Albany State Rams Vying for Grid Prestige in Coming Season

ALBANY, Ga.—The roar of the Ram will finally be heard when the 1967 football season for Albany State College gets underway on September 23 against Miles College at Birmingham, Ala.

Vying for national recognition among the nation's small college grid powers, the Rams, with a veteran squad returning intact, will be heard through the roughest nine-game schedule in the school's history.

Main causes for big noises in the Southwest Georgia area are a vaunted passing offense and the nucleus of twenty lettermen from the first two teams returning for the '67 grid wars.

Quarterback Allen Pounsel returns for his junior campaign, which should be his best yet. His receivers, the equal of any in small college ranks, will be headed by the Rams' best bet in its football annals for All-American honors, elusive and slick Charley Lawrence, hailed in the "pecan plains" of Georgia as the "Tampa express." Lawrence, a 6-1, 190-pound-senior, runs from the split end position.

On the opposite side, just as devastating and perhaps a step faster, is little Chuck Henry, manning the flanker back post. Holding down the strong side of the forward wall at tight end will be Chris Roulhac, the 6-5, 215-pound "strongman," who edged out David Welles as a regular last season. Welles returns to the fold also for another tussle between the two for the regular berth on the '67 eleven.

40,464 See Jenkins Stop Reds on 3 Hits

CHICAGO — The amazing Chicago Cubs rode the three-hit pitching of Ferguson Jenkins into a tie for first place in the National League Sunday with a 4-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

A standing room only crowd of 40,464, largest in years to watch a baseball game in Wrigley Field, saw Jenkins also slam a double and a triple to ease the way to his 11th victory against five losses.

The triumph was the sixth straight for the Cubs and their 13th in 14 games, moving them into a tie with St. Louis, which split a doubleheader with New York.

It was the first time since June 7, 1963, the Cubs were in first place. They finished last in 1966 and have not finished in the first division since 1946.

The first hit off Jenkins, an All-Star selection, was Vada Pinson's sixth homer leading off the fourth inning. Art Shamsky followed with a single, and Lee May got the other hit in the eighth.

Randy Hundley doubled in one Chicago run in the second, and hits by Ron Santo, Lee Thomas

In Tire Tests... Racing Drivers Pick Rayon Over Nylon

Johnson Yarborough Petty Yarborough Allison

Professional racing drivers in standard cars thread through series of lane changing maneuvers in tests comparing handling performance and stability of rayon and nylon cord tires.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — The green station wagon pulled off the track and into the pits. Almost before it came to a stop, the pit crew began taking off the tires and replacing them with a new set. Within minutes the car was back on the track.

Some kind of tire changing contest? In a way, yes, for it describes an important part of the action during tire performance comparison tests made recently by five professional stock car racing drivers at the Charlotte Motor Speedway.

The tests were arranged by the American Viscose Div., FMC Corp., to evaluate differences in directional stability, handling and control between rayon and nylon cord passenger car tires. Drivers were Richard Petty, Cale Yarborough, Junior Johnson, Bobby Allison and Lee Roy Yarborough, all top contenders in the NASCAR stock car racing circuit.

After three days of testing 20 sets of tires (10 made with rayon cord and 10 companion sets made with nylon) the drivers reached the same conclusion. Tires made with rayon have better directional stability, handle easier and more smoothly, and give better overall control than comparable tires reinforced with nylon.

The drivers themselves helped set up the test consisting mainly of lane changing and cornering maneuvers at normal highway speeds between 60 and 75 miles per hour in four sedans and three station wagons. This allowed tires to be compared on different cars with different handling characteristics.

Each driver started on one set of tires (either rayon or nylon cord) and drove them through the test course. When they had the "feel" of that set, they drove to the pits for a quick tire change, and then returned to the track in the same car where they repeated all maneuvers.

This kind of comparison is one that the general public never gets a chance to make. It is only by actually driving on two different sets of tires, one immediately after the other, that differences in stability, handling and control can best be detected.

Almost without exception, each of the test drivers found considerably more weaving and sway in their cars during sudden changes of direction on nylon cord tires. As Junior Johnson put it, "I had to do a lot more steering with the nylons than I did on the rayons. The rayon tires just seemed to stick tighter and give me more control."

Winner Feels Round Good — 'Under Gun'

PINEHURST — Greensboro's Sonny Grant was over-conservative in viewing his final round 70 and victory here Sunday in the North Carolina Amateur championship.

"I think I played some good golf here," he said. "Under the gun this was a fine round. I've had lower scores, but under the conditions and trying to catch somebody, I think it was a pretty good effort." He came from seven strokes behind for his first major victory.

Some of the conditions had to do with the long, demanding Country Club of North Carolina course where the tee markers were as far back as they would go on every hole.

"If you take a step back you'd fall off every tee," Bill Harvey viewed it. Players complained of the distance in the Thursday round, but it was even longer Sunday. It had to be 7,100 yards or more.

Missed Putts

"I hit a lot of good shots, but the round could have been better if a few putts had dropped," observed Grant, who has not won a major tournament but has a lot of tournament experience.

"I think I played consistently well, but I putted badly in the first two rounds," Grant added. He had three three-putts in one round and he had a double bogey in each of the first three rounds.

"I have driven well here and long," Grant continued. "Today I think I hit some awfully good tee shots, especially on holes when they count."

Bob Bryant of Charlotte, who matched par with a 72 Saturday, and was in Grant's threesome, congratulated Grant, saying:

"That was a very fine round Sonny. As a matter of fact, it was the best I've seen in a long time."

Stan Boraski, greens superintendent, showed High Point's Dale Morey that he wasn't joking about extending the CCNC course to its greatest length. Morey, whose house is not far from the second hole, found the No. 2 cup and flag in his front yard Sunday morning.

Leonard Thompson, a member of Wake Forest's outstanding team this spring, fell victim to bad luck. After playing even par through 13 holes, he took a nine on the par-4 14th.

Phillies Rally Past Giants

PHILADELPHIA — Johnny Callison's two-out double climaxed a three-run ninth inning that lifted Philadelphia to an 8-7 victory over San Francisco Sunday.

The Giants had scored five unearned runs on five Phillie errors and held a 7-2 lead after 7 1/2 innings. But Philadelphia knocked out Ray Sadecki in a three-run eighth and then pushed three more across in the ninth.

Tony Taylor opened the winning rally with a single against reliever Lindy McDaniel. A pinch single by Doug Clemens and Rich Allen's hit produced one run. After McDaniel retired Don Lock and Gene Oliver, Callison doubled off the right field wall.

Allen's double and singles by Oliver, Callison and pinch hitter Tony Gonzalez had produced three runs in the eighth for Philadelphia.

Jim Hart knocked in three runs for the Giants with two doubles, a single and a sacrifice fly and finished the four-game series with 12 RBI.
