 dominantly Negro colleges and universities. He said the schools should be upgraded and then they would serve a major role in higher education in the South.

Winfred L. Godwin, director of Southern Regional Education Board in Atlanta said an in-depth study had been made of the South's 104 traditionally Negro institutions. "While it acknowledges the past contributions of these colleges," he said, "the report found many of the colleges too small to support the faculties."

 fied for the job."

Walter Washington was born in Dawson, Georgia brought up in Jamestown, New York was graduated by Howard University college and law school. For 25 years in worked in public housing and resigned his post as head of the National Capital Housing Authority last November to take a similar post in New York City. His new post in Washington pays $28,500.

President Johnson's appointment of Washington as Mayor comes at a time when Negroes are making a serious bid for Mayoralty posts in political contests across the country. Richard Hatcher in Gary, Indiana, Carl Stokes in Cleveland, Ohio, and A. W. Willis in Memphis, Tennessee are the best known contenders among the Negroes seeking top municipal posts this year. All of them are important leaders in the Democratic Party.

 enough rooms to accommodate 75 pupils. In addition to the commodious rooms the new dormitory has a modern dining room, kitchen and lounge, all of which will add to the comfort and aesthetic atmosphere of the young women to be housed at the college.

President Stith says the college was founded in 1956 by his father, Thomas Stith, prominent citizen of Rocky Mount, scoutmaster and official of the St. James Baptist Church of that city. David, his son, became president of the college when it was organized in 1956 and has continued in the position to the present. Under his vigorous leadership Southeastern Business College has developed into one of the best business colleges in the area.

A native of Rocky Mount, D. W. Stith has lived all of his adult life in Durham. Coming to Durham in 1947, he graduated from North Carolina College in 1951. Before serving a stint in the U.S. Army, including overseas duty in Germany, Stith attended the law school at NCC.

In 1956, as stated above, he began the work which has since been his continuing interest of providing post high school business education for Negroes in the Southeastern region of the United States.

Showing a continual interest in civic affairs, Stith campaigned for Durham City Council in 1965. He is presently a member of the Durham Chamber of Commerce.

Stith is married to the former Miss Lorraine Jones of Ahoskie. Mrs. Stith who is also a business graduate of N. C. College and taught there for several years is dean of Southeastern.

The Stiths have two children, Karen, age 6, and Thomas, III, age 4. They reside at 2508 Janet Street.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate...and none of us like to see it break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does? Your professional beautician knows that curly hair mats and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Otherwise, unnecessary irritation to the scalp and damage to the shaft and ends of the hair occurs. To achieve this needed softening and a temporary relaxing effect that prevents breakage on all human hair (including wigs), most beauticians rely on Clairol® Hair-So-New™ spray-on creme rinse. For combing ease and for beautifying your hair in many other ways, trained beauticians stock a complete family of fine Clairol products for your specific needs.

Visit your expert hairdresser, who cares about your hair care and your comfort. Whatever the nature of your hair problems, only your professional beautician knows the answer for sure.

 the success of the United Fund and the services it supports," continued Mr. Back.

The Southside Group consists of some 300 accounts which raised $3,081 in the 1966 campaign. There are a number of small business firms as well as organizations, fraternities, sororities, and professional men included in the group.

Mr. Cuthbertson is a real estate broker operating his own firm, Cuthbertson Realty and Insurance Company on So. Roxboro St. He was educated at Wilberforce University in Ohio and did graduate work at North Carolina College and Hampton Institute.

An active member of St. Joseph's A.M.E. Church where he serves as a junior steward and class leader, Mr. Cuthbertson is also active in many civic affairs. He is currently secretary-treasurer of the Durham Real Estate Brokers Association. He is married to the former Edna and they reside at 909 Dayton Street.

The goal of the United Fund campaign is $641,308. Divisional and group kick-offs will continue through the month of September and the first report meeting is scheduled for October 10. Mr. Cuthbertson said, "We are confident that our group will be well on its way to success by that date."

 is published by the Academy of Political Science at Columbia. Dr. Fogelson says, "Not until white America abandons the preconceptions about rioting, law enforcement, slums and ghettos which misled the McCone Commission, will it recognize the riots of the nineteen-sixties for what they are—articulate protests against genuine grievances in the Negro ghettos."

The commission's findings, Dr. Fogelson contends, were shaped by its belief that the Negroes of Watts were victims of poverty but not racial discrimination and that the violence had little to do with alleged prejudice and persecution.

The riots which erupted in the southcentral section of Los Angeles on August 11, 1965, left 34 persons dead and over 1,000 injured. Almost 4,000 persons were arrested, 600 buildings were damaged and between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000 in property was destroyed.
