was erected six years ago on Barbee Road.

Two years ago the building was leased to Durham Business College.

Approximately 90 students living in the area of the building will be assigned to the three classes. Three teachers of the Pearisontown faculty will be in charge of the students.

The students will report directly to the special section from their homes each morning and will be provided transportation to Pearisontown school for lunch.

Pearisontown principal J. W. Davidson said arrangements are being worked out to furnish the special section with assembly facilities at the former Pearisontown building.

Chewning explained the move became necessary because County school planners found themselves

Disclosure of Pupils' Records Is Attacked

Durham Negro school patrons were incensed this week at the disclosure last week by city schools superintendent Lew W. Hannen of grades of some Negro students who were admitted to white schools last year.

R. N. Harris, lone Negro member of the City School Board, was one of the most vocal of opponents to Superintendent's action.

"It's terribly unfair to the students," Harris said.

"It's special treatment that is unfarranted. It could frighten the seven students who have just been transferred to the white schools."

Hannen cited the records of some of the first Negro students who entered white schools last year in commenting on the small number of Negro students admitted this year.

The school board accepted seven of 205 applications from Negro

Rape Defendant Changes Lawyers

GRAHAM—Moses C. Burt, Jr., of Burlington, Hubert Parks of Guilford County, and Louis C.

Allen, Jr., of Burlington, were appointed new defense attorneys for Jesse Graves, facing death sentence on a conviction of rape.

The appointments of the new attorneys were made by Superior Court Judge Raymond B. Mallard at the request of Graves.

A 36 year old Alamance County resident, Graves was convicted of raping a 43 year old white housewife and sentenced to die in the gas chamber in Alamance Superior Court last fall.

He was granted a new trial when the State Supreme Court balked at a statement made by Solicitor William H. Murdock during the trial to the jury concerning capital punishment.

Graves was represented by B. F. Wood, of Graham, and M. Hugh Thompson, of Durham, in the first trial.

The incident from which he was charged took place on May 18, 1959. He is accused of raping Mrs. E. N. Starnes of the Union

Randolph Turns Thumbs Down On Kennedy

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A Philip Randolph—long known for his independent thinking—refused to go along with the rest of the chiefs of the AFL-CIO and was the sole one of 150 to vote against endorsing Senator John F. Kennedy for President of the United States.

"There is not enough difference between them (Nixon and Kennedy) to justify a choice," was his comment.

Thus the vote went 149 for Kennedy and one against Kennedy. Randolph wanted to start a new party—a labor party. But President George Meany squelched the idea and thought that all labor should work with the present two party system.

Organization Moves to End Discrimination in Employment

CHARLOTTE—The North Carolina State Conference of Branches, NAACP will launch on September 1st, "Operation Employment", a Freedom to Work Project, which has as its objective, the elimination of discrimination in employment. Kelly M. Alexander, President of the North Carolina State Conference of NAACP Branches, said Monday.

The first phase of the project will concentrate on employment of qualified Negroes in state, county and city governments. Federal agencies operating in North Carolina are also included in the project.

Alexander said that job discrimination in government is sufficiently important to require immediate action.

Mitchell June Wins Carolina League Most Valuable Award

Carolina League Sports Casters Association Wednesday named Mitchell June, Alamance outfielder, a recipient of the Third Annual Most Valuable Player Trophy for the Carolina League.

June is a 29 year old veteran who now calls Los Angeles, California home.

A former University of Chicago athlete, June led the Indians, who finished last in the first half to battle for first place in the second half. He leads the Carolina League in batting, stolen bases and is high in all other hitting departments.

This is the third time that the Carolina League Trophy has gone to a Negro athlete. Fred Valentine of Wilson won it in
