Two Charlotte Clinics Integrate Their Facilities

CHARLOTTE — The fight waged by Dr. R. A. Hawkins, Charlotte dentist, paid off this week when two hospital outpatient clinics, previously restricted to white patients, were opened to all citizens of all races. On the same basis.

A team of investigators from the U. S. Public Health Service notified Memorial Hospital officials in its report that the hospital must provide service to Negroes as well as whites in the maternity and dental clinics if it is to qualify for federal funds.

Hospital officials had claimed that the restrictions to race in the clinics had been because of staff limitations, but the health service said that such limitations do not justify racial discrimination.

Dr. Hawkins had filed discrimination charges against the hospital which brought in the health service investigators.

On Monday, the hospital's board of managers adopted a resolution ordering that the two clinics be made available to all.

THE CORNERSTONE of our business is your confidence, and we make every effort to deserve that confidence by the completeness of our service and attention to your every wish.

John Rankin Dies From Hari-Kari Knife In Heart

STATESVILLE — Twenty-six year old John Esther Rankin of the Bradford's Crossroads community near Statesville is dead as a result of being stabbed in the heart with a Japanese hari-kari knife four and one inches long, Saturday night.

Being held in Iredell County jail on a charge of murder without privilege of bond is Miss Mary Belle Wasson, 24 of the Williams Grove community. According to investigating authorities, Miss Wasson said that Rankin had brought her home and then began beating her with his fists, and she stabbed him with the knife, but that she did not know where the knife came from or how she managed to pick it up.

The woman said that following the cutting, she got friends to take Rankin to Iredell Memorial Hospital where he died 25 minutes later. She then called the sheriff's office to report the altercation. Deputy Sheriff Overcash went
