Church's Role Large In State NAACP Convention In Goldsboro Oct. 12-15

NAACP Secretary Marks 30th Year

GOLDSBORO — The 10th Annual Convention of the North Carolina NAACP will convene in Goldsboro, on October 12-15, 1961. All sessions of the convention will be held at the Tabernacle, 500 Gulliey Street.

The activities of the convention will begin on Thursday with a Ministers Conference. The ministers will focus attention on "Religious Responsibility and the Desegregation Challenge."

Bishop Raymond L. Jones of the Second Episcopal District A. M. E. Zion Church, Salisbury, will keynote the Ministers Conference.

The Ministers Banquet on Thursday evening will feature Marion A. Wright, Vice-President, Southern Regional Council, Danville Falls.

Dr. Edward J. Odum, Jr., National Church Secretary, New York City, will be special guest.

The convention organization will be held on Friday morning beginning at 10:30 A.M. The annual address of the President, Kelly M. Alexander, is one of the main features of the opening sessions of the convention. Also appearing on Friday morning will be the National Treasurer of the NAACP, Alfred Baker Lewis of New York City.

Friday afternoon will feature workshops on "Effective Branch Operations, Membership and Fund Raising" with Charles McLean, and "Developing Effective Youth Branch Committees" with Herbert L. Wright, National Youth Secretary.

Ruby Hurley will keynote the convention on Friday evening.

Saturday sessions will feature such outstanding personalities as John M. Brooks, National Voter Registration Director, Richmond Virginia, who will direct a workshop on "Legislation and Voter Registration." Herbert Hill, National Labor Secretary, will discuss "The Negro Wage Earner: Discrimination and Opportunity in Employment" and will also address a special Freedom Fund Dinner on Saturday evening.

Attorney C. O. Pearson, State Legal Chairman, will direct a workshop on the Legal Program of the NAACP. Special guest for this session will be Attorney Der-

WESLEY

SCHLESINGER

Distinguished Historians In NCC Event

A full program of activities showing historians Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. of Harvard, John Hope Franklin of Brooklyn College, and Charles H. Wesley of Central State College (Ohio) as featured speakers in an Oct. 12-14 meeting here was released this week by Dr. Joseph H. Taylor of North Carolina College.

The meeting at NCC will mark the 48th annual gathering of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, an organization founded in 1915 by Carter G. Woodson.

Schlesinger, who is slated for a banquet address on Friday evening, Oct. 13, is a special assistant to President John F. Kennedy.

Both Wesley and Franklin will be heard on the opening day, Thursday, October 12. Dr. Wesley, who is president of the sponsoring Association, will deliver the opening address at 11 a.m. "The Civil War Centennial and the Negro American," in the B. N. Duke Auditorium; and Franklin, chairman of the depart-

MARSHALL

NAACP Counsel Named To Seat On 2nd Circuit

HYANNIS PORT, Mass.—Thurgood Marshall, legal consul for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been chosen for a high federal judgeship by President Kennedy.

Marshall, who has argued the civil rights cases for the NAACP in court since 1938, was chosen Saturday for the U. S. 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in New York.

The appointment is expected to draw strong controversy and opposition with Southern Democrats. The Senate must confirm Marshall's nomination and it must first pass through the Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who has long been identified with the most adamant Southern foes of racial desegregation.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy would submit Marshall's name again on an interim basis. This step will be necessary for Marshall to serve on the federal bench

Mrs. Rose Aggrey Buried in Rites At Salisbury

SALISBURY —Funeral services for Mrs. Rose Douglas Aggrey, educator and religious leader, were scheduled to be held Thursday afternoon, September 28, at two o'clock here.

The Rt. Rev. W. J. Walls, senior bishop of the A.M.E.Z. Church, was to deliver the eulogy at the Soldier's Memorial A. M. E. Zion Church. The Rev. E. A. White was to preside.

Mrs. Aggrey died following a lengthy illness on Monday in Rowan Memorial hospital. She had been in declining health for some time. She was in the hospital two weeks prior to her death.

During her lifetime, Mrs. Aggrey was a leader in women's circles and in education. She was a former president of the Federation of Women's Clubs and served as treasurer of the North Carolina Teachers Association.

She was also active in affairs of the A. M. E. Zion Church and exerted a strong influence on student life at Livingstone College here.

A native of Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Aggrey was trained at Chestnut St. Academy, Shaw University, See MRS. AGGREY, 6-A

THE COLLEGE INN

Durham Landmark Renovated

The College Inn, a Durham landmark for generations of North Carolina grads and local residents, has taken on a new look.

Reopened last week after nearly two months renovations, the Inn is now the latest in student and adult entertainment.

First noticeable about the big change is its exterior, which now is of brick veneering with an all glass front, decorated with stone

Store Has Negro Clerk

Decision On Boycott Expected Soon

A six and one half month old boycott against Durham A and P Food Stores may be lifted this week, informed sources reported.

The action may be taken as a result of the hiring of a Negro cash register checker at one of the Durham stores.

Atty Floyd McKissick, advisor to the youth NAACP chapter which staged the boycott, said a meeting would probably be held prior to the week-end market period, to reach a decision on the boycott.

He said he would recommend lifting the boycott.

A result of an eight-month boycott of Durham stores which were said to practice unfair employment policies, was seen here this week as the A and P Food Stores quietly lowered racial bars in its employment and promoted a Negro employee to a position as a cashier.

Given the job as the first Negro checker in the history of the Durham A and P Chain was C. S. Hawley, 1219 Sedgefield Ave. Hawley had been employed with the national chain stores for ten years.

The move to promote Hawley will, in all probability, remove the A and P Stores from the boycott list which was drawn up in the early spring of this year after an unsuccessful attempt by several concerned groups to seek fair employment for Negroes.

Negro patrons heretofore had been asked not to shop at the A and P stores until their hiring policy was changed. The program was termed "Selective Buying Campaign."

Last weekend several persons reported to the TIMES that a Negro was working as cashier at the A and P branch at Mangum and Church Sts.

A check of the store revealed that Hawley had worked on the cash register the entire weekend and several days this week.

Hawley, who had worked at the Chapel Hill St. store for ten years, said he had no idea he was to be transferred to the checking job.

"I didn't know what they were going to do with me until I got here Friday," he said.

He added that he underwent a few hours training on the machine but already had some knowledge of its operation.

In addition to checking, his other duties will include stocking and other jobs designated by the store manager.

The Mangum St. store manager, George Woods, declined to make a statement on Hawley's promotion, but spoke thusly of his ability.

"He's a good man . . . as good as any I've seen yet."

Hawley is married to the former Miss Margaret Moore of Durham. They have one son, Smauel, 2.

A native of Person County, Hawley received his education at the Person County Training School. He is a member of Retail Clerks' Union No. 204 AFL-CIO.

ELDER STATESMAN

Carnes Buried In Wilmington

CARNES

WILMINGTON — Funeral services for Dr. George Downs Carnes, one of the state's most widely known citizens, were held here Monday afternoon at St. Stephens A.M.E. Church.

Dr. Carnes died at Community hospital here on Tuesday, September 20. He was 68.

The list of those who paid tribute to the church and fraternal leader read like a virtual who's who in the North Carolina African Methodist Church.

They included two bishops, the Rt. Rev. Madison Reid, presiding bishop of the second A. M. E. District; the Rt. Rev. Herbert Bell Shaw, presiding bishop of the third A.M.E. Zion District; Clark Brown, Grand Master of North Carolina Masons; Dr. Philip Cousins, president of Kittrell College; the Revs. Claude Stephens, G. W. Larkins, R. H. Green, and Clarence Walker, presiding elders of the Wilmington, Rocky Mount, Fayetteville and

Mr. T. Has Another Frustrating Day, Will Saturday Be The Same?

It's shameful, but true. Mr. T spent nearly three hours in the streets Saturday but could give away only $8. Completely exhausted, he returned to his quarters with pockets full of money he didn't even want.

This week, Mr. T. and his assistants took to the Pettigrew St. Alston Ave. McDougald Terrace area. With more than $50 to give away, he could find no jackpot winners. The best he could do was find a handful of TIMES readers who had their current papers handy.

The $1 winners were Hewitt Spencer, 504 S. Alston Ave.; Mrs. Lencia Langley, 14 B Dorothy Dr.; Mrs. Cecille Crumpler, 15 C Dorothy Dr.; Festus Harrington, 818 Plum St.; Mrs. Maude Harris, Miss Ira Durham, 608 Alston Ave.; Mrs. Loretta Hayes, 43-A Ridgeway Ave.; and Mrs. Louise Cherry, 809 Plum St.

Despite the disappointment of not being able to give away more money, Mr. T. was delighted to see so many Lucky Stickers pasted in the windows of the homes he visited.

He thinks that because the contest has taken to the city of Durham so well, and there are so many houses displaying stickers, he will, as of this week, stop at only the houses that display the Lucky Sticker. Too bad for you folks without stickers.

All you have to do to become a lucky winner is to clip the Lucky Sticker from the center of the contest ad appearing in this paper, place it in a conspicuous spot, buy a current CAROLINA TIMES, read it, and keep it handy and wait for
