anthropology at Harvard U. Weatherford's professional career began in 1934 when he became principal of Bladenboro (NC) Junior High School and Supervisor of County Recreation for Negroes.

From 1936 to 1939 he was director of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation at Bishop College, Marshal, Tex. He served in a similar capacity at St. Augustine's College, Raleigh (NC) during 1937-1945.

After serving as Supervisor of Municipal Recreation for Negroes in Raleigh from 1946-1947, Weatherford became a graduate assistant with teaching and research responsibilities in the College of Physical Education at Penn State.

He joined the NCC staff in 1948 and was appointed acting chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Recreation in 1951. He served as permanent since 1962.

Weatherford was married to the former Miss Rebecca Christmas of Durham. Mrs. Weatherford and the couple's 6 children survive at their Raleigh residence. Four sons and two daughters born to the family are: Allen Ericson Weatherford, III, 23; Thomas Garfield III, 15; Peter Michael Karpoitch, 11; Sequoyah Rhine-hard, 7; Cornelia Tonseler, 21; and Rebecca Christmas, II, 9.

out in one of the games, he said to me, "Tell them to quit giving me the ball all the time, it's embarrassing."

A giant billboard has been seen around San Francisco the last several months and in big red letters beneath the names of the Giants, 49ers and Warriors is the message that reads: "We Love Thee . . . All Three!"

Angry San Francisco Seals Hockey fans are up in arms as to why they were left off. Their questions lead to a simple, direct answer since Franklin Mieuli paid for the sign, owns the Warriors and holds stock in the Giants and 49ers.

"For my dough I love whom I please," Mieuli states. "If the Seals want to be loved, let them get their own sign."
