

FENCING TEAM _ $ A | N T | er, Oriental. Second row, stand- | Staunton, Va.; James Quinn, | Lonnie Foster, Rocky Mount; Front row, kneeling, left to Rouse, LaGrange; Carolyn Fish- Raleigh; Reginald Fitzpatrick,

AUGUSTINE'S COLLEGE - ing: Conrad Lake, Brooklyn, Trenton, N. C.; Lester Win-New York; Donald Raspberry, Patricia Cottingham, Trenton, N. C.; Gregory Wells, Jul Williams, student coach, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hilda J. Philadelphia, Pa.; Mose Dorsey, gate, Portsmouth, Va.; James Philadelphia, Pa. Back row:

Harold Rodgers, capt., Brooklyn, New York; Andre Ramseur. High Point; and Gregory King, Kinston.

Biography Of A Soul Musician

The stage sometimes get very preme confidence—to have firm crowded. There is a troupe of opinions, and the singer's ideas on dancers. There is a 21-piece or music range widely. "I like opera dancers. There is a 21-piece or music range widely. "I like opera chestra with four drummers, two because it's perfection," he says. working and two standing by. "You know those opera singers. There is a male singer and a fe have to be perfect or it's no good, male singer and someone called you understand? And I like big Elsie TV Mama, and there is a bands. I know there are plenty of trio to back up the leader. And groups around, I had one myself, there is the leader himself, James but they're limited. I think the there is the leader himself, James but they're limited. I think the Brown, shouting and screaming as Rolling Stones have plenty of soul he sings, falling to his knees in and I'd say the Beatles are just feigned exhaustion to be pulled plain good businessmen. The Suerect again by his aides, enfolded premes? They're professional but at least in a flowing robe and I don't think they're totally inhelped off-stage to the accompanient of echoing screams from his ment of echoing screams from his

JAMES BROWN

All this is show, soul music gone downtown to where the money is. But behind the show, in the shouting and screaming, in the laughing and the crying, the music is as earthy as the red clay of Georgia and as jubilant as Sunday morning in an Augusta Baptist church. It is therefore entirely appropriate that James Brown, who is perhaps the mort popular soul musician in the country, once was a poor Baptist kid from Augusta, Ga., who tried to pick up rent money by singing gospel songs.

It is appropriate but not neces sarily relevant. The sound is makes James Brown and sound is not easily susceptible of description. Soul music is a derivation of gospel singing and of blues, a throbbng beat and a perexpression. With James Brown it is primitive and some-times savage and it screams, but one of his first and best-selling records, Please, Please, has the flavor of supplication and Soul music also, in James Brown's terms, has become an exercise in showmanship. "James Brown," the original has said of himself, "is 75 per cent businessman and 25 per cent talent." More simply, he is very good at what he does and he has the showbusiness acumen to turn his talent into money. He was born to an appreciation of the reward. "My family," he says, "was so poor you wouldn't even believe it. My father greased and washed cars in a filling station. Some-times I worked with him. Other times I worked with him. Other times I picked cotton, worked or a farm, worked in a coal yard. In the afternoons after school, I had to walk home along the railroad tracks and pick up pieces of coke left over from the trains. I'd take that home and we'd use it to keep

"I always loved to dance. Even when I was eight-years old I could do it. The soldiers from the National Guard would sometimes be camped right outside out town and when I was just a little kid I'd dance. They'd throw nickles, dimes, sometimes quarters at m dimes, sometimes quarters at me and I'd take that home and it would help my folks pay the seven-dollars-a-month rent.

"The kids in my school would pay me ten cents to dance for them. I was always the best dancer in the group. In fact, any kind of sports I ever came in contact with, I was the number-one cat."

It is not uncommon for a manwho has risen quickly-especially one with Brown's talent and su-

Brown's own total involvement began after he quit high school, formed a trio and made an on-andoff living with it. "I mean I had a very, very big family. Not brothers and sisters but a lot of close relatives and I had to help feed them." Certainly, soul music has its roots somewhere in memo-

120 freshly laundered shirts and and, if transportation is missed.

80 hours on the stage-singing, be there when it's time to work dancing and also playing at least... or else."

960 songs on one or more of eight The attitude is not difficult to instruments. He is, as well, song understand. The stakes are very writer, arranger, choreographer high. With the show playing dates and designer of clothes for him all but 30 nights a year, the gross self and his entire cast.

His 335 work-day year consists nually and from this James Brown principally of one-night stands in is good for more than $250,000. such diverse locations as Har Personal appearances, of lem's Apollo Theater and Evans- course, are only part of the interval of the interv con, Ga., radio station, a man late as possible, Brown has his from King Records heard it and chauffeur leave for the next stop in 1956 James Brown was on his as soon as he has dropped his boss way. King and Earl Bostic, Bill off at the hotel after an evening's Doggett and Hank Ballard, among performance. The following day, others, but Brown quickly out Brown flies to the next stop and stripped them. He outstripped the chauffeur, who may have been them not only with his talents but driving all night, picks him up at with his energy. He will perform the airport. One of Brown's three 335 days this year, lose as much valets sometimes accompanies the as seven pounds at each perform chauffeur on the overnight drives. ance. In an average month, he In a company of 30, Brown has will give away some 5,000 auto-discovered, there are likely to be graphed photos and 1,000 pairs of a few laggards. Anyone who miss-James Brown cuff links, will wear es a bus or a performance is fined more than 80 pairs of shoes, will the guilty must pay the own fare change his performing costume to the next the pay the gring for going 150, times and will perform over to work, the says, "they'd better ville, Ind., Washington's Howard come soul music brings to Brown. Theater and Nashville, Tenn. The There is a publishing firm, Try show is run with military preci. Me Music, and a record production and Brown is his own logistic tion firm, Fair Deal Records, of has its roots somewhere in memories of deprivation as well as in echoes of the chapel, in shared misfortunes as well as shared joys.

His group made a record in a Ma

Because he likes to sleep as he records.

His group made a record in a Ma

Ston and Brown is somewhere in memories of the chapel, in shared instruments and gear, an elegant Bart, each own 50 per cent. Brown first draws a salary plus half the propulsion of the cast and draws a salary plus half the propulsion of the cast and bubbles of the control of the cast and bubbles of the cast and bub

ART LINKLETTER AND ERNIE BANKS

Ernie Banks Named 'Y' Athlete of the Year '67

nie Banks, Chicago Cubs' first baseman, has been named the YMCA Athlete of the Year for 1967. The award presentation will be made on Art Linkletter's "House Party" Jan. 17.

Previous winners of the an nual YMCA award include Olympic champions Rafer Johnson, Bob Mathias and Cathy Ferguson, Heisman trophy win ner Mike Garrett and baseball players Frank Robinson and Don Drysdale.

The award is made to an ath-

LOS ANGELES, Calif. - Er- | lete-either amateur or profes- | the only player in the history

Banks has been an active colunteer in the Chicago YM-CA's program for about eight years. He began his affiliation with the Wabash branch, and low works at both the Chatham and Southside Ys. In addition to Banks' work with youth, he serves on the Y's oard of managers.

Banks lead the National League in home runs with 47 in 1958 and 41 in 1960. He is sional—who "best typifies the spirit of the YMCA." of the National League to win the coveted Most Valuable Player award two years in succession, 1958 and 1959. He has played in 11 All-Star Games.

Linkletter, a member of the YMCA's national physical education committee, will present a plaque to Banks that reads in part, ". . . For providing inspiration to the Youth of America through adherence to the highest standards of sports-

NCC Cagers in Two Weeks Lay Off for Exams

North Carolina College's Eagles will be away from the basket-ball court for the next two weeks but the players will tackle an even bigger opponent, first semester exa-

The Eagles will return to action January 27 when they play host to nationally ranked Winston-Salem State College Rams in Dur-

Coach Floyd Brown will excuse players from drills for the week of January 17-22, when semester exa minations will be given at the college. Full scale practice will commence again January 23 as NCC prepare to launch its second half of the season.

If the home court means anything, the Eagles will have six of their ten remaining games in the friendly confines of the R. L. Mo-Dougald Gymnasium. NCC sported a perfect 4-0 slate at home for the first half of the season.

In addition to Winston-Salem, the Eagles will play host to Morgan State College, A&T State University, Hampton Institute, J. C. Smith University and, Shaw University.

On the road, NCC will meet Morgan and Virginia State College and make-up two postponed dates at Fayetteville State College and A & T.

The Eagles have already battered their 1966-67 showing. Last year, NCC was 7-13 in the conference and 8-14 over-all. To date, the Bull City chargers are 8-2 in the CIAA, good for third place, and 9-6 over-all.

NCC will gain the services of swing-man Steve Humphrey at the beginning of the second semester. Humphrey, a 6-2 junior, is expected to bloster the Eagles' attack. According to Brown, Humphrey shoots well, is a good rebounded and an excellent ball handler

NCC's improvement this year is due in part to a balanced scoring in double figures for the Eagles. All-CIAA Lee Davis has been the sparkplug for the team over the first half of the season. The 6-8 senior center has averaged 21.1 points per game and 14.7 rebounds.

Other double-digit scorers for NCC are Joseph Pridgen 17.0 Paris Lennon 13.4 and Billy Rose 10.1. Ronald McCrimmon, the fifth starter for the Eagles, is averaging 6.3

Norfolk St., TSU Set Points Record

Spartans Bost 115-104 Win On Way to Total Pts. Mark

"My team is learning the wrong way — by losing," Ten-nessee State University basket-ball coach Harold Hunter explained after dropping a 115-104 tilt to Norfolk State last Tuesday night

"The Spartans had a great ball club," Hunter offered. "And they are the leading scorers in the na-tion. My freshmen contested them all the way and show promise as junior and seniors to become a great ball cuib." TWO MARKS FALL

Coach Ernie fears Spartans handed Hunter his second straight defeat in the Little Gar-den with a record shattering per-formance. The Virginians' 115 points established a new gym mark for an opponent, and the combined score of 219 points is the most points scored by two teams on the home floor.

Ted McClain poured in 37 points in his 30 minutes of play for TSU, but it was not enough to offset Bob Dandridge, Jim Grant and Johnny McKinney's 29,25 and 23 points respectively for the Spartans.

Coach Hunter had three other men in double figures other than McClain, Chattanooga-born freshman. Chairlie Parks who started in place of McClain canned 19 points. Bobby Olive hit 16 and Bruce Fowler muscled 10 around the basket.

Dave Bing Snaps 1000-Pt. Barrier

Detroit Guard Tops NBA Scorers With 1054 Points

By scoring 70 points in three games during the past week to raise his total for the season to 1045, Dave Bing of Detroit main-tained his scoring lead over run-ner-up Walt Hazzard of Seattle by 101 points. Hazzar lies to his credit. nts. Hazzard has 944 tal-Wilt Chamberlain of Philadel-

Wit Chamberlain of Philadelphia continues to maintain his lead in the field goal percentage column with a 563 and in total rebounds with 958 recoveries. Walt Bellamy of New York continues as runner-up among field goal percentage leaders with 544 while Nate Thurmomd of the San Francisco Warriors is second in total grabs with $67. Chamberlain's rebound average is best lan's rebound average is best with 24.6 to Thurmond's 22.2. Although Larry Slegfried of Boston did not play last week due to an injury, his 131 successful tries out of 152 attempts was

Raps School for Not Protecting Game Official

ROCKY MOUNT-The Com missioner of the North Carolina High School Athletic Conference W. T. Armstrong, announced today that the Conetoe High School of Conetoe, had been penalized for failure to have adequate police protection present for its basketball games on its home court. The penalty resulted from the failure of the Conetoe High School to prevent an attack on one of the officials during a game on its rourt prior to the holidays.

The remaining home games of the Conetoe High School's schedule have been removed from their gymnasium and the school placed on probation until the present condition has been corrected by law enforcement officials and school authorities.

The Commissioner stated that this is the third school to be penalized during the present basketball season for unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of the fans and supporters. Previously the Belhaven High School of Belhaven and the Caswell County Training School of Yancevville had been fined for allowing this type of conduct.

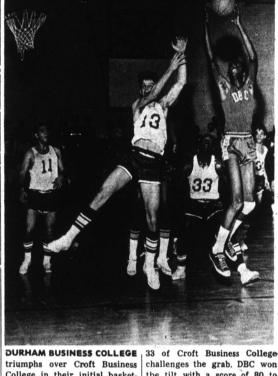

The Conference intends to stamp out this type of conduct and it makes the home school responsible for the action of its fans and students and coaches.

The Commissioner stated that all schools had been previously warned about this activity and penalties would be assessed imme diately upon the reporting of such incidents.

good enough to give him the circuit lead in free throws with a .862. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati with 226 out of 264 is second with a .856.

--Peace

Continued from front page erty-stricken families of these same young men. I believe that Negro and white servicemen should be fighting racism and poverty at home, and that we women must work to bring them home. It is just as important for us to march for peace in Washington as it was to march for freedom in Montgomery, Alabama, and so many other places in the course of the civil rights movement. Peace and Freedom are inseparable goals. War and oppression are inseparable evils."

College in their initial basketgame played recently. the ball while No. 11, 13, and the tilt with a score of 80 to 68. he team now has a 3 and George Pellum of DBC controls 2 record for this season's play

A&T Basketeers Winners in Two Important CIAA Battles

ging offense perked up and the Aggies reeled off two important CIAA basketball wins over the past week

Uncorking their best offensive show of the season, the Aggies rolled past Livingstone, 108-67. Earlier, A&T used a strong inside game to down Johnson C. Smith, 66-55, in the Greensboro Coliseum

A&T pounced on the helpless Bears from the beginning and there was no letup until the bitter end. The Aggies' chief offensive veapon in the rout was 6-6 Lonnie Kluttz, who pumped in 25 points and joined with his beefy teammate Ted Campbell in dominating the rebounding in the game. A former All-Army performer, Kluttz has had his toubles in adjusting to A&T's running game. But last night he seem ed sure of himself as he hit on 10 of 15 shots from the floor and added five of nine GREENSBORO—A&T's sag- free throws. He played only 30 minutes of the game.

> It was in the ball handling that the Aggies showed the greatest improvement in downtute Nathan Pettus and Carl Hubbard, A&T raced past the

The Aggies rolled to a 26-13 ead the first 10 minutes of the game with Lonnie Kluttz pacing the attack. Kluttz hit on five of his six first tries and two foul shots for 12 points in the periodical

At this point, Irvin began substituting, but Daryle Cherry and 6-7 Vernon Walker kept A. &T's running game moving. The Aggies were out front, 53-32 at

The supply of men who can do things effectively never equals the demand. They keep the rest of us moving forward. When we are ready to quit, they encourage us to make one more try.

tari Monroe Honored at Winston-Salem Col

Monroe, leading candidate for NBA Rookie of the Year Honors, was honored by Winston Salem State College recently at half-time in a game in which he led the Baltimore Bullets to a 121-118 win over the Cincinnati Royals.

The College took advantage of the occasion to retire from active use Jersey No. 10, the one used by Monroe during his playing days at the college when he set an all-time, national scoring record of 1,329 points, led the Rams to the NCAA College Division Basketball Championship and won the title of NCAA College Division Player of the Year.

Monroe received an enthusiastic ovation from the crowd when Dr. C. B. Hauser, Chairman of the college athletic committee, paid tribute to him and announced the plans for retiring and displaying the Jersey in the Trophy Case.

Monroe, as a pro, electrified the crowd with his ballhandling and fancy shooting just as he had done during his undergraduate days. He sank 12 of 15 shots from the floor and made 13 of 17 free throws to lead all scorers for the night with 37 points, equalling his season high as a pro. He made numerous steals and hauled down five rebounds.

After the game, Coach Bigouse Gaines, Monroe's former

WINSTON-SALEM __ Earl coach, was interviewed for Baltimore radio. Sharing honors with Monroe

vas Harold (Happy) Hairston,

Royals, George Green, his former coach, presented him with a scroll from the Sportsmen Winston-Salem native who is of the Patterson Ave. YMCA.

DR. C. B. HAUSER AND EARL MOI