MRS. ARBURN MORGAN

Miss Celestine Flintall Bride of Arburn Morgan of Dallas, Tex.

Wedding bells rang on February 26 for Miss Celestine Flintall and Arburn Morgan. The bride, a native of Durham and a former North Carolina College student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flintall. The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Morgan of Dallas, Texas and a former sergeant in the U.S. Army, recently received his discharge after returning from Viet Nam and four years of service.

The couple exchanged vows at the home of the bride, 620 Cecial Street, with the Rev. Gray Davis of Union Baptist Church performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a three-piece suit of white satin brocade highlighted with specks of gold. The slim, tapered skirt was topped by a cut-away jacket with three quarter length sleeves and a one button closing. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a small crown of crystal beads. She carried a white Bible covered with white carnations and streamers of ribbon.

The newlyweds plan to make their home in Boston, Mass.

NEW TAN HUSBAND; CAN SHE KEEP HER WHITE CHILDREN?

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—A March 25 hearing to determine the future of five white children, their mother and her new Negro husband, was secured in Federal District Court here this week by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.

Mrs. Francis Eilers Anderson wants her children returned to her new home. All five youngsters are presently being cared for in homes provided by the court pending outcome of the hearing.

Mrs. Anderson divorced Geo. Eilers petitioned the local circuit court for custody of the children on the sole ground that the new husband was a Negro.

Kentucky law declares marriage between a white and a Negro illegal and void.

Circuit Judge Lyndon B. Schmid ordered the children removed from their mother and issued an order saying "rearing these children in a racially mixed atmosphere will per se indoctrinate them with a psychology of inferiority."

Legal Defense Fund Attorney, James A. Crumlin, questioned a letter sent in January of 1965 by Judge Schmid, stated:

"Since the divorce, the mother has married of her race and the court feels the best interests of the children require that they be reared in a home other than the one maintained by the mother and her new husband.

The following months, Mrs.

Personally Yours
answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. Next week, I have to give an oral book report in English class. The book I read was great, but I'm nervous about talking in front of the class, especially the boys. What can I do?

A. Confidence is preparation—for your report and the way you look. You like the book and know what you want to say, so now is the time to organize your thoughts. Since your teacher probably suggested what to include in the report, write your comments using her outline as a guide. Rehearse it several times—aloud, please—and you're on the way to overcoming nervousness. For confidence in front of the class, particularly the boys, wear a favorite outfit, do your hair and make-up with extra care. Before you begin, take a deliberate pause, a deep breath, look at your audience, and smile! Just talk naturally and look pretty—and you'll reflect confidence and enthusiasm!

Q. All my cousins have birthdays the same month and frankly, I can't afford to buy them each a present. Is there anything I can make for them? They're ages four, seven and eight.

A. You can make each one of them a treasure box. Here's how: Just take a box and cover it inside and out with two colors of Marvalon adhesive covering. Cover the sides with one color and the ends with the other. Cut your cousins' names in contrasting Marvalon and press the letters to the cover. Fill the box with inexpensive toys and candy from the five and ten. You'll have fun—and become their favorite cousin too!

Q. I'm all confused. I thought long hair was in style, so I let mine grow. Then short hair seemed to be coming in, so I had it cut. But now, long hair looks like it's still "in." Was I wrong to have mine cut?

A. Definitely not! Both short and long hair are in style, and if yours is easier to handle while it's short, keep it that way, for a while, at least. Imagine how great it will be this summer! And if you do change your mind, you can always let it grow back again.

NOW IS THE TIME TO MAKE PLANS FOR CONVENTIONS; SAVE 20%

As convention time means most organizations local chapters are making plans to attend the National Convention—Fly together in a group and save 20%.

Fly together in a group of 25 or more and save 20% with American Airlines Group Fares—the friendly, economical way to travel!

Now you can get up and go, see and do things you've always wanted to—the friendly, economical way with American Airlines Group Fares.

For now you can enjoy the speed and comfort of Jet travel to many of America's leading cities, at fares that are a big 20% less than regular round trip air coach fares.

Yet despite this substantial cut in travel cost, no corners are cut in service, comfort, convenience. You fly aboard Astrojets and the other superb planes serving American's regular routes and regular schedules. You receive the same meals, baggage allowance and friendly service that have made American's Royal Coachman service popular with millions of other travelers. You go anytime, return anytime.

And there are really once a few requirements you must meet to be eligible for this travel bargain on American. Most important of them—and really the nicest—is that you must belong to and travel with a bona fide, honest-to-goodness "group" of people. Group Fares are not for hastily assembled bands of strangers, gotten together to take advantage of a "deal" . . . but for people who are already members of a club, association, be it business or

Jeh. Witnesses Tarboro Meet Is Successful

TARBORO — Very interesting! Highly educational! A great spiritual blessing! These were some of the expressions of joy and gratitude heard from the hundreds of delegates who attended the circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses held here at the W. A. Patillo High School last week-end.

There were 343 in attendance at the opening session Friday evening, and for the Saturday evening session 476 were present. Also on Saturday, 8 new Witnesses were baptized.

Both Saturday and Sunday mornings were devoted to the house-to-house preaching of God's Kingdom. The Witnesses were offering copies of the Watchtower and Awake magazines, and also obtaining subscriptions. On Sunday at 3:00 p.m., an audience of 661 heard C. G. Thompson, district supervisor, deliver the convention's keynote address: "Does God Have Influence In This Twentieth Century?"

Speaking of twentieth century mankind in general, Thompson said: "In this twentieth century God has been shoved into the background and youth and older persons have been influenced to conform to low moral standards, be one of the crowd. It is Satan the Devil who tries to get mankind to think that God has no influence today. But the work of Jehovah's Witnesses today in 197 different lands clearly shows God's influence in this twentieth century. Because Jehovah's Witnesses practice true worship at any cost, governments, in many lands edged on by Satanic power, try to hinder their preaching work."

Costume Suits Wing Into Spring

A fashion that is as important to Spring as the swallow is the light-weight costume suit. It has the total, finished look that denotes meticulous fashion.

This elegant three-piece suit has a slightly shaped, jewel-buttoned jacket bloused and lined with pure silk paisley. The easy skirt has jaunty pockets. It has a fine, distinctive look because it is fashioned in pure worsted wool. To assure you of the best, rely on "The American Way With Wool".

National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry selects this costume for its outstanding qualities of wearability and flattery. It comes in tan, aqua and pink. Sizes 8-16. Sells for about $135. at a fine store near you.
