

AWARD TO HUMBLE OIL — Two years ago, Humble Oil & Refining Company spokesman told members of the National Association of Market Developers at a meeting in Houston, Texas, that commendable policies and well-intentioned words from business and industry are not enough but, must be accompanied by equally positive actions—if companies intend to meet their obligations as good corporate citizens and help solve today's urgent social problems. In short, he said, it will be the companies that provide expanding opportunities for minority employment, training programs that will lead to needed skills, and aid to education and community-betterment undertakings, that will deservedly gain both in corporate image and sales. At NAMD's recent national convention, with its members again meeting in Houston, the organization's annual award to a company setting an example for others was presented to Humble Oil, for translating its stated policies into action, both before and after the 1965 declaration. Howard B. Woods, above right, chairman of NAMD's awards committee, presents the association's annual Emphasis Award to William W. Bryan, a senior vice president and director of Humble. The National Association of Market Developers is a professional organization composed chiefly of executives and management people in the sales and public relations fields. Woods, a former associate director of the United States Information Agency, is now editor-in-chief of Sengstacke Publications.

Final Rites Held Sunday For Mrs. Nannie Peace Taylor

The funeral of Mrs. Nannie Peace Taylor, 90, was held Sunday, July 2, at Pine Grove Baptist Church, Creedmoor. The Reverend G. E. Cheek, of Warren County, delivered the eulogy. Other ministers who participated in the service were the Reverends C. R. Stone, Pastor, Pine Grove Baptist Church; F. D. Terry, Pastor, West Durham Baptist Church, Durham; Bernard Holliday, Assistant Executive Secretary, Protestant Council of Churches, New York City; and Lorenzo A. Lynch, Pastor, White Rock Baptist Church, Durham.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Granville County in 1877. She was the daughter of the late Dock and Mary Peace. For more than forty years she worked in the Creedmoor community as a doctors' aide. For thirty years she served as president of the Missionary Society and helped to organize the Missionary Circle at the First Baptist Church in Creedmoor. She taught the Beginners Sunday School Class for many years. She was honored several years ago by The Carolina Times as the Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Taylor was married to the late Reverend Junious Moore Taylor. Surviving this union are nine children: Mrs. Manie T. Geer, Mrs. Maranda Holliday, Mrs. Ople T. Pratt, Mrs. Winona T. Peace, Arthur, William, Thomas, Victor and Ralph; three step-children, Mrs. Bertha Moore, Mrs. Zula Floyd and Ollie Lee; twenty grand children, ten great-grand children, three sisters, Mrs. Dora Reed, Mrs. Jennie Harris, and Mrs. Maggie Donney; and three brothers, Norman, Graham and Ulysses Peace.

A TRIBUTE TO THE CLERGY

Because our contacts with the clergymen of our community are frequent and varied, we must admit that we have sometimes been guilty of taking their selfless devotion for granted. May we then at this time express our appreciation for the many gracious services they render without complaint and often with little or no reward.

Highlights of UAFWB Church's Centennial

KINSTON — The United Free Will Baptist Denomination began its 100 Year Celebration on Monday, June 19, at St. John F. W. B. Church, East Blount Street, with the Northwest B Division Conference as host. The Rt. Rev. J. E. Reddick, Annual Moderator and General Recording Secretary, delivered the keynote address. His theme was "Building On The Foundation of our Forefathers In A Changing World." He admonished his hearers not to rest on the laurels of their fathers but to look into the dim distance beyond the horizon and get a glimpse of the great possibilities that lie ahead. He challenged the ministers to prepare themselves to do the job that God had given them to minister by example as well as by precept. Spiritual music was rendered by the conference choir.
