

CLEO HILL SCORES 42 POINTS

Rams Halt A&T In Tournament

WINSTON-SALEM — Sparked by another superb effort by the fabulous shooting Cleo Hill, the Winston-Salem teachers College basketball team edged by a strong A and T College quint 100 to 91 in the finals of the third annual Winston-Salem holiday basketball tournament here Saturday night.

Hill, the Rams brilliant back ace, pumped in 42 points in leading his mates to the victory.

But Rams needed an overtime to win, as the Aggies knotted the score at the end of the regulation contest.

North Carolina College, which appears headed for a "cold" winter, defeated Johnson C. Smith 92-83 in the consolation contest to capture third place.

The Eagles had been trowned the night before by the awesome Aggie attack, 104 to 65.

NCC's sophomore center Robert Jones, of Apex, sparked the Eagles both nights. He scored 31 in the losing effort against A and T, but got more help from his teammates against Smith.

The Johnson C. Smith team, only one to emerge from the two day tournament at Whitakers gymnasium here without a victory, lost to Winston-Salem in the opening round.

John Avery Boys Club Puts On Hot Shooting Exhibition to Capture First Holiday Tournament

The John Avery Boys Club entry captured first place in the first holiday basketball tournament sponsored by the Boys Club of Durham last week.

The Boys Club team defeated a team representing Durham Business College, 111 to 96, in the tournament's final last Wednesday night.

A team flying the colors of S&W Tailors edged St. Mark's 88-85 in an overtime period for third place.

In winning the cage event, the Boys Club casters set a torrid scoring pace. They scored a total of 217 points in two games, averaging 108 points per game.

They took the measure of S&W, 100-64, in the first round.

Durham Business College gained the finals by eliminating St. Mark's 88-85 in the first round.

EAGLES SWING INTO CIAA ACTION

NCC Meets Ex-UNC, Duke Stars Saturday

North Carolina College's unpredictable cage returned to classes this week as the holiday ended ready to resume the conference basketball wars.

The Eagles, who found themselves slumped near the bottom of the CIAA with a 2-7 won-loss record before the Christmas vacation, were scheduled to take on two conference opponents and one non conference for this week.

During the holidays, the Eagles got in some valuable experience over at Winston-Salem where they were given a lesson in the sport by A and T's strong team which vanquished the Eagles 104-65.

The lesson showed as soon as the crew took the floor and proceeded to knock off J. C. S., 94-88.

On Saturday of this week, the Eagles were slated to go up against some of the best basketball talent assembled in these parts in the past several years.

They will meet Lennie Rosenbluth's major leaguers in a benefit exhibition at McDougald gymnasium Saturday night at eight o'clock.

The roster of Rosenbluth's team includes two of the members of the 1957 NCAA basketball champions, two other former University of North Carolina stars two ex-Duke University greats.

Besides Lennie, the major leaguers will field a squad including Joe Quize, member of the UNC 1957 championship team; Danny Lotz, former UNC captain; Ray Stanley, star on last year's Carolina team; Al Long, of UNC; and Bobby Joe Harris, former Duke captain.

Rosenbluth's team played most of the major varsity teams in this area.

On Friday, the Eagles were slated to journey to Richmond, Va. where they were to meet the Virginia Union Panthers.

This will mark the first meeting of the season between the two teams Union, with four of its starting five of two years ago to together again, is rated a co-favorite with A and T and Winston-Salem to capture the conference championship.

On Wednesday night, coach Brown's boys were to entertain Elizabeth City Teachers College. The Eagles lost an earlier game this year with the Pirates at Elizabeth City.

Union's Spraggins Top Scorer; A&T Leads in Team Offense

By JOHN A. HOLLEY
GREENSBORO — (CIAA News Service)—Virginia Union's Warren Spraggins moved ahead as the CIAA's No. 1 point maker in the Conference's News Service's first basketball statistics release. Spraggins, a 6-5 senior from Williamsburg, Va., tops the league's scorers with a 29.8 scoring average.

A&T College's Aggies, on the rampage once again, lead the CIAA as the top offensive team.

Spraggins, the scoring kingpin in the league last year, holds an .08 margin over Smith's James Hester. Spraggins has tossed in 149 points in 5 contests for his 29.8 output, while Hester has scored 87 points in three league tests.

Winston-Salem's prolific Cleo Hill is just behind their pair with a 26.5 scoring average on 186 points in 7 dates, the most points scored by a CIAA performer.

Cal Irvin's Aggies, shooting at a clip of 490 to rank second among field goal leaders behind front-running Elizabeth City, lead the CIAA in total offense with a lofty 86.4 points per game average.

Hampton Institute's Pirates pace the league in total defense, allowing their five opponents to score only 339 points for an average of 67.8 per game.

Tommie Monterio, Winston-Salem's fine forward, shooting a hot hand in seven tilts, tops the league's field goal percentage leaders. The 6-5 New Yorker has potted 34 of 53 attempts for a remarkable .641 percentage. Spraggins is just slightly behind with a 6.7 mark on 63 of 102 connections.

Billy Marshall of A&T College sets the pace for the loop's charity line shooters, potting free throws at a clip of .880. The 6.5 junior has tessed in 22 of 25 attempts in 5 games. His closest pursuer is Roger Gibbs of Virginia Union who has hit on 28 of 32 free throw attempts for an .875 percentage.

Hillside Hopes To Improve Cage Record

Hillside High school's basketball team, with a bleak record behind it, hopes to better its position in the triple A league as it swung into action this week following the holiday lay-off.

Coach Carl Easterling's cagers did manage to get in some action during the Christmas vacation, however. They dropped a 50-46 contest to Dudley, of Greensboro, in a game here last week.

On Tuesday night, the Hornets were slated to journey down to Wilmington for a conference scrap with the Williston high school Tigers.

They were to return west for a game in Winston-Salem Friday night against new Paisley high school. And on next Monday, Jan. 13, the Hornets will host Paisley quintet in a return engagement in Hillside's gymnasium.

At the resumption of classes following the holiday, the Hornets' record stood at two victories and four defeats in overall play. Two of the losses, however, were of the non-conference variety.

CAROLYN'S CHATTERBOX

(TEENAGE HAPPENINGS)
By CAROLYN MCGHEE

This week's column is dedicated to Mr. Isaac Flemings, our Hillsville President; also to the whackiest lovers at Hillside, Robert Robertson and Anna Daye.

Happy, Happy New Year Everybody! How were the holidays, the ewinging parties and dances? Hope you didn't eat too much. Glad to have you aboard this week as we sail through the land of Mars in our Rocket label? Jive-town, U. S. A. Well let's go talk to the other half for 1961.

YWTKF WHALES

Friday night, December 30, at the W. D. Hill Recreation Center at 7:30, the Youth Wants to Know Forum had one swinging New Year's Dance and boy did they ball? Refreshments were chilled punch, both orange and lime, topped with assorted cookies. There were around 150 kids there to really make the party swing.

SOME NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

Anna Daye—I resolve to work hard and give Robert a fair chance.

Patricia Poole — I plan to be sweet and think about Clarence.

Rebecca Aveni — I resolve to think of only one thing, the big "M".

Mary Cozart—Working hard to keep Doc out of Mr. Alston's hands and make all promises come true.

AFTER CHRISTMAS DANCE

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, the swining Miss Judy Holeman decided to give a boss party, the Tuesday after Christmas. Some of the kids attending were Anna Daye, Robert Robertson, Zeke Zimmerman, Joe Green, Onnie Cozart, Howard Ferrell, Pearly Bledsoe and many others.

WHAT'S WHOING WITH THE HORNETS?

Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Hillside High School Gym for the Christmas basketball game between Dudley High Varsity and Junior Varsity, the J. V.'s won by a score of 39-30, but the Varsity lost by a score of 50-48. Many kids asked, "What's wrong with the Hornets?" I think however this may be a question for us to answer. Is it because one team is falling down, or could it be us. Well, I don't think it's the team because the Hornets are like what's happening. But I do think, however, that we should give the Hornets the support they need to boost them to victory. So let's all attend the basketball games and make sure the boys win.

OLD MAN WAKE

Monday, January 2, "Mettie Wake" Thompson celebrated his birthday; and on December 25, Helen Shaw reached her goal. Congratulations kids, hope you have many more.

BUDDY HIMSELF

Guess what gang, Buddy McKnight, Durham's own teenage recording star was here for the Holidays visiting with his mother, Mrs. Doris McKnight of Carroll Street. Buddy made many records while he was here but the one that will be remembered are "Let's Make Love," and "My Shirley, L." Hello Buddy, so good to see you.

GUESS WHO WAS HERE?

Bobby Crews of Virginia State along with Miss Gloria Crews and Jess Crews of Zebulon High in Wendell were the guests of Miss Mary Cozart of Kent Street over the holidays.

SOCK HOP

Monday night at 8 o'clock there was a back to school sock hop given by Joann Johnson at her home. Some of the gang that were there were: Donald and Lola Brown; Marie, Helen, Grover and Robert Shaw; Linda Jacobs, Lorenza and Laverne Cozart, Thomas Williams, Minerva Wyche, Ronald, William, Ruth and Joann Johnson. Refreshments were served by the hostess' parents.

OUR SINCERE SYMPATHY

Our sympathy is extended to Norman Eubanks (a football star at Hillside) over the death of his grandmother last week.

Well gang, it was nice having you. Now, we are really going to ball this new year. There'll be plenty of parties, dances, talent programs and hons, so you just be aboard the Chatterbox Cruiser when we sail far and abroad with these folks we call Teen-agers.

All of you work very hard this year so we can make these resolutions and realize for us here. And remember when you half do some work you are hurting those that love you, but the greatest hurt is to those.

So Jugg, Gang
—Carolyn

Aggies, Hawks Lead In CIAA Cage Standings

(CIAA News Service)—Cal Irvin's A&T College Aggies and Nat Taylor's Maryland State College Hawks pace the CIAA with unblemished records in league play, according to the league's December 27 standings released by the Conference's News Service here.

The standings cover games played through December 17.

The Aggies hold down first place with a 5-0 record and a Dickinson rating of 28.00. Maryland State's 2-0 slate and 25.00 rating earned them second place in the news service's first release of cage standings.

Winston-Salem's Rams, runners-up in the Georgia Invitational tourney, sport a 3-1 CIAA record, losing only to Virginia State. Clarence Gaines' quint have a Dickinson rating of 21.25, rating them ahead of Virginia State College, the fourth place team. The Trojans' record stands at 5-1 with a rating of 20.83.

Virginia Union and Johnson C. Smith's Golden Bulls, the defending CIAA visitation champions, are tied for fifth spot with identical Dickinson marks of 20.00. Smith with an unmarred record of 3-0, and Virginia-Union's Panthers with a 5-2 slate.

Bobby Vaughan's Elizabeth City Pirates round out the first division of the league's standings, holding firmly to 7th place with a 3-2 record and a Dickinson rating of 19.00.

Globetrotters On Western Tour

CHICAGO—Abe Saperstein's undefeated Harlem Globetrotters will head westward this week after enjoying one of the greatest holiday seasons in their history.

The dazzling Trotters swept through the east during the Christmas holidays on a sensational victory binge, playing before capacity crowds night after night.

They attracted capacity crowds in Madison Square Garden and Chicago Stadium before heading west for contests in mid-America and a series on the west coast.

Led by Meadowlark Lemon, the "Clown Prince of Basketball," Saperstein's spectacular cagers have already attracted more spectators this season than all other professional teams in the country. More than 200,000 fans have turned out to watch them unfold their bag of tricks.

Saperstein, seeking to establish an all-time attendance record this season, has added another sensational attraction to the organization's famed floor show.

The Trotter chief announced this week that Cab Calloway, long one of the great stars of show business and originator of the jazz classic—"Minnie the Moocher"—has joined the troupe and will tour with the team the rest of the season. He will headline the half-time shows wherever the Globetrotters appear.

John W. Dobbs Issues Statement Supporting Sit-In Movement

ATLANTA, Ga. — John W. Dobbs, Grandmaster of Masons of Georgia issued a statement this week in support of the sit-in strikes against segregation.

The message was contained in a holiday greeting sent out by the famous Georgia patriarch.

Dobbs said:

"The Negro college students of Atlanta, Ga. and other southern areas, with the assistance and moral support of their elders are battling today without physical violence for Liberty, Freedom and Human Dignity. They want Equality of Civil Rights, and Economic Opportunities.

"Because they are so Right in this struggle for justice, we must pray for them, encourage them, and, if need be, walk the picket lines with them."
