

March on Raleigh, Esquire Expose Cloud N.C. Racial Scene

TWO MORE BOMBS RATTLE BIRMINGHAM

HHS Homecoming

Janice Allen will reign as "Miss Homecoming" as Hillside high school's homecoming festivities this weekend. Her attendants are Jacqueline Brown and Cynthia Smith.

The three will be seen at half-time of the Hillside-Rocky Mount game at County Stadium Friday night.

VOLUME 40—No. 39

DURHAM, N.C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1963

RETURN REQUESTED

PRICE: 15 Cents

The Carolina Times

THE TRUTH UNBRIDLED

Statesville and Concord Hit Snags

DAYE GRABS LEAD IN CONTEST

PRESIDENTS, THREE — Newly elected Presidents of two institutions of higher learning in Durham, Dr. Douglas M. Knight of Duke (left) and Dr. Samuel P. Massie, of North Carolina College (right) were guests of honor of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company president A.

T. Spaulding (center) at a luncheon given by the Durham firm welcoming the two new presidents to Durham. Dr. Knight elected by Duke trustees last spring, officially assumed his new duties at the University with the opening of the new fall term. His counterpart, Dr. Massie, also began his new administration at North Carolina College at the beginning of this month. The North Carolina Mutual luncheon was just one of many honors extended the two new schools' presidents.

—Photo by Purefoy

NEW NCC PRESIDENT

Durham Chamber of Commerce Gives Luncheon for Dr. Massie

The Durham Chamber of Commerce staged a "welcome to Durham" luncheon for North Carolina College's newly elected president Dr. Samuel Proctor Massie Wednesday afternoon.

The affair was held at the Washington Duke Ballroom at the Jack Tar Hotel, and attracted some 110 guests, mostly civic and business leaders of the community.

The new president received several mementos from the Chamber dinner, including an invitation to the luncheon framed in silver.

The gift was presented to Dr. Massie by J. Wesley Lewis, presi-

Voters Oust Statesville Council Over Integration of Swimming Pools

From TIMES Dispatches Statesville voters in a special recall election last week turned out a city council which had approved integration of the city's swimming pool.

In another action on the racial front in North Carolina this week Mayor J. G. Cachen of Concord dissolved the town's newly formed bi-racial committee after new demonstrations broke out.

Observers of the North Carolina racial scene viewed the incidents as related reactions to recent surge by Negroes throughout the country and in the state on the segregation issue.

The Statesville election, which saw election of six new council members, was the result of wide spread opposition by townspersons to an action by the old council in approving a decision to desegregate the city's two swimming pools.

Opposition was led by the town's local daily newspaper. Opponents

Shelton Attacked

WASHINGTON — In a court fight between rival factions of the late Bishop S. C. Johnson's church, his successor Bishop Samuel McDowell Shelton was attacked as a "religious racketeer and a notorious homosexual."

The charges were made by Attorney General Lawson, representing a rival group which is being sued by Bishop Shelton to stop using the title and seal of the church.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.

The Rev. John W. S. Davis, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

The welcome by the Chamber of Commerce for Dr. Massie marked the first time a President of North Carolina College has received such an honor from the body.

At least this was the opinion of the chamber.

Official welcoming speeches were delivered by Mayor R. W. Wenzel Graback, for the city; R. Dillard Griffin, for the merchants association, and Dr. Alfonso Elder, retiring president of North Carolina College.