Mutual Official Completes Sales Promotion Study

According to notices and certificates received by J. W. Goodloe, Senior Vice President and Secretary of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, Mrs. Alma H. Wade has recently completed a Workshop on Sales Promotion conducted by Life Advertisers Association at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia.

A week of specialized training was provided for 32 life insurance home office staff members, under the guidance of the Chairman of the Educational Committee, Hugh Rickenbaker, Jr., of Life Insurance of Georgia, and the Workshop Director, Donald L. Hokin of Life Insurance Company of North America.

Guest speakers and the completion of a specific sales promotion project highlighted the curriculum.

The workshop was aimed at giving the students a well-rounded view of the major functions and activities of a Sales Promotion Department of a life insurance company. In addition, the intent was to impart a working knowledge of the techniques of sales promotion.

Mrs. Wade has previously attended an editorial workshop conducted by Life Advertisers Association, in connection with her duties as editor of The Whetstone, North Carolina Mutual's official publication.

A&T Professor Receives Grant To Complete Negro History Work

GREENSBORO A professor at A. and T. College has just been awarded a grant to further historical research and to complete a history book he is writing.

Dr. Frenise A. Logan, chairman of the A. and T. College Social Science Department, has been granted the award by the American Association For State and Local History, Madison, Wisconsin.

Dr. Logan is one of 12-historians receiving the grants, the first to be given by the Association. The program was launched to encourage the study, writing and publication of sound, interpretative local history.

The title of Dr. Logan's new book is, "The Negro in North Carolina From 1876 to 1894." He explains that there is little recorded information on the Negro during that crucial period.

This is the second writing prize won by the A. and T. professor. He was honored with the Connor Award in 1959 for the best article appearing in the North Carolina Historical Review.

Dr. Logan has travelled extensively. He visited India and Pakistan first sively in India and the Far East.

in 1944-1945, with the U. S. Air Force, again in 1953-1954 under a Ford Fellowship for study and research and a third time, 1960-61, under a Fulbright Fellowship, lecturing at the University of Madras and the University of Calcutta.

African Agriculture Leaders To Spend 2 Weeks Study in Orange

HILLSBORO—Four African Agricultural Leaders from Nigeria and Ghana, part of a group of 18, will spend two weeks in Orange County from May 22 to June 2, studying the Agricultural Extension Service.

The following visitors are expected:

Umaru Grate, Agricultural Superintendent, Katagora, Nigeria; Vonjen Gambo Sanda, Agricultural Superintendent, Abuja, Nigeria; Onuoha Acha Mba, Agricultural Officer, Umuahia-Ibeku, Nigeria and Charles K. B. Tachie-Menson, Senior Agricultural Survey Officer, Koforindua, Ghana.

All of the participants have been trained in a local school of Agriculture and have experience in advisory work. However, their training in Extension methods has been limited, and their knowledge of how to work with people to get widespread application of improved farm practice needs strengthening.

A. and T. College and the Agricultural Extension Service are working in cooperation with the International Cooperation Administration (I. C. A.) and the Foreign Extension Training Office in providing training for Agricultural Leaders from Nigeria and Ghana

Tenn. State Students Elect Top Student Body Officers

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The largest student turnout in Tennessee State University's history swept a pair of "campus sweethearts" into the top government offices last Wednesday.

Breaking a four-year rival sorority hold, Alpha Kappa Alpha member Louise Dickson from Greenville, Tennessee swamped Lakner, Michigan's Barbara Mathis 870 to 609 to become the 19th "Miss Tennessee State." Miss Dickson is the first home economics major to win this honor since Velma Waller eight years ago.

She was recently named on President Kennedy's list of women eligible for appointive post.

The Women's Day Committee is composed of Mrs. J. R. Bedding and Mrs. B. L. McGhee, general chairmen, Mrs. M. T. Cureton, Mrs. Willia B. Gibson, Miss Grace Hall, Mrs. Mamie Holman, Mrs. Lucille McCoy, Mrs. Mary G. Owens, and Mrs. Bettie E. Parker.

Today's Carnation gives you cheese sauce in 3 minutes

The secret: today's Carnation, the milk you can use like cream—with 1/2 the fat calories, and at 1/2 the cost of cream!

ORDINARY MILK WON'T DO! No flour, no shortening needed when you use this wonderful milk that has the consistency of golden country cream. Today's Carnation is evaporated a special way that makes it look like cream, pour like cream, whip like cream. Even when you mix it with an equal amount of water, Carnation is rich, whole milk—for better cooking and baking results at far less cost than ordinary milk. For cooking, coffee, cereals—try today's Carnation, world's favorite by far!

RECIPE: CARNATION 3-MINUTE CHEESE SAUCE. Simmer 1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted Carnation and 1/2 teaspoon salt over low heat to just below boiling (1 1/2 minutes). Add 2 cups (about 8 oz.) grated process-type American cheese. Stir until cheese melts (about 1 minute longer). Delicious over popped-open baked potatoes, green vegetables, hamburgers, meat loaf—and for golden-good macaroni and cheese (below).

MARCARONI & CHEESE with Carnation 3-Minute Cheese Sauce. Mix 4 cups cooked macaroni, 1/4 cup chopped pimiento, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper and 2 teaspoons dry mustard together in buttered 2-quart casserole. Pour cheese sauce over mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25-30 minutes. See other recipes on the red and white labels of today's Carnation.
