Captains In The Classroom

It's a good thing Bob Kritzler likes going to school! He's going to spend a lot of time there during the next 33 years in his career as a Trans World Airlines pilot. For today's airline pilots spend fully 10% of their careers in the cassroom—long enough to sarn two master's degrees, a Fh.D., plus a good start on a third M.A.

Even the most experienced jet commanders are putthrough the wast number of skills that modern flying demands. TWA's Jack Frye International Training Center in Kansas City, Mo., recurrent training is an around - the - calendar affair. Constant monitoring comes from a team of instructors who go back to school on an annual schedule themselves.

For the beginners especially—including those with thousands of hours of previous jet piloting behind them, such as in the military, training is extremely rigorous. It's only after a minimum of 235 hours over a close-packed 7 weeks in the classroom and jet simulators that a new TWA man moves into the third seat in a real cockpit—on training flights without passengers. When he's finally assigned to the line, veteran flight engineers come along for the ride for several weeks to monitor his perform—

Thus for these workers who have been earnings and who will continue to earn, wages of $6,600 a year or less, the new amendments will mean sizable increases in their future benefit payments - and without comparable increases in the social security tax contributions they were scheduled to pay under the old law.

Four Sworn in For Foreign Service Jan. 5

WASHINGTON, D. C .- Three Nergoes and one Pureto Rican were sworn into the 82nd Class of the Foreign Service in the Department of State on January 5, 1968. The new junior officers are:

Miss Sylvia Stanfield of Dallas, Texas, a 1965 graduate of Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio. Miss Stanfield received her Master's Degree in Asian Studies from the University of Hawaii and also studied the Chinese Language for eight months at the University of Hong Kong. Just prior to her appointment, Miss Stanfield worked for several months in the Civil Rights Documentation Project which is funded by the Ford Foundation.

Jose Villalon of Aquadilla, Puerto Rico, a 1963 honor graduate of the University of Puerto Rico in San Juan. After travelling for several months in Europe under a University sponsored program, Mr. Villalon entered the University of Puerto Rico School of Law in August, 1963 where he majored in International Law. He received his law degree in May, 1966 and was admitted to the bar in Puerto Rico in the springof 1967. Mr. Villalon had also completed work toward a Master's Degree in Public Administration when he accepted a summer internship in the Department of State last July.

James E. Walker of Roose velt, New York, a 1965 graduate of Fisk University. Mr Walker received his Master's Degree in International Relations from Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., last fall. In the summer of 1965 he travelled through 11 countries in Europe on a study tour sponsored by Hope College.

John W. Graveley of Cincinnati, Ohio, a 1962 graduate of West Virginia State College, received a career appointment in the Department's Foreign Service Staff Officer Corps. Mr. Graveley saw service in the Army both at home and abroad from October, 1962 to July 1967. He achieved the rank of Captain. He is the recipient of several awards and certificates of achievement for his work with the military. His last assignment was as Adjutant General Staff Instructor in the U.

Pick A Picket

Pick A Picket
Children will love the bit of whimsy that an imaginative headboard brings to their room.
To complement Bates "Old MacDonald's Farm" bedspread — a gay spread covered with delightful animals—I'd pick a picket fence. A little wood goes a long way for this lively headboard. Just take five pieces of wood of equal size, shape the ends into pickets and nail two pieces of wood across. Sand the edges for safety's sake and paint the picket headboard a bright color like orange or yellow. This bedheader will win cheers from the little folk.

Regal Elegance

Regal Elegance

For the master bedroom, I advocate an elegant touch. A regal canopy over the bed creates a sleeping chamber fit for a king and queen. I like the traditional look of a demi-canopy-made by taking a window cornice the width of the bed and covering it with material, then swagging narrow draperies on either side. "Her Majesty's Needlepoint"—a handsome Bates spread that recreates the craft of rose-strewn needlepoint—is the perfect spread to use on this bed and for matching accents on the canopy.

Whatever your decor or the mood you're trying to evoke, it's easy to make a matching headboard that will give your bedroom a different touch and the decorator look sure to command everyone's attention.

When you pay cash a month in advance for a magazine or an almanac, you get it by mai about three days or a later than the guy who buys it on the newsstands.
