Project to Be Conducted For Disadvantaged

NEW YORK—Eight million dollars has been placed in the City Budget for the operation of a pilot project which will seek to train and employ 'have nots' of the Ghettos of the City of New York.

The project, to be called, "The Neighborhood Capital Improvement Project," will be conducted by the disadvantaged for the disadvantaged with its main purpose providing jobs and job-training for unemployed Ghetto residents.

The project Sutton said, will seek out 'have-nots,' train them, then employ them at prevailing wage rates to restore and beautify ghetto areas to make them more livable by removing the dirt and grime of decay and delapidation.

The project which hopes to train more than 20,000 adults at a cost of approximately $8 million dollars, will also seek to rehabilitate parks, lots, squares, circles and alleys of the ghettos.

In announcing the pilot project, Sutton said, "in order to sustain the feeling of hope and belonging among ghetto residents and to convince them that they are not members of a different world from the rest of their cities; it is necessary to eradicate drabness, dirt and joblessness, and to provide ghetto residents or the 'have nots' with at least some of the

Black Athletes Heartbroken Over Denial

NEW YORK, May 29 — There is real justification for the re-exclusion of South Africa from participation in the Olympic Games, according to Tex Maule in Sports Illustrated this week. After the International Olympic Committee decided to capitulate to the boycott threats from the black African nations and rescind its invitation to South Africa for the forthcoming Olympiad, SI sent Maule to Africa to do an in-depth study of the current black-white athletic situation there.

Maule's report in SI describes the very complex and tragic conditions he found. He concludes that South Africa's agreement to field an integrated team is a step in the right direction. See OLYMPICS 2A

Humphrey Says Negroes Will Aid Economy

DETROIT — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has urged white businessmen to welcome black partners from the neighborhoods they are serving in order to open the door for more Negro business development.

In a dramatic speech last Tuesday night before some 800 delegates to the General Convention of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Detroit, the Vice-President declared the next important step in racial progress is "to introduce black Americans to part of the system which has not been theirs. I mean the business world."

Speaking in the motor capital of the world, Humphrey rhetorically asked "can you believe that until recently, in a country driving 97 million cars, there was one Negro automobile dealer?"

He also pointed out that one in 40 white persons was a proprietor of some sort in America but only one in a thousand American Negroes was a proprietor "and with rare exceptions, he is in a marginal business operating only in the black community."

"Equal opportunity," Humphrey told the applauding delegates "means more than an equal right to a job. It means more than promotion on the basis of ability alone. It also

Mrs. Johnson, an English Major, is a member of the Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and an honorable mention in the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Competition.

Hallie Forte, an elementary education major from Raleigh, was second in the class. She is a member of the Alpha Kappa Mu honor society and was recently honored for earning a perfect average during the fall semester.

Mrs. Johnson and Miss Forte topped a list of 16 honor students, all young ladies, who were among those being awarded degrees. They heard Attorney Hobart Taylor, Jr. tell them that their degrees were only a pass into the stadium where the action is; they do not entitle the holder to a seat. He urged them to strive for superiority and not for equality in their future work.

Other students graduated with honors were Wilma Faye Peoples of Winston-Salem and Joyce Owens Pettis of Columbia, both English majors.

Nursing students graduated with honors were Cora Lee Dobson of Dobson, Carolyn

Black Clergymen Participate in Ordination in Catholic Church

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—One of this year's graduates of Colgate Rochester Divinity School (Rochester, N.Y.) will be ordained a minister in the United Church of Christ on Saturday evening (May 25) with the ordination service taking place in the sanctuary of a Roman Catholic Church.

The ordination service of Larry Coppard, believed to be the first of his kind, will take place in front of the altar of Immaculate Conception Church, 445 Plymouth Ave., Rochester, New York, and will include the participation of ministers from the United Church of Christ, the Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester and the Rochester Area Ministers' Alliance, composed of black clergymen of the area. The representatives of the three pastoral groups mirror Coppard's own interests: His denominational affiliation, his work this year with the staff of Immaculate Conception Church, and his concern with inner-city problems.

Two other unique features will be introduced into the service. The music, sung by the Immaculate Church Choir, will include a variety of folk songs; and in place of the usual examination of the candidate by the appropriate ecclesiastical body, anyone in the congregation

Patterson Tells NCC Graduates Of Black Power

Dr. Frederick D. Patterson, president of the Phelps-Stokes Fund and former president of Tuskegee Institute, told 457 graduates of North Carolina College, Sunday, May 26, that "those measures which are taken under the blanket term of 'black power' are in a large measure appropriate when they attempt to provide America in general with a new image of the dignity and worth of the black man."

He cited with approval refusals to seek status and acceptance by irrelevant white standards, efforts to staff Negro schools in the ghettos with Negro leadership, and "the emphasis now being placed on economic self-sufficiency."

"I do not, however, go along with the position that a re-segregation in all relationships is a desirable end within itself," Dr. Patterson said.

He said efforts toward fuller participation in society are to be preferred to "the unrealistic insistence that we completely separate or re-segregate ourselves from the total community in order to establish identity and/or to achieve a proper expression of the Negro's self."

Among the graduates at Sunday's commencement at the college were nearly 100 receiving graduate or professional degrees.
