

Strawberries Top Creamy Farina Pudding

What do you expect of a family dessert? Probably, that it be easy to make, appealing in flavor, and good for everyone from baby to grandma!

Farina, molded with gelatin and vanilla pudding mix, plus egg and whipped cream is a sophisticated creamy custard. Its gentle flavor is set off with sliced strawberries, but it could as well be topped with hot fudge or thick caramel sauce. If you have farina for breakfast, by all means, prepare an extra batch for this nourishing dessert. Breakfast cereals, like farina, are nutritional bargains and excellent for recipe ingredient use.

Strawberry Farina Mold

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin                            | 1 tablespoon vanilla  |
| 1/2 cup cold water  | 2 teaspoons grated orange rind  |
| 1 package (3/4 ounce) vanilla pudding and pie filling mix (not instant) | 1 envelope (2 ounce) whipped dessert topping mix  |
| 2 cups milk   | 3 cups sweetened, sliced fresh strawberries or 2 packages (10 ounce) frozen strawberries, defrosted |
| 1/2 cup sugar   |   |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt   |   |
| 1/2 cup uncooked farina, cooked as directed on package                  |   |

Soften gelatin in water. Combine pudding mix and 1 1/2 cups milk; cook as directed on package label. Add softened gelatin, sugar, and salt; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in cooked farina, vanilla, and orange rind. Cool until very thick, stirring frequently. Combine topping mix and remaining 1/2 cup cold milk; whip as directed on package label. Fold whipped topping into cereal mixture. Pour into 6-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; serve with fresh or defrosted frozen strawberries. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Poverty War To Be Stepped Up Says HHH

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The War on Poverty will be "stepped up" not cut back," Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said.

In a speech before the West Virginia AFL-CIO Legislature Conference in Charleston, W. Va., the Vice President said "The sums allotted to the total attack upon poverty in the President's new budget add up to over 25 billion dollars—an increase of 3 billion dollars over last year."

The Vice President pointed to several steps being taken to expand and intensify the War on Poverty. Mr. Humphrey said, "In addition to the three thousand full-time VISTA 'associates'—people who will give part-time service in their communities."

"We have learned, for example, that the effects of the Head Start program—impressive as they seem at first—tend to fade away in the first few months of regular school. So, in order to maintain the momentum gained in Head Start, we are initiating a Head Start Follow Through Program in the primary grades."

"For millions in poverty, of course, there is only one practical remedy—more money," the Vice President stated.

"These are the aged, the disabled, the families with young children and no breadwinner—people who literally are unable to support themselves."

"To meet this need, the President is urging a substantial across-the-board boost of Social Security benefits, and the extension of Medicare to the 1.3 million permanently and totally disabled Americans under 65."

The Vice President added, "Looking ahead, the President is appointing a commission of leading citizens to look into possible means for assuring every American a way out of poverty."

N.C. Attorney General Picks New Assistant

RALEIGH — Effective March 1, North Carolina will have a new assistant attorney general. He is Robert L. Gunn, and he succeeds deputy attorney general Peyton B. Abbott who resigned Feb. 18.

The announcement came Monday from Attorney General Wade Bruton.

The new appointee is a native of Milry, Ala. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina school of business administration and school of law. He was a member of the Institute of Government at UNC and served as assistant professor of public law and government until October 1965. He then joined the N.C. Department of Revenue as departmental attorney.

Gunn is a member of the N.C. Bar Association and served as a member of the governor's law and order committee in 1966. He holds the rank of captain in the U.S. Army Reserve.

His salary will be fixed later by the governor as required by state law.

CAR CATCHERS AT WORK

Nemesis of the head-on collision on four-lane highways is the resilient median barrier which protects motorists by keeping vehicles in one traffic lane from transgressing into the opposing lane.

In Chattanooga, Tennessee, the steel guard rail prevented a car on Interstate 124 from crossing into the opposite lane.

A restraining median barrier on Cleveland's Lakeland Freeway also prevented a possible head-on collision.

Winter's Peaches

by Betty Crocker

Take a can of peaches . . . add a dash of imagination . . . and just think how you can brighten up winter menus. Some snowy morning, place a sunny peach half, round side up, over the children's dry cereal; add a face with raisin eyes, maraschino cherry nose, apple slice for mouth. To perk up winter salads, combine sliced peaches with gelatin or cottage cheese or sour cream. As garnish for meat—try spiced peaches with ham or chicken. Or with fish—broiled peach halves, each with a teaspoon of chopped chutney in the center. And for dessert, light the oven and try one of my peach puddings below. Or, in a hurry? Do a Peach Melba on the double.

- PEACH CRUMB PUDDING
- 2 cups Bisquick
  - 2 tablespoons brown sugar
  - 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
  - 1 egg
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 can (1 pound) peach slices, drained
  - Crumb Topping (below)
  - Whipped Cream

Heat oven to 400°. Grease pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix Bisquick, brown sugar, butter, egg and milk. Beat vigorously 1/2 minute. Spread dough in prepared pan; arrange peach slices over dough. Sprinkle Crumb Topping over peaches. Bake 35 minutes. Serve warm or cold topped with whipped cream.

Crumb Topping: Mix 1/2 cup Bisquick, 1/4 cup brown sugar (packed), 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons firm butter or margarine until crumbly.

- PEACH CRISPS
- 4 canned peach halves
  - 2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
  - 1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons grated orange peel
  - 1/2 teaspoon allspice
  - 4 walnut halves

Heat oven to 350°. Place peach halves cut side up in baking dish. Mix chopped nuts, sugar peel and allspice; sprinkle over peaches. Bake 20 minutes. Garnish with walnut halves. 2 servings.

For a "quickie" Peach Melba, place a peach half on a mound of vanilla ice cream in sherbet dish. Top with thawed frozen raspberries . . . Amazing, isn't it, what you and a can of peaches can do!

There is someone your telephone company wants you to hang up on.

Fast.

He's the annoyance caller.

He uses the telephone as an instrument of terror or the agent of intrusive sales pitches.

But of all the annoyance calls, it is the abusive call (obscene, harassing, or threatening) which is the most serious invasion of privacy.

That's why this matter is of serious concern to us. We want our customers to enjoy their telephones. So we're doing everything possible to help those whose lives are being made miserable by these calls. And you can do your part.

Here's how: hang up at the first obscene word, or if the caller doesn't say anything or doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction. Hanging up and refusing to play their game becomes all the more important when you understand the type of person who makes these calls. They simply hide at the end of a telephone line. While these people are rarely dangerous, their calls can be very disturbing.

If the caller persists, call your General Telephone Business Office. We are working closely with police officials and other authorities to curb annoyance calls. We want to do everything in our power to protect your right to privacy. Your cooperation will help.
