Leaders

 Throughout the country NAACP units are engaged in an accelerated drive to close the 12 per cent gap between white and non-white voter registration.
 In three weeks, the Baltimore Branch registered 5,100 new voters. Cincinnati registered 2,702.

 Here the Durham Branch of the NAACP plans the most intensive roundup of unregistered persons that the city has ever had. The effort to register new people is tied into the 1968 membership drive. The leaders of the group have long since realized that the most important place for the voice of the Negro is at the ballot box.
