husband Edwin Horne, D.D.S., with their two children in Englewood. Dr. Horne is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and has his office in New York City.

The third daughter, Barbara, completing her secondary education at Roselle High, with honors, then matriculated at Howard University from which she was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Subsequently, she attended Rutgers, and Columbia University from which she received a Masters degree in Library Science. Barbara, the wife of George E. Riley, Ph.D. in Biochemistry, a professor at Atlanta University, is an employee of the University Library. They own their new home in Atlanta, Georgia, where their three children attend an integrated day school and an integrated church.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE—

These attractive teen-agers are representative of nineteen New York City high school graduates who, on April 7, completed a 36-week program of secretarial career training at college level, conducted by New York University and sponsored by Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Their candidacy for private office jobs was, so to speak, a "landslide" success. All nineteen, including (from left above) Miss Carmen Fuentes and Miss La Verne Williams, already are working for Jersey Standard or Manhattan-based affiliates of the world's largest oil company. The young women, all academic students recommended by their teachers in public and parochial schools of New York City, attended N.Y.U. for 24 weeks on Esso scholarships in order to acquire from professional experts the basic skills, knowledge and attitudes essential for secretarial careers. They next held work assignments with Esso-affiliated companies in New York, receiving full pay in each case, but with the opportunity to perfect further any needed skills by continuing to study at NYU three afternoons a week for another twelve weeks. Only academic graduates of New York City high schools are eligible for the program—an experiment in preparing talented young women for work in business and industry, although their previous schooling had been limited to academic courses. Last month's group of graduates was the third class in the highly successful program, which was inaugurated in 1964.

A Review of the Life of New Jersey's "Mother of the Year"

The reader should learn briefly of the numerous activities in which the little woman gave of herself unstintingly:

1. A member of the NAACP—in college—then a member of Roselle chapter in 1930, became a life member in 1967.
2. She was initiated 1920 into the Alpha Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Washington, D. C. and became a charter member of Beta Alpha Omega Chapter, Newark, 1934. She has subsequently served as secretary and president of this organization of college women, whose purpose is to encourage its members to continue educational improvement, to help motivate youth for further education and to assist financially.

1930—She has been a charter member of the N. J. branch of the National Association of College Women. Olive has been a member of the North Jersey Branch of the Howard University Alumni since 1928.

She has been a member of the National Federation of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc.

1945-48—She served on the Board of the YWCA Elizabeth from 1946 to 1952 and has been a member of the Brotherhood Committee for 20 years. While serving on the Board, as a Public Affairs Committee Project, she entertained in her home weekend guests who were students from Ecuador and Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Polk was appointed to the Roselle Recreation Committee by Mr. Pittman, then Mayor of Roselle.

1945-53—She was appointed to the county group of the N. J. DAD by the late Dr. Joseph Bustard, State Director of DAD under the State Department of Education.

1950-56—She served on the Union County Board of the Family and Children's Society. 1960-67—Became a charter member of the Roselle League of Women Voters.

1961-67—She became a member of the Union County Chapter of the United Nations.

She became a member of the Board of Directors of the N. J. Committee Against Discrimination in Housing.

1944-64—She was a member of the Board of Directors—Urban League. She received a citation for 20 years of valuable service and dedication.

1966-69—Eastern Union County Reapportionment.

It was Olive's ambition following college graduation, to prepare for a professional career in social work, so it has been in character that she has given so much in time, energy, finances in a voluntary way. Notwithstanding the four babies, which were born in the space of seven years, were given personal care by their mother. Aside from one incident in which the little "tomboy" girl fell out a window breaking her leg, there were no serious illness or injuries of the children. Each girl attended Sunday School; all were taken to places of educational interest like the museum and art galleries. The youngest little girl, Josephine, early showed signs of unusual artistic talent and many of her portrait and landscape paintings and drawings are considered home treasures. The accomplishments of the four daughters, now 42, 40, 38 and 37 years respectively, are indicative of the inspiration and guidance which they received from their mother and father. The following will sketch briefly their careers, marriages and families.

Carolyn, the oldest daughter, having finished Roselle High School with honors was graduated A.B. from Howard U. in 1946. Later, she received a degree in Library Science from Simmons College. She served in the Newark Library and 16th Corps Library in Japan. She married Henry Pryor (former football star from Rutgers) who now teaches in the Roselle in the Roselle High School and who is a Colonel in the U. S. Reserve Forces. They reside in their own home in Cranford with their four children.

Gene-Ann, the second child, after completing Roselle High School with honors—was graduated with B.S. from Oberlin College. Later she was graduated from the Women's Medical College, Philadelphia, served internship in Sydenham Hospital. She is now an instructor in Pediatrics at Columbia University and Harlem Hospital Medical Center. She is attending Physician at Englewood Hospital and School physician in Englewood Public Schools. Dr. Gene-Ann Polk is a Diplomate in the National Board of Medical Examiners and is a Fellow of American Academy of Pediatrics. She lives with her

This biographical sketch of Olive Bond Polk is told in part. There are many facts, small details of worthlessness not mentioned. She is adored by her ten grandchildren, cherished by her husband and children, respected and admired by all who know her. There are strong inter-family ties among the "Bond and Polk" families. Her people are her people and his people are her people and so with the families of their daughters.

It is the opinion of this writer that Olive's spirit of Every Day Brotherhood rubs off on all with whom she comes in contact and this is the reason for her happiness and success at home and abroad.

A Message From Walter Biggs To The Carolina Times Readers About This Saturday's Election

I realize that the Negro Affairs Committee is not supporting me in the Durham City Elections this Saturday and therefore I will not receive many votes from you.

Nevertheless, if I should win, I assure you I will work just as hard as ever to help build a better Durham for everyone.

I ran for the City Council 20 years ago, largely because of a desire to promote better housing for the citizens of Durham. Through the efforts of a committee on which I served, Durham adopted a code to improve sub-standard housing in our city. Following my election to the Council, I served 15 years during a 16-year period. I was Mayor Pro-Tem for six of these years.

After being off the Council for a period of four years, I would like to return. I feel that I can add a little something in developing an orderly planned community for your family and for mine and for young generation now coming on. I ask for your help and vote.

Sincerely,
WALTER A. BIGGS
