

Rams Edge Smith For CIAA Tournament Crown

Winston-Salem Nips Bulls In Overtime, 106-103; Hill is MVP

WINSTON-SALEM—(CIAA News Service)—Winston-Salem Teachers College fought off a determined Johnson C. Smith University quint to edge the Golden Bulls in a breathtaking 106-103 overtime to bring the Rams their second successive CIAA Tournament basketball championship.

All-Star Foes For Globetrotters Being Selected

CHICAGO — The directors of the World Series of Basketball are busily engaged this week compiling the names of the nation's outstanding college players who have been nominated by scouts and coaches as potential members of the 1961 All-Star squad.

The team, when finally selected, will meet Abe Saperstein's fabulous Harlem Globetrotters in the tenth annual World Series, beginning April 2nd at the Chicago Stadium.

The two star-studded teams will play in the following cities on successive nights—Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Hershey, Pa., Charlotte, N. C., Cincinnati, St. Paul, Bozeman, Mont., Spokane, Washington, Corvallis, Ore. (Oregon State College), San Francisco, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, Tucson, Albuquerque, N. M., Denver, Kansas City and Wichita. The series on April 21.

The Globetrotters, meantime, are being managed by Saperstein for this nationally famous series while on tour through the east. "By the time our regular season ends," the owner and coach of the world's most celebrated professional team says, "I'll have this club primed and ready for the World Series. We have to function perfectly if we expect to beat the All-Stars."

vided the Rams with their margin of victory with 1:02 remaining in the overtime period. Glover turned toward the basket, went up, hooked the ball in, drawing a foul as the ball dropped through the hoop.

Very calmly he stepped to the free throw line, arced in the charity shot to give the Rams of Clarence "Bighouse" Gaines a 104-103 advantage. Moments later, Bobby Williams sank two free throws on a "1 plus 1" situation to give the Winston-Salem quint their fourth CIAA tournament title in the last 9 years.

A crowd of some 7,000 spectators crammed into the Memorial Coliseum here to witness the Rams and the Golden Bulls in what turned out to be perhaps the most exciting championship contest in the history of CIAA tournament competition.

Grines charges hopped out in the lead, 14-2, as the starting five of Cleo Hill, Charlie Riley, Tommie Monterio, Richard Glover and George Force hit on six successive shots from the floor before missing.

Smith's Golden Bulls bounced up off the floor with a brilliant performance of outside shooting as Freddie Neal and Jimmy Hester paced an assault on the hoop that saw Smith come to within three points of the Rams, 44-41, with 2:11 showing on the clock to play in the first half.

The Bulls, trying to come from behind to win for second time in the tourney, rallied to within 3 of the Winston-Salem five at halftime, at 52-49.

With 5:45 to go in the regulation time, the Rams lost Riley by the personal foul route. Hill followed shortly afterward, committing his fifth personal with 3:02 to play in the regulation time. Without Hill and Riley, the Rams, moving into the finals by virtue of their win over Delaware State in the first round, by a score of 91-84, and an 82-72 semi-final win over A. and T. College depended on their tall pair of George Force and Glover to do the job.

COME TO PAPA . . . seems to be what Winston-Salem forward Tommy Monterio is saying as he battles to control rebound during hectic semi-final game between arch rival Winston-Salem Teachers College and A. and T. College in the 16th CIAA tournament in Winston-Salem Memorial Coliseum last week-end.

Rams Cleo Hill looks up apprehensively as Tommy and the ball get together. Thanks to some fine pressure foul shooting by Monterio in the last moments of the game, the Rams edged A. and T., 82-72, in the semi-finals and went on to capture the tournament. (Photo courtesy CIAA News Service)

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON lost to GENE FULLMER Saturday in Las Vegas, Nevada. I believe that the referee showed prejudice against Sugar Ray. In the 14th round with 15 seconds to go Sugar Ray had Fuller against the ropes. Fuller was hurt and hung on to Robinson while the referee refused to separate them.

Except for the third round, I think it was Robinson's fight all the way.

FLOYD PATTERSON will meet INGEMAR JOHANSSON, Monday, March 13, in Miami, Florida. This will be their third meeting in the ring. As it stands now, they are even at one a piece. Do you think Patterson plans will work again on Johansson in faking like he is hurt and wait for Johansson to come in wild for the kill, or will he get knocked down or out himself? Other sports writers feel that Ingemar is not ready, and they think Floyd is rough as ever. This fight will not go the distance.

Winston-Salem won the CIAA Tournament Saturday in the Winston-Salem Memorial Coliseum. They out fought the well organized Johnson C. Smith quint. A crowd of 7,000 or more saw the score change hands several times before T. C. pulled it out off he fire. At the end of the regulation game the score was tied at 95-all. In the closing minutes of the overtime, T. C. led by one point, (104-103) before T. C. was entitled to 1 plus 1 free throw.

A. and T. won the Consolation crown by edging out Virginia State 73-71. With 3 seconds to go, Soph Hugh Evans scored on a one plus one which put A. and T. ahead 73-71 to clinch the game.

Pro scouts Earl Lloyd of the Detroit Pistons and "Red" Holzman of the New York Knickerbockers were seen getting a "good look" at the CIAA's cage mogul at the tourney.

The Women Athletics Association held a meet at NCC March 3, 4 and 5. Schools participating in these events were: Hampton, Virginia State College, Bennett College, A. and T. College, Livingstone College, South Carolina State College and NCC as hosts.

I Like Quick, Lithe Backs, Says Florida A&M's Jake Gaither

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Eyebrows, 1,800 of them, were lifted here when Jake Gaither of Florida A. and M. University told coaches in attendance at the Coach-of-the-Year clinic what makes his Rattlers tick.

He spoke on the split-line T offense and was the most sought-after clinician at the clinic during the question and answer period and during breaks.

"The reason we score so much is our offense. We move the ball a lot because we split a lot and use fast backs. I like quick, lithe backs. I've got six of them who can go the 100 yards in 10 seconds. One of them has been clocked at 9.5 and a half. With this type of offense, they escape attention people pay to the color of the skin." He said: "You take Jimmie, he's probably worth $18,000 a year. This, my friends, is inspiring to other boys who follow him at Florida A. and M."

Coach Gaither was booked in some fast clinical company including Coach Murray Warmath, coach of the year at Minnesota; Coach Drury Devine of the Orange Bowl University of Missouri team; Coach Bump Elliott, University of Michigan; Coach Bud Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma; Coach Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State University, and Coach Frosty Perzeles, Northern Michigan.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — The Florida A. and M. University baseball nipe will open the 1961 season under a new head coach when they plan an exhibition game against the Tampa All-Stars here on March 11.

The newly named coach served as assistant coach to Dr. Oscar A. Moore who was head coach from 1947 until he resigned last spring.

The Rattlers finished second last year in the SIAC to Allen University of Columbia, S. C.

"Our team prospects look good," remarked Kittles. "Our pitching and fielding have been coming along fine. We plan to do more offensive work and base running before we open the season."

The Rattlers have 13 returning lettermen from the 1960 squad which had a 20-5 season record. The leading pitchers who are expected to carry the load are Earl Wilson, Ben Pratt, and Johnny Davis.
