Founder's Day Events Slated For St. Paul's

LAWRENCEVILLE, Va.—Every alumni club president and all General Alumni Association officials have been invited to return to the Saint Paul's College campus on the weekend of March 17-19, for the annual observance of Founder's Day and the first winter Alumni Weekend.

President Earl H. McClenney says that during the upcoming inaugural of the Winter Alumni Weekend, consideration will be given to a celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of the college, when the 75th anniversary of the institution will be elaborately observed.

It was established in 1888 by the late Archdeacon James Solomon Russell.

Dr. McClenney, the third president of Saint Paul's, is entering his 11th year as chief administrator of the Lawrenceville college.

A distinguished clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Rev. Joseph Nicholson of Kansas City, Mo., will be the principal speaker on Founder's Day. He will be heard at the eleven o'clock observance set for Memorial Chapel here on Sunday, March 19th.

At nine o'clock a.m. on Friday, March 17, activities will be launched with a program to be addressed by James H. Harris of Danville, Va., current president of the General Alumni Association.

That evening in Kirby Auditorium at eight o'clock a dramatic offering will be presented by the Randolph Edmonds Players, the student dramatic organization.

On Saturday, March 18, activities will resume with a 10:00 a.m. symposium by the representatives of alumni clubs and the General Alumni Association. In this discussion the stress will be upon the aims and objectives of the college and the role and responsibilities in that connection of the alumni. An outstanding speaker to be named later will deliver an address.

NON-VIOLENCE, VOTING METHODS TO BE EXPLAINED

LYNCHBURG, Va. — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference in cooperation with the Lynchburg Improvement Association will sponsor a two-day institute on nonviolence and voter-registration.

The institute will begin Friday evening, January 20, 1961, with a state-wide mass meeting featuring Jim Lawson, newly appointed Staff Consultant on Nonviolence and Wyatt Tee Walker, Director of SCLC.

AWARDED DIMES DRIVE SCHOLARSHIP—Among the 20 Negro students who have received scholarships and fellowships, awarded by The National Foundation during this school year for study in the field of health, is Mrs. Charlotte Brantley Holmes of Winston-Salem. Mrs. Holmes is studying physical therapy at the College of Medical Evangelists, Loma Linda, Calif. The awards to the 20 students total $29,717.50 and were made possible by March of Dimes funds. You can help train many more sorely needed medical professionals by contributing to the New March of Dimes, Jan. 2-31. This campaign for funds is the sole support of the National Foundation which has broadened its program to include not only polio but birth defects and arthritis — three major crippling diseases. Please Say YES to the New March of Dimes.

Organizations Helping Evicted Tenn. Voters Meet to Coordinate

NEW YORK — The NAACP met with representatives of four other national groups here this week in an attempt to coordinate relief activities for Haywood and Fayette County, Tenn., sharecroppers.

Representatives of the American Friends Service Committee, the National Sharecroppers' Fund, the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Committee for Rural Schools met at the call of Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary.

The organizations agreed to work toward coordinating their relief activities and to look for a solution to the Tennessee crisis on other than a relief basis.

Negro farmers there, who registered to vote Nov. 8 have undergone endless economic reprisals. Many have been driven from land they have farmed for years.

At present, 13 families are living in a temporary community known as "Tent City" where they are housed in surplus army tents.

The NAACP national office has sent more than $6,000 to the distressed area since July.

Jesse H. Turner, president of the Memphis NAACP, and Allen Yancy, president of the newly founded Somerville NAACP branch (county seat of Fayette), attended the meeting at the NAACP national office.

They served as resource persons and gave first-hand reports.

GETS RESEARCH GRANT—Dr. Burleigh C. Webb, professor of agronomy at A&T College, has been awarded a $12,200 research grant by the National Science Foundation. The study is to deal with the effects of gravity and light rays on plant hormones and their influence on plant growth habits and will be conducted for two years.

A&T Receives Science Grant For Project

GREENSBORO—A professor at A&T College has been awarded a grant of $12,200 by the National Science Foundation to conduct scientific research.

Dr. Burleigh C. Webb, professor of agronomy, was notified this week that his project had been approved and funds had been allocated. The announcement was made by Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, president of the College.

The project, scheduled to be conducted for a period of two years is entitled, "Interaction of Growth Regulators and Radiant Energy on Geotropic Response of Burmudagrass Rhizomes."

Dr. Webb explains that the study aims to find how certain hormones in plants may be affected by light rays and gravitation to influence their growth habits. He said that Burmudagrass had been selected for the experiment because it is one of several plants which grows vertically, along the ground surface and below the soil.

He added that success in the project could, conceivably, lead to changes in agricultural practices which could improve pasture crops and simplify harvesting of certain other crops.
