

SPORTS

Jefferson New Head Football Coach at Shaw

RALEIGH—Dennis Jefferson, Shaw University's new football coach, has released the names of members of his staff.

Horace T. Small, a product of Florida A.&M. University, Tallahassee, is head line and defensive mentor. He played end under veteran coach A. S. (Jake) Gaiter and was a member of the FAMU Rattlers when the undefeated squad won the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association's football championship in 1937.

Warner R. Johnson, a 1954 Shaw graduate in physical education is the backfield coach. An outstanding athlete while at Shaw, Coach Johnson, also holds the M.S. degree from North Carolina College at Durham.

Tutoring the Shaw Bears' ends will be Ira Mitchell, 1966 graduate of Shaw, majoring in physical education, who once was captain of and played guard on the basketball team. A graduate of Charles Evans Hughes High School in his native New York City, Mitchell was an All-CIAA standout in basketball, having broken many previous records at Shaw and also played baseball for two years.

Morgan Bears To Meet A&T Aggies In Homecoming

BALTIMORE, Md.—The Morgan State College Athletic Board, Incorporated, announced at its meeting recently that the Centennial Homecoming Game, between the Morgan State College Bears and the A. & T. State University Aggies, scheduled for Oct. 28, 1967 at 2 p.m. will be played in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium on 33rd St.

An added feature will be the performance of the nationally famous A. and T. marching band of 150 pieces during the half-time program.

The Board named a 25-member committee with Talmadge L. Hill and Miss Sallie Ponzio, as associate chairmen, to administer and promote this gala centennial event.

ATA Juniors Triumph In D. C. Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Michael Ruffin of Durham, N. C., senior player of the ATA Juniors Development Team, won the Junior Championship by defeating David Losh, 6-3, 6-1 in the finals of the D. C. Mall Tennis Tournament.

To teach the finals, Ruffin defeated Don Chernock, Baltimore, Md., 6-0, 6-4; Horace Reid, Atlanta, Ga., 6-1, 6-2 and David Williams, 6-0, 6-1.

THE OTHER team victor was Dave Williams, Newport News, Va., who defeated Bernie Davis, Newark, N. J., 6-1, 6-3.

Losh defeated Jaye Jeffries, Baltimore, 7-5, 7-5; Edward Fletcher of D. C., 6-1, 6-1 and Clyde Jeffries of Baltimore, 6-4; 6-4. Horace Reid defeated Jerome White of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-1.

IN THE under 15 competition, the juniors nine and 12-year-olds were outclassed by their older contestants. Juan Farrow, nine-year-old, Lynchburg, defeated Bryon White of Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-1.

Juan lost to Peter Rainey, Alexandria, Va., 6-1, 8-6. Rainey also defeated Horace Reid, Atlanta, Ga., 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

DAVE WILLIAMS defeated Eddie Dillehay, Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-1 and surprised Jerrie Holt of D. C., 6-2, 6-2 before losing to Andy Lloyd, seventh seeded, 6-3.

G. Gerber, Baltimore, defeated Mike Ruffin in the first round, 6-3, 6-3, and defeated David Losh, 6-0, 6-2.

ODGC Slates Golf Clinic

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—The Old Dominion Golf Club will begin a series of golf clinics at the Newport News Municipal Golf Course, Newport News, Va., starting Sunday, July 30 at 2 p.m. The clinics will be conducted by Tom Shiel, golf professional at the course.

The clinics will be open to both adults and juniors. For further information contact George Lee.

FIELD DAY—(Detroit) — Steven Stanley, 3, son of Detroit Tiger pitcher Earl Wilson, frolics in the outfield with Tiger outfielder Mickey Stanley during a father-son game which preceded a regular league game. They engaged in a little light-hearted play during a father-son game which preceded a regular league game. (UPI Photo)

LOOK OUT, CAMERAMAN—ton leaps 26-feet 2-inches to win the Pan American Games world record holder Ralph Boston landed in the pit far short of the cameraman. Boston landed in the Trials long jump, as he appears to be leaping right at a photographer. Boston landed in the pit far short of the cameraman. (UPI Telephoto)

Ex-Bulldogs Running Star Halfback Charlie Leigh Latest Neptunes Signee

NORFOLK—Halfback Charlie Leigh, the No. 1 choice of the Norfolk Neptunes in the draft of players on the roster of the Philadelphia Bulldogs, is the latest player to join the Neptunes.

Although he is still only 20-years-old, Leigh is embarking on his third season of professional football, having been signed out of high school by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1955.

TABBED BY ex-Philly Coach Wayne Hardin as "one of my top players, a real prospect," Leigh established himself as one of the top runners in the CFL in little more than half a season with the Bulldogs last year.

His average per-carry of 5.3 on 54 attempts last season was third only to the averages compiled by Joe Williams and Bob Blakey, the awesome 1-2 punch of the Toronto Rifles.

A KEY man in Philadelphia's late-season surge to the CFL championship, Leigh established a one-game record of 14.2 yards per carry on 13 rushes against the Hartford Oaks.

In that contest Leigh exhibited his breakaway running ability by sprinting to touchdowns runs of 59 and 61 yards.

"WE FEEL that Leigh can really put some zip into our running game," says Neptunes Head Coach Gary Glick. "He has that breakaway ability and you can't get enough of that quality in your backfield. At 20 he may be young, but he has two years of pro ball under his belt. He has a wealth of potential."

Born in Halifax, Va., Leigh was captain of both the football and basketball teams in his senior year at Albany (N.Y.) High School.

FOLLOWING his tryout with the Steelers, the 5'11", 203-pound back was sent by Pittsburgh to the Pennsylvania Mustangs of the North American Football League where he won All-League recognition.

Nino Trains For Griffith

GRADO, Italy—Nino Benvenuti, world middleweight champion, Bologna recently to begin training for his Sep. 29 fight with Emile Griffith at New York City's Madison Square Garden.

Benvenuti, who wrestled the title from Griffith April 17, had been vacationing with his family here.

JACQUIN'S VODKA ROYALE

$2.00 2PT.

Charles Jacquin et Cie, Inc., Phila., Pa.—Est. 1884 • 80 PROOF

76ers' Jackson Hurt In Collision

PHILADELPHIA—Luke Jackson, star forward of the Philadelphia 76ers, and club trainer, Al Domenico were injured, apparently slightly, in a two-car collision in suburban Bryn Mawr.

The two were taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital after the accident on Lancaster avenue to undergo X-ray examinations.

A hospital spokesman said Jackson was being examined for a possible back injury and Domenico for a possible neck injury.

The two were enroute to pick up Matt Guokas, another 76er player, for a trip to Camp Shalom in Collegeville, Pa., when the auto driven by Domenico apparently was struck from behind by another auto.

DOESN'T CARE TO FIGHT—(Chicago)—Wide-eyed and without a limerick as he arrives here recently is dethroned heavyweight boxing champ Cassius Clay, seen as he is met at O'Hare field by newsmen. Clay, who was here to preach before a gathering at a mosque, said he does not care if he never fights again. (UPI Telephoto)

IN PAN AM GAMES—(Winnipeg)—Members of the U. S. basketball team participating in the Pan Am games get together at their living quarters for a chat. (L to R) Sonny Dove, St. Johns U.; Westly Unseld, U. of Louisville; Cal Fowler, Goodyear Tire and Rubber (Akron, O.); Henry Logan, West Carolina (N.C.); Jo Jo White, U. of Kansas. (UPI)

Outfielder Still Seeing Double

Frank Robinson Fears He May Miss Rest Of Season

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK—Sitting there in the low-ceilinged dugout with his own private thoughts and tilting his head in exactly the proper position so as to fight the fuzziness in front of his eyes, Frank Robinson exposed his worst fear.

"It has crossed my mind that I may not be able to play again this season," he said.

THERE'S always that possibility. Of course I hope it doesn't turn out that way.

The doctors indicate it won't, but all I know is I have no idea when I'll be able to play again and I still see double when I pick my head up like this."

Robinson lifted his head about a half inch.

"This way I still can't see clear," he said, gazing out onto the field where some of his Baltimore Oriole teammates were tossing a ball around before a recent contest with the New York Yankees.

"This way is better," said Robinson, dropping his head. IT HASN'T been easy for the American League's Triple Crown champ and most valuable player of 1966 to sit around since he was knocked unconscious several weeks ago when he cracked his head against Al Weis' knee while breaking up a big play against the Chicago White Sox.

"Brooks Robinson hit the ball," recalled the Baltimore outfielder, "but I don't remember where he hit it. I don't even remember leaving first base or walking off the field although they say I did, with help."

Weis was torn up so badly during the accident, which came about when White Sox third baseman Dick Kenworthy threw the ball too high to him, that he will not play again this year.

"THAT MAKES me feel real bad," Robinson said with genuine feeling. "No ball player ever wants to hurt another one."

"The worst thing about what happened to me is not knowing when I'm going to play again. I have no idea at all."

At first, the doctors told Robinson he probably would be out only two days. That ago White Sox.

"THE HEADACHES are gone and I'm much better overall," said Robinson, low-double play against the Chicago Sox what was going on out on the field.

"I took hitting practice for the first time about a week ago and it was rough. Now I can almost keep my head level."

"What frightens me about the whole thing is that as close as I stand to the plate, I may not be able to see the ball. With this condition and with my timing being off, it's like I never saw a baseball when I try watching it sometimes," he concluded.

"I DON'T think we're gonna win unless we get Frank back," said Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson.

Hank Bauer, the Baltimore manager, said much the same thing another way.

"I can't say whether Frank Robinson makes 40 per cent difference to our club, 30 per cent or 50 per cent," said Manager Hank Bauer.