BAHA'IS ATTEND STATE MEETING IN GREENSBORO SUNDAY, NOV. 6

The Baha'is of Durham met with those from over the state at City Hall Club in Greensboro on Sunday, November 6 for the annual state convention. Simultaneously, in the other states of the Union and in Puerto Rico, Baha'is convened to elect delegates to represent their states at the annual national convention of the Faith in Wilmette, Illinois in April 1967.

Regional conventions were also held in other countries and territories where Baha'is reside. Latest statistics indicate that these areas include 124 independent countries and 181 territories and islands, totaling 305 countries. The delegates and others attending the conventions represented all the various races and backgrounds, including American Indians, aborigines of Australia and Japan, and others, and those of Christian, Moslem, Zoroastrian, Buddhist, and Jewish religious heritages.

Discussions at the meetings concerned activities of the Faith in its efforts to promote the recognition of the concept of the unity of the human race, the call for the unity of nations into a world commonwealth, and the unity of religions in the purpose of advancing concord and world peace.

86th Annual Session Central N. C. Conference Closes

LAURINBURG— The 86th annual session of the Central North Carolina Conference, A. M. E. Zion Church, presided over by the Rt. Rev. W. A. Stewart, closed here Sunday afternoon, with the reading of appointments, after a six-day meet. The Conference was held in Franklin Chapel Church, Rev. T. H. Murphy pastor.

One of the highlights of the meet was the retirement of Rev. T. J. Young from active service after 50 years as a pastor and presiding elder. He was the presiding elder of the Raleigh District at the time of retirement. The Rev. Mr. Young began pastoring in 1917 and served many of the churches in the Conference. He served the Raleigh District from 1940 to 1954. He supervised the work of the Laurinburg District 1954 to 1960 and thence back to the Raleigh District in 1960. The Rev. T. L. Parson also retired.

The veteran minister was born in Southampton County, Va. and received his education in Edenton and at St. Augustine's College. He resides in Franklinton with his wife, the former Eva Beacon. He has represented the Central Conference and the denomination on local, state and national levels.

The Conference theme, "New Dimensions of Church Loyalty" was keynoteed by Bishop Stewart with emphasis on evangelism. The prelate was mindful of the need of a more dynamic program for that phase of religious life. "Evangelism is not the only business of the church but it is the first business and what Jesus Christ made primary His church dare not make secondary. Evangelism is not an elective. It is a divine imperative. There is no alternative," said Bishop Stewart.

Saturday was "Youth Day" and the youth assembled at the Washington Park School spent most of the day discussing the church's program for youth. Panel leaders and discussants set up guidelines which they felt would chart the proper course to a better life. Miss Jacqueline McLaughlin, Fayetteville District, was the winner of the "Bride's Contest," conducted by the Layman's Association and received a gold cup, presented by Bishop Stewart.

Rev. Eddie Henry Beebe, Fayetteville, was appointed presiding elder of the Raleigh District, to succeed Rev. Young.

Open house will be observed throughout each school day during the entire week of November 6-12.

Miss R. B. Grissom is committee chairman. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our friends, and neighbors for kindness, thoughtfulness and contributions during the sickness and death of our beloved one. Words can not express our thanks and appreciation.

THE TRICE FAMILY

For the Brunch Bunch
by Betty Crocker

Something easy — something different — something as delicious as it is good to look at. For example, Start with Autumn Fruit Cups: diced apples and melon balls, sprinkled with shredded toasted coconut. Then bring on the gourmet Buffet Eggs and the spectacular French Breakfast Puffs (recipes below). Lots of butter, scads of coffee and/or cocoa. Prettiest linens, nicest silverware, of course. For the centerpiece, more fall fruits. All kinds, arranged with abundance in a straw basket. And that's it! Highly entertaining brunch for guests or family. Simple enough that you, too, can be a full-time member of the leisurely brunch bunch.

|---|---|
| BUFFET EGGS | FRENCH BREAKFAST PUFFS |
| 3 tablespoons butter | 2 cups Bisquick |
| 1/4 cup finely chopped green onion tops | 1/4 cup sugar |
| 9 EGGS | 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg |
| 4 ounces (about 1 1/2 cups) dried beef, cut into small strips | 2 tablespoons soft butter or shortening |
| 1 cup creamed or dry cottage cheese | 3/4 cup milk |
| | 1 egg |
| | 1/2 cup butter, melted |
| | 3/4 cup sugar |
| | 1 teaspoon cinnamon |

Melt butter in large skillet. Add onion tops and cook until tender. Beat eggs thoroughly; blend in dried beef and cottage cheese. Add egg mixture to onion and cook like scrambled eggs. 6 servings. (Try this one for supper, too. With, say, hot corn bread, salad greens and fresh fruit for dessert.)

Heat oven to 400°. Grease 12 medium muffin cups. Mix Bisquick, 1/4 cup sugar, the nutmeg, 2 tablespoons butter, the milk and egg; beat vigorously with spoon 1/2 minute. Fill muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake 15 minutes. Immediately roll in melted butter, then in mixture of 3/4 cup sugar and the cinnamon. Serve hot. Makes 12 medium muffins. (To make 3 dozen small puffs, fill well-greased small muffin cups 3/4 full.) And get set to dazzle your guests!
