

Dr. Tulane is Named Acting President of Livingstone College

SALISBURY — It's official now, Dr. Victor J. Tulane is acting president of Livingstone College.

The announcement was made recently by Bishop W. J. Walls, chairman of the Livingstone College Board of Trustees, as he addressed the final session of the annual "Faculty-Staff-Trustees Retreat" held last week at Camp Dorothy Walls, Black Mountain, N. C.

In making the announcement, Bishop Walls asked the staff to be patient as the Board tries to decide on the best available person to replace the late Dr. Samuel E. Duncan. He said that a number of persons are being studied for the position and that there are still a few remaining to be interviewed.

Dr. Tulane had served since 1965 as Assistant to the Presi-

Aids Tenants Ejected for Trying to Vote

ATLANTA — In 1965 the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc. and Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the Convention, went to the aid of the Negro citizens of Summerville, Tenn.

This came about after some Negroes who sought to register and vote had been put out to their tenant homes by the landowners, leaving many of them homeless.

On hearing of the plight of Negroes living in tents, Dr. Jackson and committee made investigation trips to Summerville.

Results of this interest and of the philosophy of going from Protest to Production, "Freedom Farm" at Mason, Tenn. is now a reality, and owned by the National Baptist Convention.

The writer spent two days at Freedom Farm last year, and talked with those families who live in the new-built white stone houses.

One family, a Mr. and Mrs. Harris, have 11 children, and said they had never lived before in a house with running water and electricity.

They had accepted the advice of Dr. Jackson to produce, and had not only 11 children, but a freezer filled with vegetables (grown by themselves) for the winter months and 400 jars recently canned.

Mrs. Jackson had taught the girls on charm and cleanliness. One of the families spoke of Dr. and Mrs. Jackson as "Parents" because they had done "so much for them."

The National Baptist Convention "Freedom Farm" is located 18 miles from Summerville, just south of the Super

This week's prizes of encyclopedia sets were won by: Jimmy Matt who asked:

"How can I save myself if, while alone, I find myself caught in quicksand?"

First, fall backward and get rid of anything you're carrying. Then stretch your arms out at right angles to the body. Now you can yell for help. If none comes, pull each leg free, one at a time. This may take hours. When both legs are free, roll slowly towards the nearest firm ground.

Kathy Racine for asking:

"What are the ten most popular breeds of dogs?"

Latest registration with the American Kennel Club are as follows: Poodles—255,862; German Shepherds—107,936; Beagles—61,568; Dachshunds—57,133; Chihuahuas—37,524; Pekingese—27,242; Miniature Schnauzers—26,001; Collies—24,325; Cocker Spaniels—18,525; and Basset Hounds—17,595.

Kim Saig who's question is:

"At steel mills, molten steel is poured into ladles. What material is used in the ladles to prevent them from melting also?"

The outer shell of the ladle is made of ordinary structural steel, but the ladle is lined with several inches of refractory silica brick which can take the 2900 to 3000 degree Fahrenheit steel without damage.
