

Over 10,000 Scout Kits to Be Distributed

RALEIGH—All twelve councils of the Boy Scouts in North Carolina are 100 percent in distribution of 10,100 cub scout kits on "Truck Transportation" to all cub scout den mothers, pack masters and commissioners.

Governor Dan Moore, Scout Chairman of the 1966 "Break through for Youth" has received the "tons of kits" from J. T. Outlaw, executive vice president of the North Carolina Motor Carriers Association.

90,000 Cub Scouts in North Carolina will be studying "Transportation" as their recommended project during January, and the trucking industry is cooperating by providing the kits.

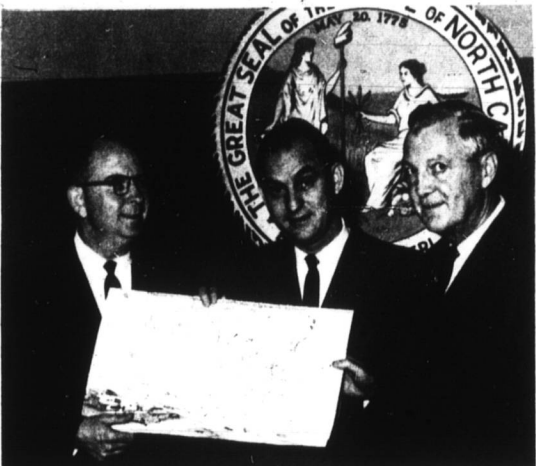

The North Carolina Motor Carriers Association and the American Trucking Association have alerted truck operators to the Cub Scout transportation project.

An outline describing what motor carriers can do to aid the Scouts has been distributed to the industry and ATA has printed the materials and booklets for the project.

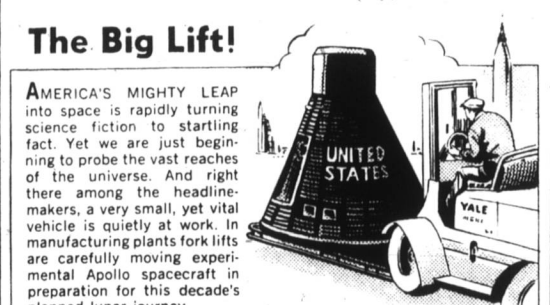

Motor carriers will host Cub Scout Packs to tour their terminal facilities and to see demonstrations of various types of trucks, trailers and material handling equipment.

After consultation with Scout officials, the ATA PR Dept. and the North Carolina Motor Carriers Assn. are making the following materials available: an Economic Unit outline which explains basic concepts of the American economic system using the trucking industry as an example; a large full color wall chart detailing the history of land transportation; and a booklet on how the trucking industry began and how trucks serve the economy. These are available from NCMCA on the basis of one kit per cub pack.

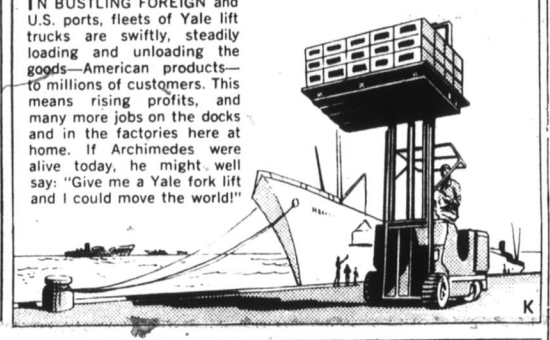

A small pamphlet defining some of the special and often amusing terms used in the industry entitled "Truck Drivers Dictionary" is being made available in quantity so that Den Mothers can provide one to each of the 90,000 Cub Scouts in our state.

MEANWHILE, ON EARTH... many U.S. plants are going super-modern with Yale's fork lifts. Industry is relying more and more on internal distribution by smooth, mechanized operations. This big lift is responsible for widespread economies in cost, time and for more effective use of productive manpower—streamlining the age-old problem of moving mountains—of materials.

IN BUSTLING FOREIGN and U.S. ports, fleets of Yale lift trucks are swiftly, steadily loading and unloading the goods—American products—to millions of customers. This means rising profits, and many more jobs on the docks and in the factories here at home. If Archimedes were alive today, he might well say: "Give me a Yale fork lift and I could move the world!"

CONCORD—Late arrivals of the game officials failed to slow down the Voorhees College Tigers as they romped to a 100-77 verdict over the Barber-Scotia College Sabers Thursday night in the Logan High School Gym.

Bright spot in the Sabers' defeat was the sparkling play of Charles Webb who pumped in 34 points to outdo Voorhees' vaunted John Mundy who manufactured 28 points for the winners.

Voorhees raced off to an early 8 to 0 lead, as if to augur a scoring drought for the locals. But then the Sabers came to life and pulled within two points of the Tigers to make it an 86 count. That was as close as Scotia got to the ultimate victors, however, who took a 53-35 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Poor performance at the foul line again proved the undoing of the Sabers, as they cashed

LONG DISTANCE HONOREE —Twenty-six year old Marian Elizabeth Wright, NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorney in Jackson, Miss., was named "one of the four most exciting girls" this week by editors of Mademoiselle Magazine. However, a courtroom appearance in behalf of a Negro father, beaten Christmas eve for allowing his daughter to attend integrated Mississippi classes, prevented her attendance. So, she talked long distance with Betsy Talbot Blackwell, editor-in-chief, former Metropolitan Opera Soprano Rise Stevens, center, and Gustav Henningburg, assistant to the president of the Legal Defense Fund.

Voorhees College Wins Over Barber-Scotia College Cagers

Poor performance at the foul line again proved the undoing of the Sabers, as they cashed

in on only 13 of their 30 charity tosses. Meanwhile, classy floorwork and deadeye shooting by Voorhees' Mundy and Theodore Chaplin pushed the Tigers to 47 field goals against 32 for the Sabers.

Hitting in double figures for the Scotia quint, besides Webb, were Joe Stone with 18 and Johnson Watson with 11 points. Chaplain's 23 points and John Lyles' 16 markers put them in double figures along with Mundy for Voorhees.

The next outing for the B-S five is set for January 15; when they host Durham Business College at the Logan Gym in an other home "th".
