

PICKETS IN ACTION—Pickets of AFL-CIO Local 183 of the Tobacco Workers Union, are shown in action at the Durham plant of the American Tobacco Company during the strike now in process. The strike is being supported by workers in the company's other plants located in Reidsville, Richmond, Va., and Louisville, Ky. A meeting before the Durham City Council here Monday night saw several thousand employees and supporters of the strike brave freezing weather while their representatives requested the passage of an ordinance to prevent outside strikebreakers from being brought into the city.

NEW MEMBERS OF PHI BETA KAPPA AT MOREHOUSE—The President and five other Morehouse professors were elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa at the Installation Ceremony of the Delta of Georgia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Morehouse College on Saturday, January 6, in Sale Hall Chapel. Seated above with Dr. H. B. Glass (center), president of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and conductor of the installation ceremony and principal speaker last Saturday, are, from left to right, Dr. Addie S. Mitchell, associate professor of English, and Dr. Hugh M. Glover, president of Morehouse College. Standing, from left to right, are Dr. James Mayo, associate professor of physics and Chairman of the Department; Dr. Henry C. McBay, professor of chemistry and Chairman of the Department; Dr. Stephen E. Henderson, professor of English and Chairman of the Department; and Dr. Edward B. Williams, professor of economics and business administration and Chairman of the Department. Their election brings to 17 the number of Morehouse professors belonging to Phi Beta Kappa.

Open Housing Is Backed By Hawkins

GREENSBORO—Dr. Reginald Hawkins, the state's first Negro candidate for governor in this century, vowed Wednesday to press for open housing legislation in North Carolina. Hawkins, a Democrat, said open housing should be made mandatory. Hawkins said he did not believe there were any legalities that could prevent cities from passing open housing ordinances and called on Tar Heel municipalities to take the lead in enacting such ordinances. The Charlotte dentist told a news conference that he favored a cigarette tax, but that he had not yet decided how much it should be. He did say that revenues collected from such a tax should go to municipalities. On a local option sales tax, he said, "I have mixed views about this kind of tax. Perhaps we should look anew at this." Asked about his chances in the May 4 primary, Hawkins said, "I am in this campaign to win."

Troops Leave Cyprus
ANKARA, Turkey—The Turkish Foreign Ministry said Wednesday the Greek government has reported it has completed troop withdrawals from Cyprus.

Armored Cars Sold To Police

NEW YORK—Police agencies in the United States are purchasing armored cars and stockpiling such equipment as tear gas grenades and other nonlethal weapons as well as shotguns as a precaution against the possibility of riots in the months ahead. The Virginia state police recently received six new $30,000 armored cars for use as personnel carriers, communications centers and mobile pill boxes. The Los Angeles Sheriff's Department has just finished building its own armored car at a cost of about $7,000. Two other major law enforcement agencies—the police departments of Philadelphia and Detroit—each requisitioned two armored cars. In Philadelphia the request for funds to complete the transaction is still before the City Council after protests from several civil rights groups. In Detroit, the request was denied by the Common Council. One major manufacturer of armored cars—J. Tom Moore & Sons of Memphis—reported orders for 10 cars, but declined to name the communities that had ordered the equipment. "It's ticklish business," said William Moore, general manager of the company, "and everyone who has ordered cars has asked us not to disclose their names." Peter J. Pitches, sheriff of the 6,000-man Los Angeles County force, asked why he had acquired an armored car, said he hoped there would not be any more riots in Los Angeles "but we must be prepared." "We would be derelict in our duty if we didn't prepare for such an event," he said. "I am not going to send my men against snipers without the protection of armor plate," he added. Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo of Philadelphia said he had decided that his department needed armored cars because "the problems last summer in Detroit and Newark."

The Space Agency has slashed in half its once-ambitious program for manned space exploration after the Apollo flight to the moon because of budget cutbacks, it was learned Wednesday.

Sizzling Steaks On Stainless Steel

Lets face it, steak is the number one choice of he-men, especially when the weather is brisk. An easy to prepare meal is built around your favorite cut of steak served with a vegetable, hearty salad and coffee. Seasonings make the difference. Sprinkle prepared Italian Seasoning on squash and bake. Cook the meat directly on individual stainless steel steak platters. Add squash to each sizzle platter after you turn the steaks for last minute reheating and final broiling. Just before the steak is done, spread with soy sauce. The hallmarks of an old English chop house come from the broiler to the table, and are placed on their own wooden underplatters. Cleaning up is an easy job, because juices and sauces will come right off stainless steel with no pitting or discoloration, no matter what you broil. Whether your meat is choice or economy, stainless steel knives with serrated edges will cut it like butter. Hurricane lamp candleholders, with stainless steel bases, are ideal centerpieces. With the glass chimney removed, they hold artificial flowers.

Kasperak Is Allowed Out of Bed

STANFORD, Calif. America's only living heart transplant patient was so improved Wednesday on his 12th day with a dead woman's heart that he was allowed up for an hour in a chair. This was Mike Kasperak's first time out of bed since the 54-year-old retired steel worker underwent an emergency operation last Sunday for the removal of his gall bladder to ease the work of an ill-functioning liver.
