Atlanta Businessmen Get Blunt Warning From SCLC Pres.

Dr. V. Henderson To Deliver NCC Founder's Day Address

Noted Educator Slated for NCC Convocation November 3

Dr. Vivian W. Henderson, president of Clark College, Atlanta, Ga., will deliver the principal address at North Carolina College's 19th annual Founder's Day Convocation Thursday, November 3.

The convocation, to be held in the college's B. N. Duke Auditorium beginning at 11 a. m., honors the memory of the late Dr. James Edward Shepard, who founded the institution in 1910 and was its president until his death in 1947.

Henderson, a native of Bristol, Tennessee, is a graduate of the Slater High School, Bristol. Holder of the B.S.C. degree from North Carolina College, with a major in business administration and economics, he earned the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the State University of Iowa in economics, receiving the doctorate in 1952.

His experiences include positions as a teacher of economics at Prarie View A. and M. College, North Carolina College, and Fisk University, where he was professor and chairman of the Department of Economics and Business Administration from 1952 to 1965. He was a visiting professor at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, from 1962-64. In 1965, he accepted the presidency of Clark College.

At Fisk, Dr. Henderson served as director of the summer session from 1958 to 1963. See HENDERSON 3A

Fayetteville To Host General Baptist Convention Oct. 30

GBSC Consists Of More Than 330,000 Strong

FAYETTEVILLE — All roads lead to Fayetteville for the pastors and messengers of the General Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, Inc. The Annual Session of the GBSC and the Laymen's League will meet at the First Baptist Church, Fayetteville, C. R. Edwards, host pastor, October 31 through November 3.

The general theme of the Convention will be: "The Church's Ministry in a New Dimension." Sermons and addresses in keeping with the theme will be delivered.

There will be reports from the General Board, the Executive Committee and other officials.

Addresses will be given concerning the Convention's four objectives: The Central Orphanage, State Missions, Foreign Missions and Shaw University.

On Wednesday evening, November 2, the featured sermon will be given by Raymond Harvey, pastor of Greenwood Baptist Church, Tuskegee, Alabama. Music will be furnished by the Shaw University Choral Society, under the direction of Hubert Walters. Thursday's featured address will be given by Dr. Samuel Proctor of the U. S. Institute for Service to Educators, Washington, D. C.

The GBSC of North Carolina is composed of more than three hundred and thirty thousand Baptists. J. W. White, Asheville, is the President of the Convention. O. L. Sherrill, Raleigh, is the Executive.

MISS QUEEN ELIZABETH McLEAN

Red Springs Girl to be Crowned "Miss N. C. College" Nov. 11

Miss Queen Elizabeth McLean, a native of Red Springs, will be crowned Miss North Carolina College on Friday, November 11.

Samuel Thomas, president of the Student Government Association, and Floyd W. Hayes, III, vice-president, will be inaugurated at the same time.

A reception for Miss McLean is also part of the program.

The ceremonies, scheduled for the college's R. L. McDougald Gymnasium, begin at 7:15 p. m.

Miss McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McLean of 213 Baldwin Avenue, Red Springs, is a senior sociology major with a minor in English. She plans to be a high school English teacher or a social worker after graduation.

The campus queen is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, the English Club, and her dormitory's social committee.

Group Stages Fund Drive to Aid Brooke

A group of North Carolinians, headed by Alexander Barnes, veteran newspaperman, launched a fund raising campaign here this week to aid Edward W. Brooke, Attorney-General for the State of Mass., to win a seat in the United States Senate. Should Brooke be elected he will be the first Negro to serve in the top law-making body since the turn of the century.

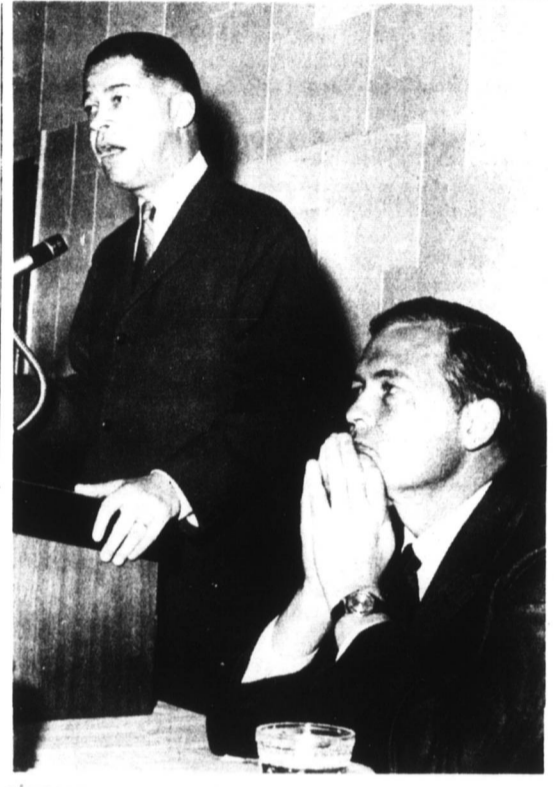

Brooke has made an outstanding record as a statesman. He is running for the seat vacated by Leverette Saltonstall. The committee is known as "North Carolinians for the Election of Edward W. Brooke to the U. S. Senate."

Other members of the committee include A. E. Harrison, Cicero Green, Linwood Tharlington and Mrs. Lucinda Harris of Durham; A. J. Turner and A. E. Brown, Raleigh; Rev. R. C. Sharpe and Walter Hoover, High Point; Sam Johnston, Greensboro; Attorney J. L. Lassiter, Winston-Salem; Joseph Pittman, Rocky Mount; Rev. C. M. Felton, Elizabeth City; Rev. F. L. Tyson, Norwood; Prof. Isaac H. Miller, Sr., Salisbury and Pete Woods, B. d. in.

Persons desirous of making a contribution are asked to make the check to the N. C. Ed Brooke Committee and send same to Cicero Green, P. O. Box 165, Durham, N. C. 27702. All monies collected will be sent to the Ed Brooke Committee, Boston, Mass.

Believe in your goods and your customers will believe in them.

To pretend that you don't care is fallacious if you are less than a hundred years old and of the female sex.

King Tells Business Leaders They Must Help Meet Need

ATLANTA, Ga. — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. last Thursday told more than 400 white people from Atlanta's business world — men who have money and control money — that the American Negro desperately needs money, too.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference president warned that American business leaders must help meet this need. He called for them to use their great power and influence to obtain a national guarantee of at least $4,000 a year in income for every poor family.

Looking into a sea of white faces at a packed downtown hotel banquet room, Dr. King revealed "two different Americas" to his well-fed, well-dressed, prosperous audience.

He told members and guests of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce that they live "in one America. This America is invested with enrapturing beauty. It is an America flowing with the milk of prosperity and the honey of opportunity."

"ANOTHER AMERICA
 "But there is another America," Dr. King said. "This other America has a daily ugliness about it that makes for endless despair. This America is inhabited by the defeated, the bruised, the battered and the scared. It is an America invested with enrapturing beauty. It is an America flowing with the milk of prosperity and the honey of opportunity."

Pres. Johnson Names Negro To Top Post In World Bank

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Lyndon B. Johnson made history again last week in naming Dr. Emmett J. Rice, 46, of the Treasury Department to the post of U. S. Alternate-Executive Director of the World Bank. The appointment was announced Monday at the White House.

Dr. Rice who has a Ph.D. from the University of California and is a native of Florence, South Carolina, is the third Negro to be named by President Johnson to a financial post of national and international importance. Earlier the President appointed Hobart Taylor, Jr. as Director of the Export-Import Bank and last year named Andrew F. Brimmer, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

President Johnson upon the recommendation of Secretary of Treasury Henry Fowler made the new appointment on the eve of his departure to the Far East. Since June 1964 Dr. Rice has been serving as Acting Director, Office of Developing Nations, in the Office of the Assistant Secretary for International Affairs in the Treasury Department.

Dr. Rice brings to his new post great experience in fiscal matters at home and abroad. From 1962 to 1964, he worked as research adviser to the Central Bank of Nigeria where he supervised 36 members and advised the Governors of the Bank on matters of monetary and financial policy. From 1960 to 1962, Dr. Rice served as

Joint Baptist Meet to be Held In Chapel Hill

CHAPEL HILL—A joint meeting of three Baptist Associations will be held on November 3, at 7:00, p. m. in the University Baptist Church of Chapel Hill. Sponsored by the East Cedar Grove, New Hope and Yates Baptist Associations the conference will focus on the theme, "A Church's Mission and the Problems of Poverty."

The program will include two major addresses by Dr. Samuel D. Proctor and Claude U. Broach. Dr. Proctor is the former President of A. and T. College in Greensboro and has been associated with the Peace Corps and the Office of Economic Opportunity. He is presently with the Institute for Services for Education in Washington. Dr. Broach has been the Senior Minister of the St. John's Baptist Church of Charlotte, since 1944. He is a member of the Mayor's Committee on Human Relations in Charlotte.

In addition to the two addresses there will be a series of small group discussions for the conference participants on the theme. The group discussion will be held at 8:00 p. m. See CONFERENCE 2A
