Public Housing Authorities Can Be Challenged

BIRMINGHAM — A public housing authority—for the first time—must stand trial for admission, occupancy, and expulsion of tenants, thanks to the work of NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) attorneys.

The case, arising out of Talladega, Alabama, has national implications because some 2,300,000 persons live in 2,045 low-rent public housing projects across the country.

The U. S. Court of Appeals this week ordered the U. S. District Court here to set down a trial this fall during which many housing authority procedures will be challenged by LDF attorneys.

Miss Gabrielle Anne Kirk of the LDF's national office and Peter Hall of Birmingham will argue for the LDF.

The lawyers will deal with the specific cases of two Negro women and their families who were asked to leave the Talladega housing project because of the pending birth of illegitimate children.

Mrs. Everline Lewis and her children were ordered out of the Knoxville Homes because Mrs. Lewis' daughter who does not reside with her, was expecting an illegitimate child. The housing authority re- See HOUSING 7A

Dr. Samuel E. Duncan Succumbs En Route to Rowan Hospital

SALISBURY — Dr. Samuel E. Duncan, age 63, collapsed at his home and died enroute to the Rowan Memorial Hospital here Wednesday at about 2:45. He had been president of Livingstone College for 10 years.

A native of Madisonville, Ky., Dr. Duncan received his high school and college training at Livingstone and received the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. He began his professional career in 1927 as science teacher and athletic director at Washington High School, Reidsville, and in 1931, became principal of the Dunbar High School, East Spencer. Later he returned to Washington High and served as principal there from 1938 to 1946.

In 1946 he was appointed State Supervisor of Negro High Schools working with the North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction until his election to the presidency of Livingstone in 1958. During his administration the college made unprecedented strides with an ambitious 10-Year Development Program of planned growth and expansion.

Set at a capital outlay of $7,000,000 and calling for 11 new structures, he steered the college through its ninth year of the program and the erection of nine of the buildings. He had just recently consummated financing for the tenth building, a proposed dormitory for the housing of women students.

Dr. Duncan's leadership at Livingstone was marked by bold new programs in instruction with stress on upgrading and enriching the curriculum. He strongly supported compensatory education, honor courses and travel for faculty and students.

Dr. Duncan had numerous memberships and causes to which he devoted considerable time and energy. He was President of the North Carolina State Board of Higher Education, member of the Civil Rights Commission and the Study Commission of the Southern Regional Education

Demos Asked To Enforce '64 Commitment

NEW YORK—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has called upon the Democratic National Committee to require "firm compliance with" the Committee's 1964 commitment that state delegations to the party's national conventions must have "fair and representative inclusion of Negroes."

On a telegram to John M. Bailey, committee chairman, dispatched July 3, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins cited refusal of Mississippi Democrats to provide more than token Negro representation in its delegation and alluded to the seven half-votes allotted to Negro Democrats among New York State's 65 at-large delegates.

"Action by the Democratic party organization in Mississippi," Wilkins told Chairman Bailey, "is a clear rejection of the national party mandate of 1964 for fair and representative inclusion of Negroes in delegations to the national convention. Democratic regulars in Mississippi seem to believe they can get away with tokenism in the makeup of their 1967 delegation."

"Four years ago, the Democratic party made a solemn pledge, not solely to its partisan adherents but to the entire citizenry, that no racial discrimination would be countenanced. The NAACP expects nothing less than firm compliance with this pledge."

"We may note in passing that the Democratic organization in New York State will hardly be in a position to applaud application of the 1964 pledge to Mississippi, since the New York delegation is similarly meager in its minority group component."

In Mississippi, Charles Evers, one of the four Negroes designated as members of the state delegation, declined the designation when the state convention refused to enlarge Ne- See DEMOS page 7A

MAYOR CARL STOKES and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey were welcomed to the Cleveland Hough area by a woman resident who had a few friendly words for the Vice President. While on a tour of Hough, Mr. Humphrey announced a $1,640,000 grant to launch a broad scaled program to provide for employment opportunities and black business ownership.

Jesse Owens To Speak At 4-H Club Meet In Raleigh

Former Olympic Great to Speak on "The Challenge That Faces Youth Today"

A delegation of 1,250 Tar Heel 4-H Club members and their adults leaders will converge on Raleigh, Monday, July 22, for the 1968 State 4-H Club Week.

Four days of activities on the North Carolina State University campus will climax another year of work for the 4-H'ers.

Dr. T. C. Blalock, state 4-H Club leader, said each of the state's 100 counties will be represented. The delegates will throw their youthful enthusiasm into a tight schedule of classes, contests, recreation, fellowship and even politicking.

Among the featured speakers, according to Blalock, will be Jesse Owens, Olympic champion, and Sharon Finch, a former Miss North Carolina.

Miss Finch will appear on the program Tuesday morning speaking to the 4-H'ers on "Excellence Through Physical Fitness." Owens will speak Thursday morning on "The Challenge That Faces Youth Today."

Dr. John T. Caldwell, chancellor of North Carolina State University, will welcome the group at the opening assembly Monday evening. A pageant, "Tribute to Excellence," will be presented by Wake County.

Among the other highlights of the week are the Honor Club tapping ceremony Monday night, the Health Pageant Tuesday night, the Dress Revue Wednesday night, and the Parade of Talent Thursday night.

The morning assemblies begin at 8 a. m. and the evening See OWENS page 7A

Sammy Davis, Jr. Said Marked For Assassins

LONDON — Sammy Davis, Jr., may have been marked for assassination by racist bigots because of his continued involvement in the struggle for civil rights.

Scotland Yard detectives, who have been guarding the famous entertainer on an around-the-clock basis, are investigating the possibility that a white supremacist group in Britain decided to kill the entertainer as a "warning" to other stars.

Davis was named only two weeks ago as the 1968 winner of the NAACP's coveted Springarn Medal, an award given annually to the individual who has done most to advance the cause of racial equality.

In the past the award has gone to such civil rights leaders as Dr. Martin Luther King and the late Medgar Evers. Both men were assassinated.

In making the presentation to Davis, Wilkins described Davis as an "entertainer without peer," who continually sacrifices himself in the cause of racial justice.

Wilkins told of the large sums of money which Davis has donated to various civil rights groups and of the number of personal fund-raising appearances the performer has made on behalf of the NAACP.

Davis, who was in London performing as star of the road show version of "Golden Boy," was unable to be in Atlantic City to receive the award.

NEA's 106th Annual Meet Held in Dallas

DALLAS, Texas, — The annual convention of the National Education Association critically examined American society, termed it "in deep trouble," and prescribed better education as perhaps the only cure.

The 7,103 delegates and their leaders grappled with educational and social problems related to the ghetto, poverty, educational deprivation, growing racial separation, crime and riots, drug abuse, campus disturbances, and other evidences of current social unrest of maldady.

An unscheduled incident—a painful confrontation with the racial issue—became the convention's most discussed and widely publicized event. It quickly grew into an international incident and gave NEA occasion to put the convention theme, "Commitment to Action," to an immediate practical test.

Refusal of service to the First Secretary of the Embassy of the Kingdom of Lesotho by a small Dallas tavern, and subsequent refusal to serve a Negro NEA staff member and some Negro convention delegates, sent waves of intense resentment through the convention. NEA filed a strong protest with the U. S. Department of State concerning the embarrassment to its guest and convention observer from South Africa, Mooki Vitus Molapo, and took other decisive actions. The tense situation eased as Dallas city government and Chamber officials personally offered profuse a-

Links' Personalities Highlight Oakland, California Assembly

OAKLAND, CALIF. — The Links came by boat, plane, rail and car to the West Coast and they departed likewise. Happy memories remained and these were:

—National President Vivian J. Beamon moved the Assembly with a democratic gravel. And Treasurer Minnie Gaston of Birmingham and Vice-President Anna Julian of Chicago, ably assisting. Gladys Woods from Greensboro, N. C., and sister, Celeste, maintained her record of continued Assembly attendance.

—Diantha Reynolds, the talented artist from San Francisco, set all hearts aglow as she fingered the organ from Bach to Brahms.

—The attractive Jewel Thompson of Baton Rouge, La. was oozing hospitality symp in reminding Links that 1972 is the year to gather in Bayou country down in Cajun land.

—Minnie Spaulding of Durham, N. C., though quiet and demure, was beautifully articulate in sessions and ever so chic for the social festivities.

—The astute Vivian Carter Mason of Norfolk, Va., world traveler, lecturer and civic leader challenged the thinking of all women present with an analysis of the social crises of our era.

—Nancy Stokes, wife of the president of Wilberforce University, enjoyed both the social activities of the Bay Area and her reorientation on Assembly level.

—Annette Reese, Denver, tall, erect and as queenly as the See LINKS 7A

Election Returns Show Sato Ahead

TOKYO — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's pro-American Liberal Democratic party took a commanding lead Monday in early returns from elections for Japan's upper house of parliament. The 16-year-old U.S.-Japan security treaty, which permits the stationing of American troops in Japan, was a major campaign issue and the election outcome was expected to provide a gauge of Japanese public opinion toward the United States. Unofficial tabulations in 42 of the country's 46 prefectures, or states, showed 38 Liberal Democrats either elected or assured election to the House of Councillors.

CAROLINA TIMES SUSPENDS AUG. 31 ISSUE FOR VACATION

For the first time in nearly a half century The Carolina Times will suspend publication for one issue Saturday, August 31, to allow its staff to take a vacation.

Many of our employees of several years tenure have worked without a yearly vacation. Our publisher has been unable to take any time off for practically forty-five years. This is inhumane.

We thank you our advertisers and subscribers for your indulgence.
