YOUNG HERO — Mrs. Mary Poole Chestnut, secretary to the director of student nurses at Lincoln hospital, smiles as her son young Daryl Wayne playfully points toy pistol at photographer after his mother explained to the TIMES how her son called her on the telephone to report an emergency at the home last week. When the Chestnut's baby sister, Mrs. Cora Edwards, suffered a heart attack and fell in the hallway of the Chestnut home on Fayetteville road last Thursday, young Daryl, sensing something was amiss, went to the telephone, dialed "0" and told the long distance operator that "Miss Core" was on the floor and wouldn't get up, and that he wanted to speak to his mother. The operator, Miss Louise Knowles who works at the Southern Bell long distance facility in Durham, realized the youngster was trying to report a serious emergency, got his mother's name and the fact that she worked at Lincoln hospital from the boy and connected him with her at the hospital. When Mrs. Chestnut rushed home, she found her son in the house, Mrs. Edwards on the floor dead from a heart attack, and her seven months old daughter, Valerie, asleep in her bed.

Others Spent More Than Adam Powell

Former Rep. Carroll D. Kearns of Pennsylvania and a member of the House Education and Labor Committee reported expenses of more than $2,000 for a trip through seven European countries. This trip was made last year after Kearns failed to win nomination. The reported expenses of Kearns were revealed during the controversial discussion on the spending of $1,543 by Rep. Adam Powell of New York on a European trip made last summer with two women staff aides. Other facts revealed during the controversy were that most committee members and staff aides list only expenditures under the

Don't Adjust to Jim Crow Editor Of Louisville Paper Tells Students

Frank L. Stanley, Sr., editor-publisher of the Louisville (Ky.) Defender, urged North Carolina College students to "become maladjusted" with respect to problems of human society as he spoke at the college's weekly forum Monday. "I want you to acquire some of that 'Magnificent Madness' that Robert Patterson writes about when he says: 'Madness

Death Finishes Agony For Victim of Flames

CHAPEL HILL — Death ended almost a month of agony for young David Craig who was burned from his waist up in a fire which all but destroyed his family's home near here a month ago. Craig, 22, died in Memorial hospital on Monday after having spent nearly three weeks suffering from injuries received in the fire. Doctors reportedly amputated his hands last week in a last ditch effort to save the youth's life. But he died Monday.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held on Saturday at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Chatham County. The youth is survived by his mother and approximately 17 sisters and brothers.

Gas Chamber To Remain as N. C. Penalty

RALEIGH — The vote by the House Judiciary Committee 1 on Tuesday means that North Carolina will retain its gas chamber at Central Prison for at least two years more. The committee voted against a bill to replace the death penalty with life imprisonment. A measure to abolish capital punishment was defeated in 1961, after a debate on the house floor. It seems likely the proposal will be brought forward again in 1965. Sen. Charles Strong, Guilford Republican and a minister, sponsored the measure killed by the Senate committee. It would have removed the possibility of parole in all capital cases, including first offense.

Measure to Make A Crime of Illegitimacy Fails to Pass in State

RALEIGH — Sen. Lunsford Crew's plan making it a misdemeanor to give birth to, or father, two or more illegitimate children was defeated by a vote 26-18. Opponents generally agreed that ways should be sought to reduce illegitimacy and rejected the Halifax lawyer's plan. The vocal opposition was led by Sens. Richard G. Long of Person and Perry W. Martin of Northampton, who criticized the bill on legal and moral grounds. "A bad mother or a bad father is better than no mother or father at all," Sen. Martin argued. "An ill birth does not necessarily mean an ill destiny. This is a social and economic problem, not a penal problem." A special program has been prepared for a 4:00 p. m. Forum Hour, again featuring Attorney Mitchell. Music for this program will be directed by Miss Afrika Hayes, Music Instructor, North Carolina College. Attorney Mitchell will discuss registration, voting, and segregation in schools and public places. A native of Arkansas, Attorney Mitchell was educated in the public schools of Baltimore; University of Pennsylvania, (A. B.); (M. A.) University of Pennsylvania; Bachelor of Law, University of Maryland Law School, 1948 and admitted to practice law in the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and the U. S. Supreme Court. A militant champion of civil rights, in 1942 she directed a march of 2,000 citizens which resulted in the appointment of the Governor's Interracial Commission. See WOMAN, 6A

Randolph and Detective Sergeant Frank S. Randolph, both of Richmond, Virginia; one daughter, Mrs. Roberta R. DeMar of New York City, and several grandchildren. Failure of Police To Catch Man Remains Mystery

Durham's Negro community expressed varying reactions to reports of a wave of rapes committed against white women by a suspected Negro man.

The reactions have ranged all the way from outrage to skeptical disbelief. Perhaps the most common reaction has been one of frustrated bewilderment.

Durham Negroes are frankly puzzled over the failure of police to come up with any substantial clues in the case. At the same time they are becoming more frustrated daily as the "Negro" label is fastened more securely to phantom suspect while he remains at large and his real identity goes undisclosed.

The majority opinion in the Negro community would welcome the capture of the suspect so that the racial onus could be removed from the public mind.

With each new unsolved case, the daily press and other communications media are imbedding the image of a Negro rapist in the mind of the community. Durham Negroes feel.

According to reports, the rapist has struck twice in the past ten days, the latest being a bold, daylight assault on the wife of a Duke intern at her home.

The mood of the white community was not so easy to assess by the TIMES, but it is known that the latest series of reports has aroused considerable anger among whites.

There were reports that some whites had talked openly of "saving the state the trouble" of executing the suspect when caught.

The Durham police have become the target of expressed and unexpressed complaints by many whites residing in the Duke VA hospital area where many of the latest attacks have occurred. See RAPES, 6A

McCoy

Funeral Held For Victim of Durham Shooting

Funeral services were held in Durham on Monday for a 39 year old man who was shot to death late last week. He was Lacy Mills McCoy, of 809 Glenn St. McCoy died in Stanley on last Friday morning from a 22 calibre bullet wound in his chest. Two men were arrested by Durham police shortly after the shooting, one charged with the killing and the second held as a material witness. Police identified the man charged with the slaying as James Henry Savoid, 27, of 1205 Scout Drive. Savoid was booked for first degree murder. At the same time, Shelton Pettway, 16, of 210 West Enterprise St., was held as a material witness. Police quoted Savoid as saying that he fired the rifle, but only to "scare" McCoy. The shooting took place at approximately 10:50 p. m. on Thursday, March 7 in front of the home of Shirley Adams, 20, 308 East Enterprise Street, who told police McCoy had come to her home earlier to drive her and another woman somewhere.
