

CARNATION COOKING HINTS

by Mary Blake

HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR AND HER STAFF

Give ghosts and goblins a special treat this Halloween! Make inexpensive but delicious Creamy Caramel Apples. The rich, smooth caramel covering is made with Carnation Evaporated Milk, the milk that has twice the cream of ordinary milk. Always keep Carnation handy and use it for all your cooking needs.

CREAMY CARAMEL APPLES
(Makes 8 to 8 apples)

- 6 to 8 clean, dry Delicious or Jonathan apples
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup (small can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts

Stick wooden skewer into blossom end of each apple. Combine sugar, salt, corn syrup, butter and Carnation in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until syrup forms a firm ball in cold water (245°F. on candy thermometer). Add vanilla; stir. Dip apple into caramel mixture, turning until completely coated. Immediately roll bottom half of coated apple in chopped-nuts. Place on waxed paper to cool.

Note: If caramel mixture becomes too cool, place over low heat, stirring until desired consistency is reached.

NCC Gets Grant For Summer Science Institute

North Carolina College has been awarded $26,240 by the National Science Foundation to conduct a Summer Institute in Microbiology for College Teachers in 1965. Dr. Samuel P. Massie, president of the college, announced recently.

The five-week institute, scheduled for the period June 7-July 9, will be directed by Dr. Neil Hirschberg, professor of biology at the college. Massie said. Other members of the faculty will be Dr. James B. Evans, professor and head of the bacteriology section, North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina, Raleigh; Dr. Robert W. Wheat, assistant professor of biochemistry, Duke University Medical Center, Durham; and Dr. John Schwab and Dr. Harry Gooder, both associate professors of microbiology at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Designed to upgrade the teaching of microbiology, the institute will stress fields in which changes are occurring most rapidly—microbiology.

The NCC institute, one of 80 varied subject area programs approved by the National Science Foundation to support study of pertinent fields for college teachers, is the only one announced in microbiology.

According to the announcement by the NSF, the Durham institution is one of four North Carolina universities and colleges listed as receiving grants to offer in 1965 for teachers. It is one of two predominantly Negro colleges included on the list of recipients.

Senior Citizens of St. Titus Honor Three Members at October Meet

The October birthday party by the Senior Citizens of St. Titus Church honored three members whose birthdays came in that month; Mrs. Mary Simmons, Mrs. Lillie Thompson, and Mrs. Gertrude Winslow.

It was a happy party, the table was pretty with lighted candles, flowers and napkins that said to the honorees, "Happy Birthday." Mrs. Addie Williams contributed a cake which she had made and decorated with white and green icings and candles.

Mrs. Winslow also contributed a cake and peach and vanilla ice cream. Both cakes were truly professional home made cakes. Other refreshments were candy, fruit and as always, coffee and sank.

After refreshments, the group was entertained by a skit which Mrs. Ada Leach had composed. Mrs. Leach directed the skit and acted the principal role. Supporting actresses were Mrs. Lillian Buchanan, Mrs. Effie Cotton, Mrs. Flossie Goodloe and Mrs. Annie Lyons. It was real fun. Hidden talents among the Senior Citizens are coming to light.

Especially glad was everyone that Mrs. Winslow, who is recovering from a recent illness, could be present. During her absence from several meetings, she had been greatly missed.

Although Mrs. Thompson was unable to be present because of the indisposition of her husband, she was taken her birthday gift and some of all the refreshments, so that she and Mr. Thompson could celebrate together.

During the month the group welcomed two new members, Mrs. Lola Allen and Mrs. Geneva Burke. The lively spirits of both these ladies increase the total happiness of a happy group.
