Frame A Legend
To spread the Christmas spirit throughout the house, exchange framed pictures which hang in your home through the year for religious or winter scenes. The Picture and Frame Institute suggests framed pictures of traditional holiday stories or scenes depicting Christmas legends. They're sure to become family favorites for holiday decorating and will be used again in coming years.

Generating Sparks, The Young Generation
Not to be left out of the Fall-Winter scene, girls and teens need well-tailored, wearable coats for the many occasions modern life presents.
National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry emphasizes the necessity for appropriate fashions that will give a young girl a sense of pride and assure her best performance. Surprisingly low price tags are on coats that keep her going at a high level.
Left: The teenager is warm and smart in a closer-fitting, boucle wool coat. Keyed to all her activities, it has a demi-belt, light flare. Green, mallard blue, gold. Teens 6-14. About $38.
Right: Adorable is the word for this wool tweed companion with pile collar and lining. Green, brown, navy. Sizes: 3 to 6X and 7-14. About $21. Available at stores throughout the country.

Georgia Legislator to Speak At Phi Beta Sigma Conclave

RICHMOND, Va.—Benjamin D. Brown, a member of the Georgia House of Representatives will address the Undergraduate Luncheon of the 53rd Anniversary Conclave of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, incorporated on Friday, December 28, 1967 in the Marshall Room of the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond, Virginia.

The luncheon, announced by Clarence L. Townes, Sr., Conclave Marshall, highlights a day of undergraduate participation in the business sessions of the yearly-meeting. The 53rd Annual Convention of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity starts Tuesday, December 26 and will conclude on Saturday, December 30, 1967.

In discussing the acceptance of the Georgia legislator who will address undergraduate members of the fraternity coming from more than 100 college campuses to hear him, Mr. Townes said, Representative Brown, who is only 26 years old, and a member of Sigma as well as a Clarke College graduate; was one of the original students who sat in at various business places in Atlanta during the student uprisings in 1959, which later culminated in the formation of the Student Non Violent Committee. In wiring his acceptance to speak to the Sigma undergraduates,

Mr. Brown recalled his student activities at Clarke College and said he is now serving in the same legislature of his State which, at one time had castigated him for his activities. The message also disclosed that nine other outstanding young Georgians are serving their respective constituents in the Georgia legislature with him.

The Luncheon is designed, Mr. Townes said, to highlight six intensive workshops the undergraduate members of Sigma will undertake. The seminars will convene in Commonwealth Hall at the John Marshall Hotel under the direction of Dr. Von D. Mizell, National Director of Undergraduate Affairs of Sigma Fraternity.

A feature of the luncheon will be presentation of Knickerbocker Vanguard Awards to College teachers who have distinguished themselves as educators and sports figures; and who by their examples in the teaching profession and on the playing fields have been an inspiration to undergraduates all over the world.

Men to be honored are: Dr. R. W. E. Jones, President of Grambling University, Grambling, Louisiana and the University's baseball coach of 27 years; William T. Nicks, Football coach of Morris Brown and now Prairie View Col-

Alabama State Band on NBC December 10

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The Alabama State College "Marching Hornets" band of Montgomery will entertain fans at half time of the N.B.C. televised game between the New York Jets and Kansas City Chiefs in Shea Stadium, New York City, Dec. 10, at 1 p.m. (C.S.T.).

The Band's appearance, originally scheduled for Dec. 3 was changed to Dec. 10.

After review of a color sound movie of a half-time performance by the "Original Marching 100," Robert R. Cleveland, Music Director and Half-time Coordinator for the Jets and his associates were impressed enough to invite the Band to play for one of their games. The Band was called to the College now residing in New York.

Theme for the half-time pageant will be "MOOD SPECTACULAR." The show will include "Downfield '67," composed by Lyle; Bobbie Gentry's "Ode to Billy Joe," Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique," and the popular selection, "Get on Up," made famous by the "Esquires."

THE BAND'S specialty—double timing at 340 steps per minute and precision drills—requires a frequent practice schedule which often begins at 6 a.m. and includes many evening practices under the lights in Hornet Stadium.

Thomas E. Lyle, Director of the band, is a native of Birmingham, Ala. He received the B. S. degree from Tennessee A. and I. State University and the degree of Master of Music Education from the University of Michigan. Assistant band directors are Harry J. McTerry, III, William B. Fielder and Warren D. Bryant.

President of the regionally accredited Alabama State College is Dr. Levi Watkins, who envisioned four years ago having a "Marching Hornets Band" which would "make a name for itself and the College."
