

HILLSIDE IS WINNER IN TRACK—Three school records were broken here Saturday afternoon as Hillside beat William Penn of High Point, 68-46, in a high school track meet. Hillside's Silas Mayfield cracked his own mile mark with a 4:27 flat clocking which broke the old standard of 4:28.8. Hornet shotputter Greg Brewer broke the Hillside mark in that event, tossing the cannonball 50' 3", 13 inches better than the old mark.

William Covington of Hillside broke the other mark with a 150' 5" discus throw, breaking the old mark of 149 feet.

Jimmy Bethea of William Penn won the high, ran on the winning 880 relay, took second in the lows and tied for first in the long jump to lead all scorers.

have signed notarized statements or otherwise indicated that they received full value from Rogers for their share of the diversion payments, totaling $2,761. Rogers will not be required to refund this amount.

ASCS officials state that diversion payments under the Upland Cotton Program are made to farmers who agree to reduce the number of acres which they plant to cotton.

It was payment such as these earned by his tenants which were improperly claimed by Rogers two years ago. According to ASCS officials, the regulations governing the program contain detailed rules for the protection of tenants and sharecroppers. The rules are designed to insure that tenants and sharecroppers receive a fair and equitable share of the payments made under the program.

Asians Fear Withdrawal

WASHINGTON — A new crisis is emerging in Asia.

Many of the smaller countries are beginning to worry about the possibility that the United States may give in to North Vietnamese pressure and agree to let the Communist-controlled rebels in the south — known as the National Liberation Front — play a vital part in the coming truce negotiations.

What is mostly feared is that some "Face-saving" formula is in prospect which will really mean in the end a takeover of all of Vietnam by the Communists.

It so happens that Communist activity has been sharply increased inside several countries in Asia. South Korea is fighting stepped-up infiltration and subversion by North Korean Communists. Indonesia is encountering guerrilla warfare with Chinese minorities in the northern part of the country. Cambodia is being troubled by sporadic guerrilla activities in three provinces. At least one third of Laos is under the control of Communist forces, and 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are in that country. The northern provinces of Thailand are the scene of Red terrorism and subversion. New trouble has been stirred up in Burma as well as in Northeast India.

'The End'

In the face of all this, what is the United States going to do? Pull out of South Vietnam? The prime minister of Malaysia said recently:

"If the Americans for some reason decided to give up this war in Vietnam and the north decided to take over the south, then it will be the end of us all."

Inside the United States, both Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy, two of the Democratic aspirants for the presidential nomination, favor a "coalition" in the government of South Vietnam to include the National Liberation Front.

President Johnson has said that the NLF representatives could be consulted during the peace conference, but that he does not favor their participation directly in the negotiations or in the government to rule subsequent to the peace agreement.

These comments are being interpreted throughout Asia nevertheless as meaning that the United States is trying somehow to wiggle out of Vietnam in order to meet domestic pressures.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam shortly will meet in Washington with President Johnson and outline his reasons why a "coalition" agreement of any kind would be fatal to the Saigon government.

An American official in Southeast Asia is quoted this week in U. S. News & World Report as follows:

"Thieu's government would be overthrown by the South Viet-
