WONDERFUL WORLD... by THOMPSON

TEHRAN'S MAGNIFICENT GULISTAN PALACE, with its priceless crown jewels, has a sparkling mirror-mosaic and a collection of gifts from rulers of many countries. The palace is best-known for its peacock throne—made of gold and encrusted with precious stones!

IRANIAN COOKING IS NOTABLE for its many unusual touches—for example, you might find a stew of rice, chicken and orange rinds topped with pistachio, almond and the famous Persian saffron! Sample Iran's famous beluga caviar, which comes from the Caspian Sea.

THE BEST HOTEL IN TOWN is situated at the foot of the snow-capped Elburz mountains. The 15-story Tehran Hilton is surrounded by a 22-acre exhibit and sports areas and features complete resort facilities. Occupants of each room have either a view of the mountains or toward Tehran!

Want to dress up that old apple pie favorite for holiday company? Sift hot pie crust in five lengths; carefully spoon in five teaspoons Wild Turkey Bourbon; tip pie to distribute liquor. Serve hot.

Speaking of turkey, have you ever roasted one that resulted in the white meat being overdone and the dark meat underdone? Try roasting it breast down on a rack until the last 20 minutes. Then turn it breast up to brown. Make sure too your dressing is moist moist.

Grass a delicacy? Maybe not in America. But Bison or Zurbrowka grass is prized in Poland where it's used in vodka to lend taste and tint to the practically colorless and tasteless spirit. The Polish vodka prized, however, in America and elsewhere is Vodka Wyborowa, made by an original process and so good that connoisseurs will only drink it straight in chilled glasses.

Speaking of originality here's something to dream on and to pass on to your posterity. Come up with a unique recipe for a drink, like Campari, franchise the bottling of it, and keep ingredients and mixture a closely guarded family secret.

PLAN YOUR PARTY TO THE HILT!

New York (NAPS)—If you want to plan a party your guests will remember with pleasure for a long time—give them something to play with!

Games for adults have been developed to suit any type of guest or party plan—from a seated dinner to an informal group that just dropped by.

"Concentration", the game Hugh Downs made famous on television can now be played by you in your living room—and there's a new kind of poker called "Strategy" designed for those spur-of-the-moment parties!

"Oh No" is a game that provides answers to a party for six that unexpectedly turns into a party for twelve! It's a great way to liven up the action. The guests take their shoes off and literally go "island-hopping" right in the living room! First colorful mats are spread out, then players position themselves one foot here, the other foot there; when their number comes up they have to move. One by one the mats are removed until there are more feet than mats... Oh No!

Evangelist Confined by Pneumonia

Evangelist Dr. Billy Graham was stricken with pneumonia and confined to his room at the famed Greenbrier resort Monday for "complete bed rest."

A physician from the Greenbrier clinic diagnosed the chest condition. Since the clinic is located in the hotel, the doctor ordered Graham confined to his room rather than a hospital.

Patsy Wingo, publicist for the resort, said Dr. Graham arrived at the Spa Sunday night, "after feeling indisposed for several days."

NEW IDEAS PROTECT CLOTHES

Clothes may make the man, but it's the woman who takes care of them—and they are the proof of her homemaking abilities.

Luckily, with today's constantly new laboratory developments and time-saving ideas, she need not wilt when she thinks of keeping her family's clothes ready for any occasion.

Shirt collars and cuffs, for instance, can now be kept execratively neat and literally stain-proof with the newest breakthrough in spray starch. Called Pruf, it contains a stain-and-soil repellent that irons on a protective finish. So if her husband or youngster spills something at lunch, he can just blot it off and look as neat as he did at 8:00 AM.

Another time-and-trouble-saver in the new starch is its guaranteed clog-proof, scorch-proof and stick-proof formula.

A hot tip if she's pressed for time and hasn't used a scorch-proof starch is to keep a bottle of peroxide handy. A dab on a bit of cotton will take out most scorch marks from white fabrics.

And for small fry clothes or her own wide-necked dresses the ends of hangers can be wrapped with the new cellophane tape that has the adhesive on both sides. It will make clothes slip-proof and keep them from falling off into wrinkled heaps that mean an unexpected ironing.

A modern tip for making his socks shrink-proof is to wash them in today's cold water powder detergent. It's safer for the material and will keep him stocked in socks that fit.

Keeping up with modern clothes-care research can save the alert homemaker both time and clothes—and make her family's appearance complaint-proof.

U. S. Seeks Peace in Cyprus

The United States is serving as the major mediator for peace in the explosive situation in Cyprus, a State Department official said at North Carolina State University Monday.

Daniel Brown, public affairs adviser to the Bureau of Near Eastern and South Asian Affairs, was in Raleigh with three other State Department officials, after spending sleepless nights on the "Cyprus Watch."

Brown is one of a four-man State Department team speaking this week in Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, Chapel Hill and Charlotte and answering questions on foreign policy.

Brown noted that special Presidential envoy Cyrus Vance had been back and forth to Turkey and Greece in an all-out effort to help settle the disagreement between Greeks and Turks over the island of Cyprus.

He said the crux of the problem lay in the fact that both Greeks and Turks on Cyprus maintain their national allegiance to their mother countries, and neither has formed a nationalism for Cyprus.

Brown expressed the hope that since Greece has accepted Turkey's demands on Cyprus, that full scale war has been averted.

Other members of the diplomatic team include Thomas McElhiney, State Department country director for South Eastern Africa; Robert A. Lewis, Vietnam officer in the Bureau of East Asian and Pacific Affairs; and William L. Swing, international economist for the Bureau of Economic Affairs.

On the Vietnam question, McElhiney said that American withdrawal from Vietnam would mean that "all the countries of Southeast Asia would probably go and the Chinese Communists would become heavily involved in Southeast Asia."

Physically Fit

MANILA (AP)—Manila's city hall employees, their evening activities already curtailed, have been ordered to stay physically fit or be retired. Mayor Antonio Villegas gave the orders as part of his "new look" administration. He already has told city employees to stay away from night clubs, bars and racetracks.
