In moving against Rep. Pow ell, they rejected the advice of Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass. Rep. McCormack had suggested a plan under which Rep. Powell would have been temporarily suspended from his chairmanship while charges against him were investigated by a House Committee.

On Tuesday the very muchpublicized Mr. Powell was denied his seat in the House at the opening session of the 90th Congress amid protests of hundreds of his Harlem constituents demonstrating on the Capitol steps.

The Negro congressman-elect was ordered to stand aside when House members adopted the stronger of two motions—this one from the Republicans —which would keep Powell on -which would keep Powell on the payroll but not allow him to vote while a special committee investigates his "right" to take his seat.
