

Bennett's Freshman Were Top Ranked Scholars

GREENSBORO — Thirty-three members of this year's freshman class at Bennett College were members of national honor societies, admissions records reveal. Eleven of these were valedictorians and seven were salutatorians, included among the 160-odd newcomers are eight who are sisters of Bennett graduates or upperclass-who was graduated in 1958. Aleta's sister of graduates are Minnie Elizabeth Carson, of Lexington, and Brenda Green, of Philadelphia. About 100 new mechanical cotton pickers are expected to be purchased in North Carolina this year.

Dr. Samuel Proctor, New A & T President, Joined at His Greensboro Home By His Wife and Two Sons

GREENSBORO—Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, the new president of A&T College, was joined last week by his happy family, his attractive wife and their two sons, Herbert Stuart, 13, and Timothy DeWitt, 10.

With Herbert, recuperating from major surgery, the latter three had remained in Fredericksburg, Va., allowing the president full time, during the past two months, in which to adjust to his new job.

The closely knit family is not only happy over the reunion, but equally pleased over living now in Greensboro. Not that they liked Richmond, Va., less, where Dr. Proctor had served at Virginia Union University as teacher, dean, vice president and president since 1948, but to each of them, Greensboro is a new challenge and a thrilling experience.

business and banking firms and just plain people. "These courtesies," said Mrs. Proctor, "made us all very happy that we were moving to Greensboro and A&T College."

Mrs. Proctor's first interest in North Carolina came years ago through her father, the late Stuart M. Tate, Jr., a pharmacist in Fredericksburg, Va., her native home. He received his training at the Leonard School of Medicine, a part of Shaw University in Raleigh. She explains that he had fond recollections about the State.

The Proctors were married in 1944 following a campus romance which began when both were students at Virginia Union.

Mrs. Proctor received the A.B. degree in elementary education, but has taught very little. Her favorite hobbies are her boys. Next in order, she likes talking, "not the type my husband does," she explains, "I am far from being good in public speaking." A&T's first lady" also likes good books and good music, including popular numbers.

She has enjoyed being the wife of a college president. The president's absence from home, attending the many meetings required of a college head has been inconvenient, at times, but she says that it offers other compensating advantages.

Mrs. Proctor holds memberships in several national organizations, including: Jack and Jill of America, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and The Links.

Switch and Stitch For Four Fall Formal Fashions

A sensational, versatile new fall wardrobe for gay afternoons and evenings is possible with just one practical easy-to-follow pattern.

THERE is a clever pattern that may be used in various glamour materials for four fall, formal fashions. It has two bodice styles, one with high front and halter straps crossing in the back, the other with boat neckline and deeply cut-out back.

You can make two long flowing evening dresses, each with different bodice, and two additional cocktail dresses by just shortening the pattern.

It was not long after, that Dr. Proctor accepted the A&T assignment.

When the news broke, the Proctors then learned more about the friendly attitude of the people in this city. Letters of greetings and welcome came pouring in from prominent people in the State, all persons having claims against said estate to exhibit them to the undersigned at 1016 Rich Avenue, Winston-Salem, North Carolina, on or before September 10, 1961, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery.

All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment.
